DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 9th July 1914, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. The week has been one of abundant rain in northeast India, the east of the United Provinces and Central India East, owing to a depression which formed over the head of the Bay and, crossing the coast to the east of Saugor Island, advanced through Bengal and Bihar into the United Provinces. A fall of 11½ inches was recorded in one day at Benares.

An intensification of the heat depression over Sind drew monsoon winds from the Arabian Sea into the Punjab, resulting in rainfall over the greater part of that province; but there was very little rain in the rest of northwest India, and in the Peninsula the west coast was the only area where the rainfall of the week was above the average. Heavier rain than usual fell in Burma.

At the close of the week the trough of low pressure moved away from the hills and within it a shallow depression over the central parts of the country was giving moderately heavy rain in the Central Provinces, while in the eastern extremity of the trough a storm was developing over the Bay.

2. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general in Lower Burma throughout the week, and in Upper Burma on the 7th and 8th.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—During the first five days the depression from the Bay was the cause of nearly general rain, except in Orissa where rainfall was nearly general only on the 2nd and 7th.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—There was nearly general rain in the east of the United Provinces from the 2nd to the 7th, in Central India on the 2nd, 4th and 8th, and in the Central Provinces on the 2nd and 8th.

Northwest India.—Rain fell locally in the Punjab, the North-West Frontier Province, Kashmir, east Rajputana and Gujarat.

The Peninsula.—Nearly general rainfall occurred every day on the west coast, on the 6th in south Hyderabad, on the 8th in north Hyderabad, and in Mysore and southeast Madras on the 6th.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 4th July 1914.

Burma.—The rainfall in the wet zone was good and well distributed. Slight falls are reported from the dry zone Sowing of sesamum, cotton and groundnuts has almost been completed. Ploughing and sowing of nurseries for winter rice are progressing. The condition of standing crops is favourable. The health of live stock is good. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon is steadier but above normal.

Assam.—The weather has been hot, dry and generally unfavourable for paddy crops. Notwithstanding the moderate showers which fell lately, more rain is badly wanted in practically all the plains districts for transplanting rice seedlings. Hoeing, plucking and manufacture of tea, ploughing for broadcast and transplanted winter rice, sowing of broadcast winter rice and transplanting of sugarcane continue. Harvesting of early rice and jute is progressing. Prospects of tea, jute and other standing crops are fair to good. The average price of common rice has risen by nearly 2½ per cent. Cattle disease is reported from six districts.

Bengal.—During the week heavy showers fell in most places in Western Bengal and also in the Chittagong division and Darjeeling and light to moderate rain in the rest of the Province. It has facilitated agricultural operations and has immensely improved the prospects of standing crops. More rain is however wanted in some places for transplanting of winter rice. Cattle disease is reported from thirteen districts. The average price of common rice has risen by about 0·3 per cent as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—Rain was general over the Province. The fall was moderate to heavy in Bihar and Chota Nagpur and light in Orissa. Sowing of autumn crops continues. Transplanting of paddy has commenced in some districts. The recent rain has done much good to standing crops which are doing well. More rain is still required for agricultural operations in Purnea, Angul and Palamau. The price of common rice has risen slightly as compared with that of the previous week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from thirteen districts. Agricultural prospects in the Feudatory States of Orissa are on the whole good.

United Provinces.—Good general rain has fallen throughout the Provinces but more rain is still needed in parts of the Western Submontane, Upper Doab and Central Doab districts. It has benefitted autumn crops generally and has facilitated ploughing and sowing. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Cattle disease continues to be reported from about one-fourth of the Provinces. Scarcity of fodder continues but the recent rain will improve pasture and thus relieve the situation. Government hay continues to be taken for agricultural stock which is doing fairly well. Prices are generally stationary with a slight upward tendency.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Good rain has fallen throughout the distressed area. Relief works are being carried out in Jalaun, Hamirpur and Banda; civil works in Etawah, in the Haburah settlement in Moradabad and in Jhansi; aided works in Moradabad, Agra, Budaun, Shahjahanpur, Fatehpur, Allahabad, Jalaun, Jhansi, Hamirpur and Banda and unaided private works in Bareilly, Agra, Budaun, Jalaun, Jhansi, Hamirpur and Banda. Poor-houses are open in Etawah, Hamirpur and Banda and people are being gratuitously relieved throughout the distressed area. Charitable funds are also being expended in gratuitous relief in some districts. The numbers of persons on relief on the last day of the week were:—Public works, Jalaun 10,809, Hamirpur 2,337, Banda 22,991; civil works, Etawah 8,638; aided works, Jalaun 300, Hamirpur 2,305, Banda 2,671; total on works 50,051. Dependents, Etawah 3,371, Hamirpur 866, Banda 14,919; total 19,156. Gratuitous relief, Etawah 4,047, Jalaun 27,089, Hamirpur 16,566, Banda 21,148; total 68,850. Poor-houses, Etawah 55, Hamirpur 8, Banda 19; total 82. Grand total 1,38,139. The number of persons on civil works on the last day of the week were:—Moradabad 259, Jhansi 172; on aided works, Moradabad 239, Agra 192, Budaun 700, Shahjahanpur 735, Fatehpur 30, Allahabad 2,124, Jhansi 7,599; total on works 12,050. On gratuitous relief, Moradabad 3,871, Bareilly 942, Muttra 2,095, Agra 1,902, Budaun 1,049, Shahjahanpur 2,620, Fatehpur 3,371, Jhansi 22,933; total 38,783. Grand total 50,833. The number of persons on unaided private works was:—Bareilly 137, Agra 726, Budaun 391, Jalaun 1,022, Jhansi 4,564, Hamirpur 1,022, Banda 2,928; total on works 10,790. On gratuitous relief from charitable funds the numbers were:—Moradabad 958, Budaun 543, Fatehpur 42; total 1,543. Grand total 12,333. Takavi continues to be distributed for the purchase of seed and cattle and for sinking of wells. Distress continues in parts of the affected area but owing to the rain people are beginning to leave the works for field labour. Crime has increased in five districts; elsewhere it is normal. The general health of the people is good. There is little wandering and emaciation is rare. Some immigration of persons returning to their fields is noticed. Cattle are weak for want of fodder in parts of the distressed area. The poor are being provided with clothes and respectable people are being given cash doles from charitable funds. Cattle are also being provided for by means of grants from these funds Water is generally ample. Markets are well stocked. The price basis is from 9 to 13 seers per rupee.

Punjab.—Moderate to good rain was nearly general. It was beneficial for standing extra spring and autumn crops and sufficient for sowings of autumn crops on unirrigated areas except in a few districts. More rain is wanted in parts of the south-east. Sowings of cotton, fodder and other autumn crops continue and are normal except in parts of the south-east where they are restricted. The condition of standing crops is generally good. Extra spring crops are being reaped in some districts and the yield is average to good. The water-supply is sufficient. Cattle are generally healthy and fodder is sufficient except in parts of the south-east where conditions will improve owing to the recent rains. Prices of wheat range between normal and warning rates and of other food grains between warning and scarcity rates.

North-West Frontier Province.—The rainfall was general throughout the Province, the highest fall being 3 inches in Pank in the Dera Ismail Khan district. The weather is very hot in Peshawar and Bannu The condition of crops is fairly good in Peshawar, normal in Marwat and from good to normal elsewhere. Wheat and barley are being threshed with outturn normal. Autumn crops are being sown. Fodder and water are sufficient. The Paharpur canal is running. The public health is good. Prices are stationary with a slight tendency to fall.

Jammu.—Good rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 11½ to 16 and maize from 13 to 20 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is good. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—Good rain fell during the week. Crops are being reaped. Agricultural operations for autumn crops are in progress. Cattle disease is reported from Uttarmachipura. Prices are rising in Baramula and Uttarmachipura. Prospects of the harvest are good. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Rajputana.—Rain fell in parts of the western States and the Mewar Residency, varying from 50 to 290 cents. Alwar reports 102 cents. Slight or practically no rain fell elsewhere. The weather was hot and occasionally cloudy. Land is being prepared for sowings of autumn crops. Sowings have been retarded for want of rain in many places especially in Ajmer-Merwara The condition of cattle is causing anxiety in Ajmer-Merwara owing to scarcity of fodder. Cattle are also weak in parts of the eastern States' Agency, Central Rajputana, Marwar and Mewar where fodder is deficient. Prices are generally high and stationary. The numbers on gratuitous relief were :—Ajmer 15 and Merwara 104.

Central India.—The rainfall was general in the Malwa division of Gwalior, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand, Malwa and the southern States, partial in the Gwalior division of Indore and Bhopal, and nil elsewhere More rain is wanted in Gwalior, Bhopal and parts of Bundelkhand. Scarcity of drinking water is still felt in the Garoth, Sunel and Rampura mahals of Indore. Sowing of autumn crops has commenced in parts of Gwalior, Baghelkhand and Malwa and is in progress elsewhere. Cattle disease prevails in parts of Indore, Bhopal, Baghelkhand and Bundelkhand. The condition of cattle is bad in Gwalior and the affected parts of Bundelkhand. Fodder is fair in Bhopal, poor in Baghelkhand and is being imported in Bundelkhand, the Alampur pergana of Indore and in the Gwalior division of Gwalior. Prices are rising in Bhopal, Baghelkhand and parts of Bundelkhand and are steady elsewhere. Central Provinces.—Light to moderate rain was received by nearly all the districts but in several more rain is much needed. Sowing of autumn crops was in full swing and germination is successful. Fodder continues to be dear or scarce in a few places. Water is generally sufficient except in Narsinghpur, Mandla, Damoh and Hoshangabad. The condition of cattle is reported to be good. Variations in prices were few and unimportant.

Feudatory States :—There has been good rain and sowing is proceeding. The price of rice fell in Chhuikhadan by 2½ seers and rose in Jashpur by 2 seers per rupee.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows :—The numbers on relief were :—Works nil, gratuitous 11,704. Prices of food grain are still rising slightly ; reports are otherwise generally satisfactory. Fodder is still scarce in parts of Damoh and more rain is wanted in all three affected districts.

Bombay.—General and sufficient rain fell during the week throughout the Presidency except the Upper Sind Frontier, Ahmednagar, Satara, Bijapur, Dharwar, Palanpur and Kolaba where more rain is needed. Sowing is progressing but has been retarded owing to scarcity of rain in Kolhapur and in one-half of Bijapur and Belgaum. Transplantation has commenced in Sind, the Panch Mahals, Surat, the Konkan, West Khandesh, Nasik and Savantvadi. Seedlings have been damaged slightly by hill torrents in one-sixth of Larkana and by insects in one-half of the Upper Sind Frontier. The fodder supply is inadequate in Poona, Sholapur and Satara. Grass and kadbi are being imported. Cattle are generally in good condition. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in Ahmednagar and Poona. Drinking water is insufficient in Satara and the Karnatak. Irrigation water is deficient in Sholapur, Satara and the Karnatak. Prices have fallen slightly in Sind and Gujarat generally and are steady elsewhere. The numbers on gratuitous relief during the week ending 4th July were :—Sholapur, Satara and Bijapur 4,402.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall was heavy during the week, the average for the Dominions being 2 inches 86 cents. Sowings of autumn crops are progressing but have been suspended in parts of the Raichur district owing to scanty rain. Early rice lands are being prepared and sowing is in progress. Fodder scarcity prevails in four, water scarcity in six and cattle disease in six talukas. Prices of grains are constant. The highest price in districts is 9½ seers in Raichur and the lowest 20 seers in Bidar.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good in Hassan, Kadur and Shimoga and slight elsewhere. Prices of food grains have risen slightly in Kolar, Tumkur and Mysore. Markets are well supplied. Ploughing and sowing operations are in progress. Prospects of the season are generally fair but more rain is wanted. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available in the greater part of the State but elsewhere fodder is scarce.

Coorg.—The rainfall was general and sufficient. Ploughing for rice continues and seed is being sown. Prices of food grains are high. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient. The public health is fair.

Madras.—The rainfall was very heavy in the Vizagapatam Agency and the West Coast except Travancore, good in Ganjam, Godavari, Travancore and the Nilgiris, fair in the Vizagapatam littoral and light or nil elsewhere. Standing crops are fair to good generally but are withering in parts of Bellary and Madura and require rain in parts of six other districts. Harvesting of paddy, dry crops and sugarcane is almost over in the Circars and the West Coast and is proceeding in parts of other districts with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding normally in parts. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water-supply is insufficient for irrigation in parts of most districts. Pasture is scanty in parts of many districts but fodder is generally sufficient. Prices are stationary.

2. Permission given by Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual will enable the Insignia of the Foreign Order to be worn at all times and without any restriction.

Private permission will only enable the Insignia to be worn on the occasions specified in the terms of the letter from the King's Private Secretary conveying the Royal sanction.

3. Full and unrestricted permission by Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual is contemplated in the following cases :—

For a Decoration conferred—

4. Private or restricted permission is contemplated for Decorations which have been conferred in recognition of personal attention to the Head of a Foreign State, and which are therefore of a more or less complimentary character, and will, as a rule, only be given on exceptional occasions when in the public interest and for political reasons it is deemed expedient that the acceptance of a Foreign Decoration should not be declined. Private permission will generally be given in the following cases :—

For a Decoration conferred :—

(1) On British Ambassadors or Ministers abroad when the King pays a State visit to the country to which they are accredited ;

(NOTE.—A State visit is defined as one on which the King is accompanied by a Minister or High Official in attendance.)

(2) On Members of Deputations of British Regiments to Foreign Heads of States ;

(3) On Members of Special Missions when the King is represented at a Foreign Coronation, Wedding, or Funeral ; or on any Diplomatic Representative when specially accredited to represent His Majesty on such occasions ; and such Members of His Staff who actually attend the ceremonies in their official capacity ;

6. The desire of the Head of a Foreign State to confer upon a British subject in the Service of the Crown the Insignia of an Order must be notified to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs either through the British Diplomatic Representative accredited to the Head of the Foreign State, or through his Diplomatic Representative at the Court of St. James.

7. When His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall have taken the King's pleasure on any such application, and shall have obtained His Majesty's permission for the person in whose favour it has been made to wear the Insignia of a Foreign Order, he shall signify the same to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, in order that he may cause a Warrant, if it be a case for the issue of a Warrant as defined in Rule 2, to be prepared for the Royal Sign-Manual.

When such Warrant shall have been signed by the King, a notification thereof shall be inserted in the "Gazette," stating the service for which the Foreign Order has been conferred.

Persons in whose favour such Warrants are issued will be required to pay to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department a stamp duty of 10s.

8. The Warrant signifying His Majesty's permission may, at the request and at the expense of the person who has obtained it, be registered in the College of Arms. Every such Warrant as aforesaid shall contain a clause providing that His Majesty's licence and permission does not authorise the assumption of any style, appellation, rank, precedence, or privilege appertaining to a Knight Bachelor of His Majesty's Realms.

9. When a British subject in the Service of the Crown has received the Royal permission, full or private, to accept and wear the Decoration of a Foreign Order, he will not be allowed to accept and wear the Decoration of a higher class of the same Order without His Majesty's approval, which will only be given if the higher honour is being conferred in circumstances contemplated by these Regulations.

Medals.

10. Medals which constitute a particular class of a Foreign Order are subject in all respects to the Regulations in the same manner as higher grades of the Order, except that permission to wear will be given by Letter and not by Royal Warrant.

11. The King's unrestricted permission to accept and wear a Foreign Medal will only be given in the case of a Foreign Medal conferred by the Head or Government of a Foreign State for saving or attempting to save life at sea or on land.

12. The King's unrestricted permission to accept and wear a Foreign War Medal will only be given to (1) Officers of His Majesty's Military or Naval Forces if serving with a Foreign Army or Navy with His Majesty's licence, and (2) Military or Naval Attachés or other Officers officially attached to Foreign Armies or Navies during hostilities.

13. In exceptional cases, when for special reasons it is deemed expedient that the acceptance of the Medal should not be declined, His Majesty will grant restricted permission Such cases will be judged on their merits, and the circumstances in which the Medal may be worn will be specified in the Letter conveying His Majesty's permission.

14. The term "person in the Service of the Crown" includes persons in receipt of a salary or pension from Public Funds, or holding a Royal Commission in any part of His Majesty's Dominions, Protectorates, or Possessions.

15. Ladies are subject to the Regulations in all respects in the same manner as men.

B.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING FOREIGN ORDERS AND MEDALS APPLICABLE TO PERSONS NOT IN THE SERVICE OF THE CROWN.

Orders.

1. It is the King's wish that no subject of His Majesty shall wear the Insignia of any Foreign Order without having previously obtained His Majesty's permission to do so, signified either :

(a) By Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual, or

(b) By private permission conveyed through His Majesty's Private Secretary.

2. Permission given by Warant under the Royal Sign-Manual will enable the Insignia of the Foreign Order to be worn at all times and without any restriction.

Private permission will only enable the Insignia to be worn on the occasions specified in the terms of the letter from the King's Private Secretary conveying the Royal sanction.

3. The full and unrestricted permission by Warrant under the Royal Sign-Mannal is designed to meet cases where the Decoration may be said to have been earned by some valuable service rendered to the Head of the State conferring it, or to the State itself. Application will be made to His Majesty for full permission by His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs on behalf of any person who, not being at the time in the Service of the Crown, is either in the salaried employment of a Foreign State or has rendered valuable services within the period of two years immediately preceding the notification of the Decoration to His Majesty's Government as prescribed under rule 5.

The expression "valuable services" must be construed as meaning some service rendered to a Foreign Head of State or Government specifically, and must be indisputably valuable in the strict sense of the word. Though such services need not necessarily be gratuitous, as in the case of a person actually in the employ of a Foreign Government, they must be unconnected with any transaction of a commercial or financial character brought about in the ordinary course of business. The term "valuable services" does not therefore, as a general rule, apply to services connected with the fulfilment of Government or Municipal contracts, the financing of Government or Municipal loans. It also does not include Red Cross Services, presentation of objects of value to Public Museums and Institutions, pecuniary donations or endowments, personal performances, services in connection with Exhibitions and Industrial Congresses, services in the domain of art, literature, science, education, and agriculture, services rendered by British subjects in the capacity of honorary Foreign Consular Officers.

4. Private or restricted permission is contemplated for Decorations which have been conferred in recognition of personal attention to the Head of a Foreign State or Member of a Reigning House, and which are therefore of a more or less complimentary character. Private permission is as a rule only given on exceptional occasions, when in the public interest and for political reasons it is deemed expedient that the acceptance of a Foreign Decoration should not be declined.

5. Both in the case of full and in that of private permission the matter will be submitted to the King by His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

The desire of the Head of a Foreign State to confer upon a British subject the Insignia of an Order, or the fact that he has done so, must be notified to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs either through the British Diplomatic Representative accredited to the Head of the Foreign State, or through the Diplomatic Representative of the latter at the Court of St. James. His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall be under no obligation to consider claims that are not brought to his notice through one of these channels.

6. When His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall have taken the King's pleasure on any such application, and shall have obtained His Majesty's permission for the person in whose favour it has been made to wear the Insignia of a Foreign Order, he shall signify the same to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, in order that he may cause a Warrant, if it be a case for the issue of a Warrant as defined in Rule 2, to be prepared for the Royal Sign-Manual.

When such Warrant shall have been signed by the King, a notification thereof shall be inserted in the "Gazette," stating the service for which the Foreign Order has been conferred.

Persons in whose favour such Warrants are issued will be required to pay to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department a stamp duty of 10*s*.

7. The Warrant signifying His Majesty's permission may, at the request and at the expense of the person who has obtained it, be registered in the College of Arms Every such Warrant as aforesaid shall contain a clause providing that His Majesty's licence and permission does not authorise the assumption of any style, appellation, rank, precedence, or privilege appertaining to a Knight Bachelor of His Majesty's Realms.

8. When a British subject has received the Royal permission, full or private, to accept and wear the Decoration of a Foreign Order, he will not be allowed to accept the Decoration of a higher class of the same Order without His Majesty's approval. His Majesty will in such cases grant permission only if the promotion in the Order is conferred for fresh services which come within these Regulations.

9. These Regulations apply only to Orders of Chivalry. Decorations conferred by Private Societies and Decorations of a purely academic nature, and all Decorations not being Orders of Chivalry, may be accepted without His Majesty's permission, but must not be worn.

Exception is made in the case of a few Foreign Orders, which, though not in strictness Orders of Chivalry, yet are of such a high distinction that, for the purpose of these Regulations, they are to be considered and treated as Orders of Chivalry.

10. Ladies are subject to the Regulations in all respects in the same manner as men.

Medals.

11. Medals which constitute a particular class of a Foreign Order are subject in all respects to the Regulations in the same manner as higher grades of the Order, except that permission to wear will be given by Letter and not by Royal Warrant

12. Medals for saving or attempting to save life at sea or on land conferred on behalf of the Head or Government of a Foreign State may be accepted without His Majesty's special permission, and may be worn at Court.

13. Medals conferred by Private Societies or Institutions and Commemorative Medals may be accepted without permission, but none of these Medals can be worn.

14. The King's permission must be obtained for any other Medal to be worn. No permission is needed to accept a Foreign Medal if it is not intended to be worn.

15. His Majesty will not grant permission to wear any Foreign War Medal if the person on whom it is to be or has been conferred was during the war acting in contravention of the Foreign Enlistment Act.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 11th July 1914.

Burma.—Good rainfall was reported in both the wet and dry zones, the amount being well distributed. Ploughing and sowing of nurseries for winter rice are proceeding and transplanting has commenced in the dry zone. Sowing of sesamum, cotton and groundnut has been completed and cultivation of winter rice is proceeding. Standing crops are in good condition and the health of cattle is good. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon is steady and arrivals are fair.

Assam.—The weather is hot and comparatively dry and has retarded agricultural operations and growing of seedlings for transplanted winter rice for which more rain is badly wanted. Harvesting of early rice and hoeing, plucking and manufacture of tea are in progress. Prospects of tea and jute and the outturn of early rice are generally fair to good. Prospects of other standing crops are not favourable. The average price of common rice is almost stationary. Cattle disease is reported from five districts.

Bengal.—During the week heavy showers fell in Darjeeling and in some districts of the Dacca and Chittagong divisions. Light to moderate rain fell over the rest of the Province. More rain is however generally wanted for transplanting of winter rice and for the growth of standing crops. Prospects of autumn paddy and jute are fairly good. Jute has been slightly damaged by insect-pests in parts of Nadia and Jessore. Cattle disease is reported from fifteen districts. The average price of common rice has risen by about 0·7 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—Light to moderate rain was general over the Province. More rain is wanted in Angul, Palamau and parts of Gaya. Sowing of autumn crops continues. Transplantation of winter rice has commenced and continues in some districts. The condition of the jute crop in Purnea has improved on account of the recent rainfall. Standing crops are doing well. The price of common rice has remained almost stationary as compared with that of the previous week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from fourteen districts. Agricultural prospects in the Feudatory States of Orissa are on the whole good.

United Provinces.—Good and well distributed rain has fallen throughout the Provinces but more rain is still needed in the Central Doab and Dehra Dun, Bijnor and Aligarh districts and in the Rampur State. The rainfall has been beneficial to standing crops and to sugarcane. Ploughing of land for autumn crops and sowing are in progress. Standing crops are doing well generally. Cattle disease is reported to have abated slightly during the week and the condition of cattle is generally improving. Scarcity of fodder is less acute and the recent rain has greatly improved the situation. Government hay continues to be taken for cattle. The level of prices remains practically unchanged.

The recent rains have slightly improved agricultural operations in the Surma Valley districts and Kamrup but more rain is generally wanted for winter rice and tea. Ploughing for and transplanting of winter rice and sugarcane, harvesting of early rice and manufacture of tea are in progress. Harvesting of jute has commenced in Goalpara, Sylhet and the Garo Hills. Some damage has been caused to jute by insects in some districts of the Brahmaputra Valley and prospects are poor to moderate Prospects of tea are good and the outturn of early rice is fair. The average price of common rice has risen slightly. Cattle disease is reported from five districts.

Bengal.—During the week seasonable rain fell throughout the Province. It has facilitated the transplanting of winter rice and improved the prospects of standing crops. Harvesting of early autumn paddy and jute has commenced. Injury by insect pests is reported from Nadia and Jessore. Harvesting of jute is delayed in some places owing to deficiency of water for steeping Cattle disease is reported from twelve districts. The average price of common rice has risen by about 0 6 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week.

The condition of cattle is improving. Scarcity of fodder is gradually abating and there is very little demand for Government hay. Prices are generally stationary with a general downward tendency.

Despatch to the Most Honourable the Secretary of State for India No. 12, dated the 26th February 1914, and enclosures.

Circular letter to Local Governments and Administrations in India No. 1766-1783-81, dated the 18th March 1914.

Despatch from the Most Honourable the Secretary of State for India No. 77-Rev., dated the 29th May 1914, and enclosure.

In the despatch of the 26th February 1914 the Government of India addressed the Most Honourable the Secretary of State for India regarding certain suggestions offered to His Lordship on the subject of Indian excise administration by the Temperance Deputation which waited upon him in July 1912. In the circular letter of the 18th March 1914 they addressed Local Governments and Administrations reaffirming, inter alia, the general principles on which their excise policy is based and requesting that these principles might again be brought to the notice of local officers with instructions that the latter should continue to bear them in mind in administering the excise departments under their charge. In his despatch of the 29th May 1914 the Secretary of State for India has been pleased to intimate his acceptance of the general conclusions arrived at by the Government of India on the subject and to approve the policy in accordance with which the consumption of intoxicating drugs and liquors in this country has hitherto been controlled. At the same time His Lordship has indicated the directions in which progress may continue to be made with a view to check existing tendencies in favour of excessive consumption.

2. The Government of India are fully in accord with the comments of the Secretary of State on these points and desire to circulate the correspondence to Local Governments and Administrations in India with the request that it may be communicated to all local officers concerned with the administration of the excise revenue. They invite particular attention to the observations offered in paragraph 4 of the despatch and desire that the necessity of maintaining the present attitude of vigilance and restriction and of safeguarding the interests of temperance may be enjoined on all officers. They are prepared to consider favourably any special measures which Local Governments and Administrations may deem advisable in this connection.

3. With reference to the suggestions conveyed in paragraphs 5 to 7 of the despatch the Government of India would also ask that such further action as Local Governments and Administrations may be prepared to take in the matter of—

(a) the closure of shops,

(b) the restriction of the hours of sale of excisable articles,

(c) the extension of the system of advisory committees and the enlargement of their functions and powers, and may be clearly noticed in the Provincial Excise or General Administration Reports for the year 1914-15. In the case of Administrations by which no such reports are submitted a special report on these matters should be submitted to the Government of India in due course.

(d) the adoption of the fixed fee system in selected areas

4. Finally, with reference to paragraph 8 of the despatch, the Government of India would invite renewed attention to their circular letter in the Home Department No. 730-737, and the 12th September 1907, and request that inspecting officers be urged to see that the lessons therein suggested are included in the readers in use in schools and that they are not neglected.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the foregoing Resolution, with a copy of the despatch from the Secretary of State of the 29th May 1914 and its enclosure, be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administratons in India for information and guidance. Also that the Resolution, together with the papers cited in the preamble, be published (in two volumes*) in the Supplement to the Gazette of India for general information.

* Volume I embodying the foregoing Resolution; the despatch to the Secretary of State No. 12, dated the 26th February 1914, without enclosures; the circular letter to Local Governments and Administrations No. 1766—1783—81, dated the 18th March 1914, and the despatch from the Secretary of State No. 77-Rev., dated the 29th May 1914, and enclosure.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

EXCISE.

To

THE MOST HONOURABLE THE MARQUESS OF CREWE, K.G.,

His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

MY LORD MARQUESS,

We have the honour to reply to despatches No. 85-Revenue, dated the 6th September 1912, and No. 2-Revenue, dated the 3rd January 1913, in which Your Lordship asked for our views on the questions raised by Sir Herbert Roberts, Bart., M.P., and the other members of the Temperance Deputation which waited upon you on the 18th of July 1912. Your Lordship referred to despatch No. 294 of the 8th October 1908 from Lord Minto's Government on the subject of Sir Herbert Roberts' earlier Deputation of August 1907, and asked that the recommendations contained in the statement recently submitted by Sir Herbert Roberts should be examined in the light of any new facts which might have come to notice since the issue of that despatch. You desired that we should again give the subject our most careful consideration and that we should acquaint Your Lordship with our conclusions on the specific reforms suggested in the statement. As the Deputation have raised questions closely connected with the principles on which our whole excise policy is based, we considered it desirable in the present instance to consult Local Governments before submitting our views. We now enclose copies of a circular letter which we addressed to them on the subject on the 24th January 1913 and of their replies, together with copies of statements A to P, containing statistics of the consumption, revenue, etc., in each province for each of the years 1905-06 to 1912-13, which we have had compiled from figures furnished by Local Governments. We also enclose copies of an address recently presented at Calcutta to His Excellency the Viceroy by representatives of temperance organizations in India and of the reply made to it. We desire to draw Your Lordship's attention to the singular unanimity underlying the replies to our letter of the 24th January 1913. Indeed, apart from the one question of the relative merits of the auction and fixed fee systems for the disposal of shop licenses, a question on which divergent opinions are expressed and which we admit to be still sub judice, it is apparent that Local Governments are agreed both as to the ideals to be kept in view and the methods by which it is hoped to attain them.

2. That our excise policy has developed slowly and after mature consideration of all the problems which confront it, Your Lordship is well aware. Confining our examination of the question to the developments which have taken place since the year 1888, it will be remembered that in the despatches from the then Secretary of State, Lord Cross, No. 28-Revenue, dated the 19th April of that year and No. 31-Revenue, dated the 14th March 1889, the following were laid down as the correct principles on which Indian excise policy should be based:—

(i) that any extension of the habit of drinking was to be discouraged;
(ii) that taxation was to be as high as was possible without encouraging illicit manufacture and vend;

(iii) that, subject to these considerations, a maximum revenue was to be raised from a minimum consumption of intoxicating liquors.

These principles were re-affirmed in Lord Cross's despatch No. 52-Revenue, dated the 16th May 1889; and in paragraphs 103 to 105 of their reply No. 29, dated the 4th February 1890, Lord Lansdowne's Government accepted them in full, and indicated the lines on which effect would be given to them. The following were the practical measures suggested in the despatch :—

(i) the abolition of the outstill system where practicable;

(ii) the gradual introduction of the central distillery system;

(iii) the imposition of as high a rate of duty as possible on country liquor, but the duty not to exceed the tax on imported liquor;

(iv) the restriction of the number of shops.

The policy thus outlined was fully accepted by Lord Cross in his despatch No. 25-Revenue, dated the 27th March 1890, and has been consistently followed ever since. The general effect of the recommendations of the Excise Committee of 1905-06 was to carry forward this policy on the same lines but in greater detail. The various Resolutions issued on a consideration of their Report are known to Your Lordship, and do not require recapitulation. They give full and clear expression to the policy which we still approve and to which Local Governments, under our instructions, continue to give effect.

3. We now turn to the specific recommendations made by the Deputation as summarised in the 21st paragraph of the statement prepared by Sir Herbert Roberts. The first is as follows :—

"That the licenses for the sale of intoxicants should be steadily reduced in number and that the hours of sale be further limited by later opening and earlier closing hours being fixed for all licensed premises."

These questions were dealt with in paragraphs 220 to 235 and 248 of the Excise Committee's Report; and our attitude towards them is expressed in paragraphs 2, 3 and 8 of Resolution No. 5086-Exc., dated the 15th August 1907. Reference is also invited to paragraphs 19 and 20 of the despatch from Lord Minto's Government No. 291, dated the 8th October 1908. In the views expressed in that despatch on the desirability of steadily reducing the number of shops we entirely concur. A statement (III) has been prepared from the replies submitted by Local Governments, and is appended to enclosure No. 18 to this despatch, indicating the extent to which reductions have been effected since 1905-06. It will be observed that country spirit shops have been reduced by 7,788; opium shops by 2,330; and shops for the retail sale of hemp drugs by 1,516. Foreign liquor shops have, it is true, increased by 181; but this increase is largely illusory, and is due chiefly to improvements of system whereby licenses are now insisted on for bars, canteens, etc., for which they were not previously required. Toddy shops have also been reduced to the extent of 11,150. The net number of shops abolished during the last seven years thus reaches the striking total of 22,053. The replies received from Local Governments indicate that all possible measures are being taken to reduce the number of shops, and we are entitled to claim that these measures have been attended with considerable success.

4. The Local Governments are also paying full attention to the question of the limitation of hours of sale. In paragraph 12 of their letter of the 27th October last, the Bengal Government intimate that they propose to issue orders directing that no shop for the sale of intoxicants shall be open before 8 A.M. in the hot weather and 10 A.M. in the cold weather; they will also provide for the closure of all country spirit shops at sunset in rural areas. In Bihar and Orissa, the Punjab, the Central Provinces and Sind, in particular, steps are being taken still further to limit the hours during which such shops will remain open. On a careful consideration of all the replies received, we do not consider that it would be advisable to press for further limitations at present.

5. The next recommendation runs as follows:—

"That the system of excise advisory committees be extended to all municipalities and that these committees should be made more representative and given power to deal with all licenses for the sale of intoxicants of every kind."

The desirability of ascertaining and deferring as much as possible to reasonable public opinion was intimated to Local Governments so long ago as in 1889, and the same principle has constantly been re-affirmed in subsequent communications. In paragraph 238 of their Report, the Excise Committee drew attention to the dangers to be anticipated from a system of local option and in paragraphs 240 to 244 they advocated the appointment of advisory committees. Their conclusions were confirmed in paragraphs 4, 5 and 6 of Resolution No. 5086-Exc., dated the 15th August 1907. We invite attention to our despatch No. 48, dated the 20th September 1911, which indicates the number of advisory committees appointed in each province and the action taken by the local authorities on their recommendations. Part of this information was brought up to date in the statement reproduced in the proceedings of the meeting of our Legislative Council held on the 9th September last. The number of shops closed during 1910-11 on the recommendation of advisory committees was 105; during 1911-12, 63; and last year, 120. These figures do not, however, adequately represent the extent to which the system is developing. The Bengal Government, in particular, have recently made a decided step forward in constituting all Local Boards committees for the rural areas in which they are situated; in delegating to Commissioners of Divisions power to appoint committees for the municipal areas under their charge; and in appointing fresh committees with licensing powers for Calcutta and its suburbs. In Assam, the Municipal Boards act as advisory committees in urban areas, and the Chief Commissioner proposes that the Local Boards should be similarly consulted in future with regard to rural areas. In the Central Provinces, municipal committees advise regarding licenses in all large towns, and the system will be still further extended to all urban areas. In the Punjab and the United Provinces, advisory committees are employed, though they have not yet been found very helpful. In Bombay, the system is widely in force. In the United Provinces and in Bihar and Orissa, it has hitherto been in force in the principal towns; but will now be extended to all municipalities, and in the latter province it will also be tried in rural areas. In Burma, the Local Government propose to increase the number of committees from 10 to 60. In Madras, the system is already in force in all municipalities, and the question of its extension to unions is under consideration.

6. We have already expressed our opinion that the danger to be anticipated from the grant of full licensing powers to committees possessing a non-official majority is that a system of local option would thereby be created, the effects of which could not but be antagonistic to genuine progress in the cause of temperance. The case against local option was well put in paragraph 8 of the despatch from Lord Lansdowne's Government No. 157, dated the 25th May 1889, and again in paragraph 98 of their despatch of the 4th February 1890; and we believe that conditions have not since altered to such an extent as to require a reconsideration of the arguments then adduced. It is only too likely that, if non-official committees received full licensing powers, one of two tendencies would at once manifest itself. If the temperance element prevailed, shops would be abolished at the first opportunity, and an immense field would thus be thrown open to illicit manufacture. On the other hand, in more backward areas, the apathy of the members would afford openings to those interested in the trade, and licenses would be indiscriminately granted. These apprehensions are by no means illusory, but are based on actual experience. The former tendency is well illustrated by the remark made by the Honourable Dr. D. P. Sarvadhikary, as reported in the proceedings accompanying Your Lordship's despatch under reply, that "if we had our way, most of the drink shops would disappear to-morrow". Its dangers are noticed by the Government of Madras in paragraph 11 of their letter of the 12th November 1913. Instances of the latter tendency are cited in paragraph 6 of the letter of the 30th September last from the Government of the United Provinces and in paragraph 7 of the Central Provinces letter of the 12th idem. In the United Provinces, an increase in the number of drinking shops was sanctioned by a municipal committee with the avowed object of stimulating competition and so reducing the retail price of liquor. In the Central Provinces, the Collector of Jubbulpore "had to intervene to prevent the opening of a new foreign liquor shop, the petition for which had been backed by a large number of respectable people". The possibility of alternations between both tendencies is mentioned in paragraph 9 (1) of the letter from the Government of the Punjab. On a considered view of all the circumstances we are of opinion that it would be not merely unwise but dangerous for Local Governments to surrender licensing functions to committees possessing non-official majorities. By retaining this power in the hands of experienced officers or of committees with official majorities they ensure its exercise by the one authority capable of forming an unbiased opinion on the desirability of granting or withholding licenses. There is no doubt, however, that the advice of the committees is generally salutary. The system, as already observed, is gaining ground steadily; the views of the committees command great and increasing attention; and we consider that it would be most imprudent to attempt to hasten unduly a movement which has developed and is developing naturally on healthy lines of its own.

7. The third recommendation is :—

"That the auction system of licensing shall be superseded by a system of fixed license fees as recommended by the Government Excise Committee of Enquiry."

The question here raised is admittedly controversial. In paragraphs 190 et seq of their Report the Excise Committee of 1905-06 recommended the adoption of the fixed fee system when the duty had been raised "to the highest pitch possible for the time being" and when illicit manufacture had been reduced to a minimum. Lord Minto's Government, however, decided, for the reasons set forth in their Resolution No. 2997-Exc., dated the 16th May 1907, in favour of the auction system, with safeguards to minimise the risk of licenses falling to undesirable persons on purely speculative bids. On the relative merits of both systems the opinions of the Local Governments, as expressed in the correspondence appended to this despatch, are of considerable interest. It will be observed that the Government of Bombay have adopted the fixed fee system and, although they are not prepared to express a final opinion at present, they report that their local officers are almost unanimous in its favour. In Ajmer-Merwara, shops are only put up to auction if the incumbent is unwilling to retain his license at a fee calculated to bring him a fair profit during the ensuing year. The Chief Commissioners of the Central Provinces and Assam admit that it is the ultimate ideal, but prefer the auction system under present conditions. The Government of the United Provinces prefers the latter system but is prepared to experiment with fixed fees if the Government of India desire. The Chief Commissioner of Baluchistan is willing to undertake, but does not recommend, a similar experiment. The Punjab Government has tried the fixed fee system and has deliberately rejected it as it was found "to lead to a great increase in recorded consumption". The remaining Local Governments and Administrations prefer the auction system.

We do not consider that it is possible to add materially to the opinions already expressed on this difficult question. On the one hand, the auction system prevents the growth of vested interests which have admittedly given rise to considerable difficulties in the United Kingdom. It also provides an automatic indication of the extent to which duty may with safety be enhanced, retail prices increased, and a rise of consumption checked. On the other hand, there is the danger that under this system licenses may pass into undesirable hands and practices may thus be encouraged which the local excise staff will find difficulty in suppressing. Possibly, when conditions become more settled, when the material prosperity of the lower classes becomes less exposed to the fluctuations contingent on good and bad harvests, and above all, when provincial excise establishments have attained a greater degree of efficiency, an alteration of system may be found desirable. For the present, therefore, while we desire to retain the existing systems as they have developed to meet local needs, we do not regard the question as closed. The Bombay experiment is being watched with close interest, and we are considering the advisability of suggesting to other Local Governments the desirability of initiating similar experiments in suitable areas.

8. The fourth recommendation of the Deputation is :—

> "That the licensing function be removed from the control of the Revenue Department and (with proper safeguards) placed in the hands of the local committees or some other independent authority."

This proposal, together with the suggestions contained in paragraph 15 of Sir Herbert Roberts' statement for the improvement of the advisory committee system, has already been partially dealt with in the fifth and sixth paragraphs of this despatch. We do not propose to repeat the arguments already adduced in favour of the retention of licensing powers in the hands of the local officers, or of advisory committees constituted with an official majority. We are glad to observe that Your Lordship, while expressing the opinion that you would like to see the double function gradually disappear, drew the attention of the Deputation to the unfairness of charging Government officers with greater consideration for the public revenues than for the social well-being of the people The imputation has been frequently made by critics of Indian excise policy. It was fully met by Lord Minto's Government in paragraph 14 of their despatch of the 8th October 1908, and again in the reply given by His Excellency the Viceroy to the Indian Temperance Deputation at Calcutta. We desire to repeat the assertion made in that reply, that we can find no evidence that officers aim at securing a large excise revenue through an increased consumption of intoxicants, or that they receive any encouragement to do so from their superiors. Such a procedure would be contrary to the whole spirit of British administration in India, and we fully endorse the Punjab Government's condemnation of these charges "as cruel and unjust to the class of officers who form the backbone of our rule in India "

9. We have now dealt with the major recommendations contained in Sir Herbert Roberts' statement. Other suggestions have also been offered, and we notice these in the order in which they were made. In paragraph 10*a* of the statement it is suggested that, if possible, more complete and uniform statistics should be furnished in the official returns, particularly those representing the consumption of outstill and imported liquors. We regret that we are unable to furnish figures representing consumption in outstill areas as they could only be obtained by inquiries which would cause undue harassment to vendors and consumers. It is further very unlikely that, if obtained, they would be reliable; and their value would be still further depreciated by the fact that the outstills are being gradually ousted by the contract distillery system under which full statistics are given. We have, however, in one respect been able to meet the wishes of the Deputation by the issue of instructions under which statistics of the local consumption of imported liquors are now given in the annual provincial Reports. In paragraph 11 of the statement the request contained in paragraph 10*a* is extended to statistics of convictions for drunkenness The subject was dealt with in paragraph 267 of the Excise Committee's Report and in paragraph 15 of the Resolution, dated the 15th August 1907. Uniformity has already been introduced in the preparation of these statistics, and we do not consider that further action is at present desirable to supplement that already reported to Your Lordship in our despatch No. 35, dated the 27th June 1912.

In dealing with the question of statistics we invite attention to the suggestions contained in your Revenue Secretary's letter No. R. & S. 3688, dated the 28th November last. We propose to examine carefully the methods by which the statistics attached to the provincial Excise Reports are collated and, if necessary, we will issue instructions designed to ensure greater uniformity in their preparation in future. Divergencies of system are chiefly due to the inclusion or exclusion of figures for Native States, of collections made in advance of the year to which they relate, and of duty on liquor and drugs transferred to other provinces for consumption. These and similar inconsistencies have been rectified in the statements forwarded with this despatch. It is for this reason that the figures now furnished differ in many cases both from those contained in the annual Excise Reports and from those supplied with the despatch from Lord Minto's Government No. 294, dated the 8th October 1908.

10. It is further suggested in paragraph 20 of the statement that definite instructions should be issued as to our attitude in relation to excise policy. The first definite pronouncement of this kind was made in circular No. 4393 of the Department of Finance and Commerce, dated the 11th August 1888, and its enclosures. Similar instructions have frequently issued since; we need only mention those contained in circulars No. 3392, dated the 3rd July 1889; No. 2053, dated the 26th April 1890; No. 2455-S. R., dated the 21st April 1901, with which a copy of a memorandum by Sir F. S. P. (then Mr.) Lely was brought to the notice of local authorities, the opportunity being taken to re-affirm the general principles on which our Indian excise policy is based; and Resolution No. 5001-Exc., dated the 7th September 1905, appointing the Excise Committee of that year. We have no objection, however, to the proposal that Local Governments should again be addressed on the subject, and we propose to do so after the issue of this despatch.

Finally, it is suggested in the last paragraph of the statement that "the facts submitted in regard to the growth of the drink habit in India justify a consideration of the situation through an independent inquiry." We would urge upon Your Lordship that there are no adequate grounds for accepting this suggestion, and we consider that such an inquiry would not serve any useful purpose. The Report submitted by the Excise Committee of 1905-06 was most detailed and helpful; its recommendations cannot reasonably be considered to be out of date but continue to occupy fully the attention of Local Governments and of the Government of India; and any special inquiries which are considered necessary to supplement information contained in the Report are made by Local Governments and Administrations on their own responsibility. Instances may be found in the Bombay Foreign Liquor Committee of 1908-09; in the inquiry made by Messrs. Comber and Stephen in 1910 into opium smuggling from India to Burma; and in the recent Assam Committee on Opium. In these circumstances, we consider that all reasonable steps are being taken at present to ensure the assimilation of excise experience of the past and steady progress on sound and well-considered lines in the future.

11. That our excise administration is capable of still further improvement we are ready to admit, and it is a subject which receives our constant and watchful attention. We trust, however, that we have said sufficient to convince Your Lordship that its foundations have been carefully and wisely laid, and that any attempt to attain by short cuts the objects which we set as permanently and consistently before us as do those most interested in temperance reform, could only end in a breakdown of the system. We are convinced, in short, that we differ from our critics not so much on general principles as in the methods by which we attempt to realise them. At the same time, in perusing the speeches made by members of the Deputation, we are driven to the conclusion that they have not adequately realised the difficulties with which a sound excise policy is beset in this country, and we are glad to observe that Your Lordship drew their attention to this fact. We notice, in the first place, that many of the speakers have not merely confused increased revenue with increased consumption but have also frequently overlooked or misrepresented the effect of the former in raising retail prices and thus checking consumption. The error was to our minds adequately exposed by Lord Minto's Government in their despatch No. 294, dated the 8th October 1908; and in view of the clear explanation given in that despatch we venture very strongly to deprecate the tendency displayed in the memorial under consideration still to rely on the same arguments. The natural tendencies operating towards increased consumption were fully and clearly given in 1908 and, beyond observing that there was evidence of a disposition on the part of the speakers to minimise the individual importance of each of these tendencies and to overlook their collective effect, we do not consider it necessary to refer to them. We desire to draw attention in detail, however, to the statements (I—VI) appended to enclosure No. 18 to this despatch, which prove how dangerous it is to take it for granted that increased revenue indicates an increase in actual consumption. While the revenue from country spirits, opium and hemp drugs has increased by 28, 26 and 46 per cent, respectively, since 1905-06, the consumption per hundred of the population has in the case of country spirits increased by only 5 per cent; that of opium has remained stationary; and that of hemp drugs has decreased by over 8 per cent. The Deputation realise, it is true, that the effect of the conversion of outstills into distillery shops is to exaggerate the figures representing the recorded consumption; this point was clearly brought out in paragraph 4 of the despatch of the 8th October 1908. They have, however, considerably under-estimated the effects of the conversion, and in order to make the point clear we have indicated in statements A, B & C, which are included in enclosure No. 16, the annual progress made in substituting distilleries for outstills. We invite a reference also to statement I in enclosure No. 18, giving the annual statistics of the consumption of country spirit calculated on the actual population of the areas into which the system has been introduced, the population figures naturally expanding with each annual extension of the system. Calculated on this basis,—the only one which ensures accuracy and fairness,—the increase of consumption during the last seven years amounts to only a quarter of a gallon per hundred of the population. We trust Your Lordship will agree that this increase is almost negligible, and proves that the measures already taken by raising the still-head duty, by reducing the number of shops, by the careful selection of shop sites and the regulation of hours of sale, and finally, but not least, by the general strengthening of excise establishments, have curtailed the increase of consumption which would otherwise, in view of the increasing prosperity of the lower classes, have attained considerable proportions. We desire, in this connection, specially to invite Your Lordship's attention to the remarkable increase in wages and general prosperity which the labouring classes in India have experienced during the last decade. In the absence of such progress, it would not have been possible for the still-head duty to be raised as it has been. Similarly, if the duty had not been raised, the increase in consumption would, we are convinced, have been very marked. It has, in fact, been trifling.

12. In this connection we also desire to draw attention to the theory advanced in more than one of the reported speeches that the consumption of liquor, moderate or immoderate, is contrary to the sentiment of the great majority of the population of India and that in many classes of Indian society it has never been practised. Similar statements have been repeatedly made by critics of Indian excise policy, and our predecessors have frequently had occasion to refute them. We need only refer to despatch No. 166, dated the 25th June 1887, to paragraph 101 of despatch No. 29, dated the 4th February 1890, and to paragraph 6 of that of the 8th October 1908, to show that indulgence in liquor and drugs was widespread before British rule. It was definitely stated in paragraph 4 of despatch No. 166, dated the 25th June 1887, that "the classes whose habits of life are framed with a strict regard to religious or social restrictions form in India no larger a proportion of the population than in other countries." This conclusion is no less true now than it was then. In support of it we would refer to the general tenor of the replies now received from Local Governments, and particularly to paragraph 3 of the letters from Madras and Bihar and Orissa and to paragraph 6 of the letter from the Punjab Government. The attention of the Deputation was drawn to this misconception in Your Lordship's reply, and we consider it unnecessary to expand the argument further.

13. A third misconception under which the Deputation appear to labour reveals itself in the tendency on the part of more than one speaker to minimise the dangers from illicit manufacture and vend. Not only the replies now received from Local Governments but also the opinions recorded in their annual Excise Reports show that this danger is very serious, if not the most serious which confronts us. The question is perhaps one on which we differ most vitally from the Deputation, and for this reason we venture to deal with it in some detail, although it was noticed in Your Lordship's reply to the address. It seems to us that, from all points of view, our primary duty, and one of greater importance even than the reduction of licit consumption, is the complete suppression of illicit manufacture and vend. Until this preliminary object has been effected no stability can be looked for in our excise policy, the results of which would be seriously undermined if they involved any palliation of illicit methods or any undue encouragement to illicit distillation. We desire to dissociate ourselves entirely from the theory that if the licit supply were completely stopped, consumption would diminish. It is difficult under present conditions to guard against illicit manufacture. If licit supplies were stopped the task, hard as it is, would become impossible, and the result would be completely to defeat the ideals to which both the Deputation and we ourselves aspire. Possibly, the immediate result of such a course might be a reduction in the total number of consumers, but intemperance would certainly increase, as a result of lower retail prices, and we have no doubt that ultimately consumption would rise considerably beyond the level which it has now attained. Nor could any moral principles justify the demoralising effect on large sections of the population of the evasion of laws which it would be impossible to enforce. In these circumstances, we do not consider that we should be justified in prohibiting moderate consumption even with a view to check occasional abuse. We are only justified in expecting, by the measures already indicated, to secure the enhancement of retail prices and thereby to impose an artificial check on the increase of consumption which would otherwise occur as a result of natural tendencies. In short, we still follow the principles laid down in the second paragraph of the Resolution issued by Lord Curzon's Government on the 7th September 1905, as summarised in paragraph 7 of the despatch from Lord Minto's Government No 294, dated the 8th October 1908. Our policy is not aimed against those who use alcohol in moderation. We merely attempt by raising retail prices to minimise temptation to those who do not drink and to discourage excess among those who do. We are chiefly concerned with the reduction of actual consumption, and this can only be effected when illicit supplies are suppressed by all such measures as are reasonable and practical.

14. Basing our policy, then, on these principles and bearing in mind the limitations to which it is subject, we may fairly claim that a considerable measure of success has already been attained. The persistent pressing by the Government of India of the policy of substituting distilleries for outstills has had a very great effect, and is being steadily pushed forward. Distilleries are ousting the more primitive outstills, duty is being steadily pushed up, the numbers of shops are being widely reduced, and excise establishments are being generally strengthened. We would add that statutory penalties against smuggling and other illegal methods are being gradually enhanced, particularly in the direction of securing firmer control over the cocaine traffic. The statements attached to this report enable a close estimate to be formed of the success which has attended our efforts. In the period that has elapsed since the revision of our excise administration which followed the Report of the Excise Committee of 1905-06, we have transferred no less than 213,000 square miles of territory from the outstill to the distillery system; while in 1905 06, 39 per cent of the total excise area of India, and 28 per cent of the population of that area, were served by outstills, the proportions at the present time are only 15 and 8 per cent, respectively. In the third paragraph of this despatch we have already indicated the extent to which we have been able to effect reductions in the numbers of shops for the retail sale of liquors and drugs. The number of country spirit shops per 100,000 of the population has fallen from 15 to 11 and the area served by each has risen from 27½ to nearly 37 square miles. The abolition of shops of other kinds has been carried out no less effectively, and the total net reduction amounts to 22,653. It is true that our excise revenue has increased enormously and is still increasing. We have, however, already shown that this increase is a necessary result of the system, and in no way constitutes the object in view. That there has been in fact no proportionate increase in consumption is evident on a reference to the statements enclosed. We have shown in paragraph 11 of this despatch that, while the revenue from country spirit, opium and hemp drugs has increased considerably since 1905-06, the consumption of country spirit has only increased by 5 per cent during the same period; that of opium is practically stationary; and that of hemp drugs has diminished by over 8 per cent. It is true that the recorded consumption of country spirit in distillery areas has risen from 7 to 10 million gallons, but almost the whole of the increase can be accounted for partly by the substitution throughout extensive areas of the distillery for the outstill system under which no record of consumption can be maintained, and partly by the imposition of closer control over illicit manufacture. Other statistics point to the same conclusions Although the customs duty on imported liquors inc statement V shows, from nearly a crore to over a crore and a quarter, the increase was entirely due to the enhancements of duty summarised in statement VI; the actual imports declined during the period from 8,739,000 to 6,351,000 gallons (statement II). Finally, although, for the reasons already given, it is impossible to give statistics of the consumption of other country liquors, the rates of taxation of toddy have been raised by more than 50 per cent and it is more than probable that enhancements of the retail prices have checked, if not actually diminished, consumption.

15. We claim, in conclusion, that our policy is realising its avowed object of checking the increase of consumption. Progress must be slow, for, as we have already shown, we consider the suppression of illicit methods to be a sine quâ non to success. There is one direction in which we feel that much still remains to be accomplished. Our Local Governments frequently draw attention to the desirability, and indeed the necessity, of resolute and sympathetic work by temperance leagues among the people themselves. A certain number of leagues of this kind have, it is true, been formed. The special need of the country is not merely the formation of more leagues but also more sustained effort after formation. There is evidence that the promoters are too frequently content with memorialising Government, on whom they are inclined to throw the whole burden of the struggle against intemperance. While fully cognisant of our own responsibilities and resolved that they shall be adequately discharged, we are assured that, until the advantages of temperance principles are resolutely and systematically brought home to the masses by the independent efforts of non-official leagues, the natural tendencies in favour of increased consumption will continue to operate in some degree however much we may try to counter them by increased taxation.

), I am directed to forward copy of a despatch addressed to the Secretary of State for India on the subject of the suggestions offered by the Temperance Deputation which was received at the India Office in July 1912; (*and of the despatch to which it is a reply). Attention is also invited to the enclosed copies of a statement submitted by representatives of the Indian Temperance organizations to His Excellency the Viceroy at Calcutta on the 26th of December last, and of the reply thereto.

*(To Central India, Mysore, Rajputana and Hyderabad only)

2. It will be observed that the Government of India have taken the opportunity, in addressing the Secretary of State, of re-affirming the general principles on which their excise policy is based They now desire that these principles should again be brought to the notice of all Local Governments and Administrations, for information and for communication to local officers, in order to ensure that, so far as is possible, provincial excise administration may be conducted on uniform lines. It is recognised that complete homogeneity is not possible. At the same time, uniformity of principle and co-ordination of effort are essential; and it is hoped, by drawing attention to questions of general application and importance, to ensure that, in the provincial administration of excise, the fundamental principles at stake shall not be overlooked.

3. Reference is made in the second paragraph of the despatch to correspondence indicating the lines on which the excise policy of the Government of India has developed. In the tenth paragraph will be found references to general instructions which have been issued from time to time to Local Governments on the subject. I am to request that the attention of local officers may be drawn to these instructions, which may now be brought up to date in the light of the recommendations made by the Excise Committee of 1905-06 and of the experience since gained. The attitude of the Government of India in excise matters is clearly stated in the second paragraph of the Resolution in the Finance Department No. 5001-Exc., dated the 7th September 1905, and the passage is quoted here for convenience of reference :—

> " The Government of India have no desire to interfere with the habits of those who use alcohol in moderation, this is regarded by them as outside the duty of the Government and it is necessary in their opinion to make due provision for the needs of such persons. Their settled policy, however, is to minimise temptation to those who do not drink and to discourage excess among those who do; and to the furtherance of this policy all considerations of revenue must be absolutely subordinated."

The general measures by which effect should be given to this policy may be briefly indicated as follows :—

(1) Every effort should be made to suppress illicit methods of all kinds;

(2) in order to effect this, the excise staff should be utilised in directions calculated to maintain the closest possible control and supervision over the liquor and drugs traffic and their work should be facilitated by the adoption, where feasible, of the contract distillery in lieu of the outstill system;

(3) so far as is possible without unduly encouraging illicit methods, consumption should be discouraged—

(a) by the levy of as high a rate of duty as is possible, taking into account the special conditions obtaining in the locality and neighbourhood;

(b) by reducing, as far as possible and with due regard to legitimate requirements, the number of retail shops for the sale of liquor and drugs;

(c) by regulating and closely supervising the hours of sale, the selection of sites, and the general practices adopted in manufacture and vend.

(4) Advisory Committees should be appointed where possible, and effect should be given to their recommendations in so far as they are consistent with the general principles now laid down.

I am to ask that these principles may be brought to the notice of local officers with the request that they may be borne in mind in the excise administration of their districts.

*[4. In connection with the appointment and powers of Advisory Committees I am to invite special attention to the terms in which His Excellency the Viceroy referred, in his reply to the Indian Temperance Deputation, to the Licensing Boards recently constituted for Calcutta and neighbouring municipalities under the Notification of the Bengal Government No. 1812-S.R., dated the 11th November 1913. I am to request that a full report on the results of the experiment may be submitted to the Government of India when the Local Government consider that they are in a position to express a considered opinion on the subject.]

* To Bengal only.

*4. Paragraph 7 of the despatch deals with the difficult question of the best system for the disposal of vend licenses, a question on which there is considerable divergence of opinion. The subject is also mentioned in the reply given by His Excellency the Viceroy to the representatives of the Indian Temperance organizations. †[I am to enclose extracts of the correspondence noted in the margin indicating the measures adopted by the Bombay Government in substituting the fixed-fee for the auction system in the Presidency. The Government of India are watching this experiment with interest; but, until its results are known, they do not intend to make a final pronouncement on the subject. They merely desire to suggest, leaving the decision for the present in the hands of the Local Government / your hands, that should the conditions in any particular area within the province of / limits of your jurisdiction indicate that the results of the auction system are not satisfactory and that a change of system is desirable, an experiment might be made in such area with the fixed-fee system on the lines which have hitherto been successful in the Bombay Presidency or on such other lines as the Government of / you may prefer. The Government of India would be glad to be kept informed of the introduction and progress of any experiment made on these lines.]

Letter from the Government of Bombay No. 2659, dated the 15th March 1911.

Extract, paragraphs 1, 5, 6 and 7 of a letter to the Government of Bombay No 6882-4, dated the 14th September 1911.

Extract, paragraphs 1, 2, 3 and 4 of a Resolution by the Government of Bombay No. 9682, dated the 13th October 1911

‡ [I am to state that the Government of India are watching with interest the results of the experiment now being conducted in the Bombay Presidency in the adoption of the fixed-fee system. I am to request that, with the permission of His Excellency the Governor in Council, the progress of the experiment may continue to be noticed in the annual Excise Reports of the Presidency; and that a full report on the subject, indicating the chief developments of the system, any defects which may have been observed in its operation and remedies suggested for their correction, may be submitted for the information of the Government of India when the Local Government consider that the system has developed sufficiently to justify generalisations on the experience obtained.]

‡ To Bombay only.

§5. I am now to draw attention to the recommendation contained in paragraph 10 a of the statement submitted by Sir Herbert Roberts to the Secretary of State which forms an enclosure to the despatch to the Government of India No. 85-Revenue, dated the 6th September 1912, "that, if possible, more complete and uniform statistics should be furnished in the official returns to show the total consumption of intoxicants in India." It will be observed that the statistics which you furnished in response to the letter in this Department No. 477-490-218, dated the 24th January 1913, have undergone some modification prior to their inclusion in Statements A to P appended to the despatch to the Secretary of State No. 12-Excise, dated the 26th February 1914. The reasons for which these modifications were made are indicated briefly in the ninth paragraph of the despatch. The Government of India are now examining the forms of the statistics appended to the annual provincial Excise Reports with a view to secure greater uniformity, if possible, in their compilation, and a further communication will shortly be addressed to you on the subject.

§ 6 in Bengal letter.

*6. Finally, I am to refer to paragraph 17 of the statement submitted to His Excellency the Viceroy by the representatives of Indian Temperance organizations, recommending the application of provincial revenues to the provision of counter-attractions to intemperance. In his reply, His Excellency stated that he would bring this suggestion to the notice of Local Governments, and I am now to request that the attention of His Excellency the Governor in Council / His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in Council / His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor may be drawn to it; (draw your attention to it) and that such action may be taken / to request that you will take such action in regard to it as His Excellency the Governor in Council / His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in Council / His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor / you may consider to be feasible.

I have the honour to be,

SIR,

Your most obedient servant,

R. E. ENTHOVEN,

Secretary to the Government of India.

India Office, London,
29th May 1914.

Revenue,
No. 77.

To His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor General of India in Council.

Indian Excise administration.

MY LORD,

I have given my close attention in Council to Your Excellency's Despatch No. 12 of 1914, dated the 26th February 1914, relating to the Excise policy of your Government. I have to express my satisfaction at the careful consideration which has been given to the subject both in Your Excellency's general summary and in the detailed Reports annexed to your Despatch, which have been obtained from the Local Governments, upon the situation in the respective provinces of India. These surveys throw light on the marked progress that has followed from the Report of the Excise Committee of 1905-06, showing that the original impulse of improvement due to the work of that Committee is not yet exhausted. They constitute a valuable record, both of the policy and of the methods that have been applied to the problem, and should serve to remove misapprehensions that appear to have been entertained in this country, as in India, with regard to the work of Government in the sphere of excise administration.

2. I concur in what I conceive to be the main position taken up in Your Excellency's despatch. For the last 25 years the aim of the Government of India, in an often-quoted declaration, has been, first, to discourage any extension of the habit of drinking, and secondly, within the limits prescribed by the necessity of suppressing unauthorised manufacture and sale, to raise a maximum revenue from a minimum consumption of intoxicating liquors. The expansion of revenue from intoxicants in recent years has been represented by temperance deputations both here and in India as concurrent with, or as evidence of, a heavy increase of consumption; and the suggestion has been put forward that the Government or its officials were fostering the increase of drinking habits to secure the expansion of revenue The statistical table giving the consumption of country spirit in Distillery areas (Statement I in Enclosure No 18) emphatically disposes of this contention so far as country spirit is concerned. It appears to establish that for India as a whole the increase of the consumption of country spirit per 100 of population is but slight,—not more than five per cent. during the period of seven years. It is true that this figure generalised for the whole of India doubtless loses sight of local variations and increases in particular areas; still, the broad fact that emerges is that during the period under review, a general increase of consumption, which in the present social and industrial conditions of India might have been apprehended, has in effect been held in check. Your despatch makes clear that the means by which this result has been attained are, first, the more stringent administrative control of the trade, whether through the extension of the distillery system or otherwise, secondly, a very appreciable reduction of drinking facilities, and thirdly, the application of the economic check upon consumption effected by the increased taxation of intoxicants and the enhancement of prices that ensues.

3. I observe with sympathy the strong protests made alike in your despatch and in the reports from Local Governments against the suggestion that district officers and other officials should be thought willing to subordinate the good order and welfare of the people to considerations of revenue. As I have before now stated, I am convinced that that aspersion is entirely without foundation.

4. The general conclusion that the action of Government has checked any widespread expansion of consumption over India as a whole is, unfortunately, qualified by the fact that in certain areas alluded to in the Local Governments' Reports, an increase alike of consumption and of intemperance must be admitted and faced. Higher wages, and a rising standard of prosperity, the growth of industrial and urban conditions, the relaxation of social and religious restrictions, and an imitation of Western manners in an unfortunate direction, tend to, and account for, these local increases of consumption apart from any action of Government. When it is remembered that a large mass of the people, in some cases from immemorial custom, is not averse to the use of intoxicants (I observe, for instance, that in Madras three-fourths, and in Bihar two-thirds, of the population are classed in the reports as drinkers of alcoholic liquors), it is impossible not to view with some concern the influences and tendencies referred to above. The present attitude of vigilance and restriction on the part of Government is thus seen to be essential. In an address to the Calcutta Temperance Federation (Enclosure No. 18). Your Excellency declared that "the Government of India, the Local "Governments and Administrations and their "officials are unanimous in desiring to promote "the cause of temperance in this country by all "means within their powers." Those powers are clearly limited by the habits of the drinking portions of the population, and by the grave possibilities that might be involved in driving consumption to a more deleterious class of drug or to illicit and cheaper sources of supply. But with due recognition of those limits, I concur with your declaration. Doubtless the Local Governments will continue to give attention to the areas of heavy or increasing consumption, and the Government of India can count on my support for any well-devised expedients to safeguard the prevalent sobriety of India and to counteract any tendencies that threaten to undermine it.

5. I pass to the consideration of the detailed points on which the opinions of the Local Governments have been obtained. Your despatch records the considerable progress already realised in several directions.

In these points of excise administration too rigid a uniformity of system is clearly unsuitable, and my inclination would be to respect the discretion of Local Governments and their right to make well-considered experiments for the control of the trade. I note that since 1905-06 no less than 22,653 shops, licensed for the sale of liquor or drugs have been closed and that while in some areas reduction has been carried as far as at present seems advisable, in others a further diminution may still be looked for. I agree with Your Excellency's Government not at present to press the Local Governments to make further limitation of the hours of sale than they now express their willingness to effect. I approve the changes for which some of the provinces are prepared. Such experiments as the later opening hour of 10 a. m. in Bihar and Orissa, or even of noon in the exceptional circumstances of the North-West Frontier Province, and as the closing hour of sunset suggested for rural areas in Bengal or even of 4 p.m. which the Government of Assam is ready to consider, will doubtless be carefully watched; and if successful, such examples may be followed in those other parts of India which are not at present prepared for any change.

6. Similarly, I am ready to accept your view as to the extension and powers of the Advisory Committees, subject to certain observations, which I should desire to make. In the first place, the widely-spread establishment of these Committees in municipalities and rural areas implies the practical acceptance of the principle that licensing is a function which, without sacrificing the avowed aims and the responsibilities of Government, should be exercised in concert with local advice and as far as possible in deference to local opinion. That principle may be worked out with considerable flexibility of detail according to the circumstances of each locality. It appears suitable to utilise, for rural areas, Local Boards, as is proposed in Bengal and Assam, or District Boards, as in the Punjab, in place of creating new administrative machinery. Where the Local Government, however, does not consider it expedient to set up Advisory Committees in rural areas, there might be less formal means of consulting local opinion. For instance, I observe that in Madras the existing rule is that :—

"Local opinion and where necessary the opinions of persons who may be specially interested, such as railway authorities, forest officers, and large employers of labour, should be obtained, and representations from District or Taluk boards or from village panchayats should receive attention."

In Burma, it is stated that "the opinions of rural tracts, and more specially of the inhabitants of the village, in which it is proposed to establish a new shop, should continue to be consulted as at present, and no new shop should be opened in the face of any strong opposition from them, unless it is conclusively shown that such opposition springs from interested motives".

These rules of practice seem to me to be appropriate.

Secondly, I hope that it may be found possible not to limit the functions of the Advisory Committees merely to questions of the number or location of shops. They may well serve as a channel through which local opinion may be consulted as to matters of excise, for instance, methods of trading, hours of sale (on which they have been consulted in Bombay), or generally as to abuses and irregularities. It might also be within their recognised sphere to call attention to special cases and localities, in town or country, in which it might seem desirable and likely to be in consonance with the wishes of the inhabitants that the ward or special area should be kept altogether immune from the sale of intoxicants In this connection I may refer to the instance of the Khoudmals sub-division in Bihar and Orissa, where an aboriginal tribe, accustomed to heavy spirit drinking, petitioned for, and obtained in 1910, the entire removal of country liquor shops from their area. It would be a matter for regret if illicit selling were to threaten the breakdown of this experiment. Such cases are no doubt exceptional and may seldom come under the observation of an Advisory Committee. But a Committee should have power to draw attention to any case of the kind coming to notice within their respective local areas. I entirely approve the principle stated by the Commissioner of Excise in the following passage :—

"Whenever it appears that the people of any particular locality have so far been convinced of the benefits of temperance as to abstain or even to make an honest attempt of abstaining from alcohol, Government will only be too willing to close the shops as they have done in the Khondmals ".

Thirdly, Your Excellency's Government take the view that without prejudice to the eventual development of local control, it is not desirable at present to grant executive powers to the Advisory Committees. I accept the opinion that their institution is as yet too recent to warrant a further extension of their functions. In some cases their inactivity is criticised, though on the whole they appear to have justified their existence. It may be unwise to force a premature development, but their future working should be closely watched. I can see no reason why, while their powers are of a consultative nature, these bodies need necessarily have an official majority—a point which is not objected to in Bengal and elsewhere, though it is not conceded in Madras. I am glad, however, to observe the experiment of instituting Licensing Boards with full and final powers of determining the number and location of licensed shops for Calcutta and each of its suburban municipalities, and for each of the towns of Howrah and Bally. This proposal, under which the Excise Department and the leading temperance associations are to have each one representative on a board of seven, will preclude the suggestion that financial considerations can have a predominant voice in licensing decisions. I await with interest the Report upon the subject asked for in your circular letter of the 18th March 1914, and I share the hope expressed by Your Excellency in your address to the deputation that waited upon you at Calcutta that if the experiment should prove successful, the way will be cleared for a similar experiment in other large towns.

7. I observe that Your Excellency's Government treat the auction system of licensing as the one question among excise problems, on which diversity of opinion is expressed by the Local Governments. In place of the definite decision in favour of a modified auction system taken up by the Excise Resolution of 16th May 1907, the subject is held in your despatch to be admittedly controversial, an open question that is regarded as being sub judice. At the same time the experiment of a fixed fee system for country liquor shops was sanctioned by the Government of India on the application of the Bombay Government for the year 1909-10 in three selected districts, and from the commencement of the year 1912-13 the auction system for the disposal of country liquor shops was practically abolished everywhere in the Presidency, save for the discretionary power reserved to the Collector of resorting to auctions in rare and exceptional cases.

I shall not attempt to cover the ground of a well-worn controversy. The arguments are to be found in documents alluded to in the Despatch, and they were doubtless duly weighed before the Government of India gave permission to the Bombay Government to try its experiment. Any and every licensing system is open to some objections, and often there is but a choice of evils. Whatever may be the practical difficulties which Indian conditions present, there is much to be said in favour of a fixed fee system which would secure to the State the full profits but not more than those profits accruing from the monopoly which the State itself creates Such a system would leave to the liquor seller the average trading profits which he might expect to obtain from the sale of ordinary commodities with which the State does not interfere. It is one of the defects of the auction system, that even when speculative bids are rejected, it is liable to encroach on the fair profit of the trader, who in turn is tempted to recoup himself by illegitimate practices. Under a properly constituted fee system, based on accurate information intelligently and honestly used, the selection of the licensee would be on grounds of respectability, good record, and fitness. While no colour would be left for the suggestion that revenue was the predominant consideration, the revenue that would be derived primarily from still-head duties, and in a secondary degree from fees representing the monopoly profits of the individual shop, would be in practice as high as under a properly worked auction system the State ought in theory to exact

Such a system of adequate fixed fees differs widely from a system in which the fee is intentionally fixed at a low rate as part of a plan for lowering the price of liquor. This appears to have been the case with the unsuccessful Punjab experiment It is enough to say that the object so avowed is in clear opposition to the spirit of your Government's policy, and that, as is now recognised, other means must be found of coping with illicit distillation. A proper fixed fee system should, as above stated, secure all the monopoly profits to which the State has a fair claim. On the other hand, there are some indications that in Calcutta and in towns in the United Provinces, where there is no free choice of sites, the auction system does not in fact secure for the State all such profits.

I note that among the reasons which led the Government of India to reject the fixed fee system recommended by the Excise Committee of 1905-06 the experience of England seems to have been emphasised. In paragraphs 20 to 22 of the orders of the Government of India on chapter X of the of the Excise Committee, the fixed fee
, it is stated, " has proved the most serious cle to real temperance reform in England ".
u dwell on the considerable difficulties that wth of vested interests in England has given
I agree that the old English system, under low conventional fixed fees were levied,
; merely at the recovery of an arbitrary and limited amount of revenue, inasmuch as it left most of the monopoly profits in private hands, tended to the creation of vested interests. But the later experience of England should not be overlooked. The new system introduced under the Licensing Act of 1904 for new licenses—of which it is true that only a comparatively small number are granted—does succeed in preventing the creation of vested interests in this class of license, and no compensation is paid when these licenses terminate or are not regranted. It is not suggested that in its details this reformed English system should be copied, or that its precise machinery could be reproduced in India. Under the contract distillery system there is far better provision possible in India for determining precisely the proper annual fees of licenses But the principle is in essence the same as that now working in Bombay.

The Bombay system which began as a limited experiment six years ago and is now in its third year of universal operation through the Presidency, may not have been working long enough to make it possible to gauge accurately the full effects of the abolition of the auction system. But so far it appears to give satisfaction, though in the last Excise Report of the Bombay Government for 1912-13, the Commissioner of Customs remarks that "the scale which has been tentatively pre- "scribed for working out the fees, and which is a "very important feature of it, is, I am inclined to "think, susceptible of modifications which will "improve it". In a matter of this kind I should hesitate to override the objections which are felt by some of the Local Governments to the fixed fee system. You state that "the Bombay experi- "ment is being closely watched and that you are "considering the advisability of suggesting to other "Local Governments the desirability of initiating "similar experiments in suitable areas". I trust that before long it may be found practicable to try these experiments in different localities, and that taking full advantage of the details of the Bombay experience, those excise officials who have expressed their willingness to undertake this experiment should have the opportunity of doing so.

8. I have only further to observe that stress is laid throughout the Reports on the importance of education and of the independent efforts of temperance workers as the real means of securing reform. On the first point your Lordship, in replying to the Calcutta deputation, referred to the question of temperance teaching in schools. I would venture to suggest that the syllabus of lessons on temperance, which received the support of the British Medical Association, and was issued by the Board of Education in 1909, a copy of which is appended to this despatch, might be adapted for use in schools in India; and that at least two or three lessons a year in those schools should be based upon it. It would doubtless need some recasting to meet Indian conditions; even though Indian students may not personally need warning, there is some evidence that it is among the educated classes that the tendency to imitate Western manners may serve to weaken the influence of traditional restrictions, and it may be desirable to emphasise the attitude of leading scientific authorities of the West. I also endorse the appeal that is made more than once in the Reports for the co-operation of temperance reformers in India. A fruitful field is opened to them by the representation offered to members of the leading Temperance Associations on the Advisory Committees and on the new Licensing Boards in Calcutta. But there is need for a movement of reform from within, springing from the people themselves, without which, as you rightly point out, the administrative efforts of Government must be hampered in the successful attainment of the objects that it has in view.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient humble Servant,

OF

FOR SCHOLARS ATTENDING

PUBLIC ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS.

GOVERNMENT CENTRAL BRANCH PRESS,

SYLLABUS OF LESSONS ON "TEMPERANCE" FOR SCHOLARS ATTENDING PUBLIC ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS.

PREFATORY NOTE

1. It is hoped that in course of time such instruction on the subject of "Temperance," in its restricted sense, as is suitable to Public Elementary Schools will be given by the regular Staff as part of the teaching of the elementary rules of personal health which should be included in the curriculum of every school. Article 2 (9) of the Code for 1908 indicates that such instruction should be given wherever possible, and Hygiene (which, of course, comprehends instruction relating to alcoholic drinks) is now included as one of the regular subjects for Two Year Students in Training Colleges [Article 15 (a) of the Regulations for the Training of Teachers for Elementary Schools].

2. At present, however, some Schools have on their staff no teachers who have the special knowledge required for giving teaching of this kind, and in order that the scholars may receive instruction in "Temperance," the services of special peripatetic teachers have been offered by various Societies and Organisations, and have in many cases been accepted by Local Education Authorities and Managers of Schools. Such instruction has been allowed to count towards the period of secular instruction required by the Code. These extraneous teachers, however competent they may be, have not always the particular qualifications required by the Code, nor the experience of the methods of teaching suitable to scholars in Public Elementary Schools, which are possessed by the regular teachers on the staff of the schools. Further, the syllabuses of "Temperance" lectures to be given by extraneous teachers which have been submitted for the Board's approval have been very various, and in some cases have not been specially designed for the instruction of scholars in Public Elementary Schools, nor have they always been appropriate to that purpose. In these circumstances, the Board have come to the conclusion that the time has come for the issue of an official Syllabus to which all instruction in "Temperance" (whether given by extraneous teachers or by teachers on the ordinary staff) should conform in general character, and to some extent, in detail. The Board believe this course to be essential in order to provide security that the teaching given on this difficult matter shall be both accurate in its statement of facts and suitable in its manner of presentation to scholars in Public Elementary Schools.

3. The following Syllabus has accordingly been framed as a "Model" Syllabus for use by teachers in Public Elementary Schools, whether they are, or are not, members of the School Staff, and the Board of Education will not in ordinary circumstances be prepared to approve under Article 3 of the Code any Syllabus of instruction which departs substantially from this Model. It is suggested that at least three lessons in the subject should be given to the children each year. It is, however, desirable to arrange, so far as may be possible, that if any part of the instruction is given to children who are under 10 years of age, it should be only that which is of the broadest and most general character, and that lessons on the matter of the Third Section should only be given to children who are over 12 years of age. Where three lessons cannot be given, the teacher may be able to cover the ground in rather less detail in two lessons, and where one lesson only is given, it is preferable that the matter in Section III of the Syllabus should be very lightly touched, the main attention being concentrated on Sections I and II. Where the lessons are given at distant intervals, as will sometimes be the case, it is clearly desirable to begin the later lessons by a brief recapitulation of those which have preceded. There is an obvious advantage in securing that a series of three lessons is given to the children within a comparatively short period. Lessons on this subject need not necessarily be grouped under a separate head in the curriculum, but can appropriately be included in instruction on Hygiene, of which indeed they form a part.

It will be observed that the principle of the Syllabus is to proceed, as far as possible, by means of question and answer, from what the child already knows to what it does not know. By this means the child is brought to express what it has already experienced, and is led on, by amplification and illustration, to realise what is most conducive to a healthy life. Technical terms and language which a child would not understand have been avoided as far as practicable, and it is of the highest importance that in using the Syllabus the teacher should be careful to employ only the simplest language.

4. Some Notes for the guidance of teachers have been appended which elaborate the necessarily condensed statements of the Syllabus, and indicate under each heading the line which should be taken and the material which can be safely used in enforcing or illustrating the several points. It is not, of course, intended that these Notes should ever be read to the class or used in such a way as to overload the teaching with detail. It may be taken that the statements of fact made both in the Syllabus and in the Notes have been carefully verified, and that the inferences drawn from the facts are supported by scientific opinion of high authority.

5. It has been alleged that some of the "Temperance" teaching given in the past which was represented as "scientific" has, in fact, fallen short of a scientific standard as regards accuracy in stating facts, caution in drawing inferences, or methods of instruction. Indeed in some cases it appears that attempts have been made to support the incontrovertible general arguments against the abuse of stimulants by suggesting that alcohol inevitably and invariably has deleterious consequences when taken as a beverage in any conditions whatever. The supposed proof of this proposition, sometimes included in lectures on

Prefatory Note.

"Temperance" given in Public Elementary Schools, occupied time that might have been better employed for the purpose of inculcating "Temperance" on broad intelligible grounds, and as a scientific argument rested on somewhat precarious foundations.

6. The teacher will know that a temperate life depends mainly on good habits and the appreciation and practice of a few simple and direct rules of health and conduct, and is, therefore, largely a matter of good training. There are open to the teachers on the Staff of the School frequent opportunities, apart from the regular lessons, of impressing upon the scholars the importance of habits of self-control. It should be the object of any special instruction in "Temperance," as in other departments of Hygiene, to supply in a simple intelligible form the broad truths of the subject and plain reasons for the good habits which it should be the constant aim of the School life, no less than of the Home life, to develop in the scholars.

7. "Temperance" teaching in Public Elementary Schools should, therefore, aim mainly at impressing upon the scholars the manifest advantages of abstemiousness and the absence of advantage in, and the positive risks and dangers of, any departure from it. The advice or injunctions given should be based upon the broad facts of common experience, such as children can readily understand, and upon the conclusions of trained observers*(e.g., as to the extent to which the power to do mental and physical work is affected by the consumption of alcohol in its ordinary forms), rather than upon the results of laboratory experiments or pathological studies. The latter may be valuable in the teaching of advanced students of Hygiene, but can have little, if any, real meaning for children. The teacher should carefully avoid anything, whether in the details or in the methods of dealing with them, calculated to excite morbid curiosity or fear. Instruction on the subject of "Temperance" should itself be temperate and should make a sober appeal to such reasoning capacity as a child possesses and to the ideas of decent, self-respecting and dutiful living which every good teacher endeavours to present to and cultivate in the children under his charge.

SYLLABUS

SECTION I.

EATING AND DRINKING : FOOD AND ITS USE.

1. What things do we eat ?
2. The different kinds of food.

   Meats, fats, starches, sugars, salts Water in food.
3. What is the use of our food ? Why food is necessary.
   - (a) Food is necessary for the growth of the body
   - (b) Food prevents the body from becoming thin and wearing away. It repairs waste
   - (c) It is from food that we get our strength and power to work.
   - (d) It is by our food that the body is kept warm
   - (e) The working of the mind depends upon the condition of the body. If the body is not properly fed the mind will not work so well.
4. Overfeeding and underfeeding. Too little food is bad for the body , too much food is bad also.
5. The special usefulness of the different kinds of food. Why people eat various kinds of food, and why they are wise to do so.
6. Things which people eat and drink for pleasure. Sweets, cakes, tea, coffee and cocoa. Some of these things are foods or quench thirst. The value of each. Why people drink tea and coffee.
7. Other beverages.

   Besides these beverages, which are in part useful, people also take for pleasure other beverages, such as beer, wine, spirits. These are not useful in the ways in which our ordinary food, and such things as cocoa and milk, are useful People often do themselves great harm by taking too much beer, wine and spirits.

   The chief reason for this is that these beverages contain Alcohol and little or no real food-substance.

Children and young people ought never to take alcoholic beverages in any circumstances, unless by a doctor's express order.

Syllabus of Lessons on "Temperance."

SECTION II.

ALCOHOL.—EFFECTS OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES ON THE BODY.

1. The presence of Alcohol in beer, wine and spirits.

   Not only are beer, wine and spirits not useful to us in the same way that our ordinary food is useful; they also contain varying proportions of alcohol, which in pure form is injurious to the human body.

2. Some characteristics and uses of pure Alcohol.

3. The proportion of Alcohol in beer, wine and spirits.

   It is impossible to drink alcohol undiluted, because of the direct injury and pain it would produce.

   The harmful effects of alcohol are weakened, though not destroyed, when it is mixed with water and other things, as in alcoholic beverages.

4. The drinking of alcoholic beverages may bring about injurious effects and changes in our bodies, which may be considered under the following headings:—

   The effect of Alcohol on:—

   (a) Growth.

   (b) The power of the body to resist disease.

   (c) The body's strength and power to work.

   (d) The proper digestion of food.

   (e) The heat of the body.

   (f) The control of the body which is exercised by the brain.

   (g) The intelligence and understanding.

5. The effects of excessive drinking of Alcohol:

   (a) The man or woman who habitually drinks too much alcohol may become a mental or physical wreck.

   (b) Persons who drink in excess do not, as a rule, have long or healthy lives. The evidence of this.

For Scholars Attending Public Elementary Schools.

SECTION III.

EVIL CONSEQUENCES OF INTEMPERANCE TO THE INDIVIDUAL, TO THE HOME, AND TO THE STATE.

(For children over 12 only.)

1. The drinking of alcoholic beverages not only may have bad effects upon the body and mind of the individual, but also may be followed by still more serious consequences, namely, moral injury to himself and great harm to others.

2. The importance of self-control and temperance in all things. Freedom is lost if evil habits are acquired.

3. The personal consequences of excessive drinking of Alcohol :—

(a) Waste of money which could be wisely spent or saved. The value of thrift.

(b) Loss of self-respect.

(c) Unfitness for work ; loss of employment. Pauperism.

(d) Ill-health ; disease. Insanity.

(e) Neglect of duty ; moral degradation. Crime.

(f) The ruin of homes ; unhappiness and suffering of men, women, and children.

4. The social evils which result from alcoholic excess.

The habit of alcoholic excess affects not only the individual and his family, but also the State, i.e., the whole of the people. There is wasteful expenditure of money ; and paupers, lunatics, and criminals are a heavy burden on the public. The working powers of the people as a whole are impaired, and so the prosperity of the nation itself is undermined.

NOTES ON TEMPERANCE SYLLABUS.

SECTION I.

1. What things do we eat?

By questioning the children the teacher will be able to ascertain a considerable number of foods in common use in their own homes, or which they have had in their most recent meal, such as meat, fish, bread, butter, jam, potatoes, etc.

2. The different kinds of food.

The children will thus learn that there are various kinds of food. Broadly, all foods may be grouped under four different headings :—(a) Meats, among which may be included butcher's meat, fish, bacon, poultry, eggs, and also cheese and milk ; (b) Fats—such as butter, dripping, cream, margarine, bacon-fat ; (c) Starches and Sugars—among foods which contain starch are bread, potatoes, rice, tapioca ; sugar is found in beetroot, carrots, sugar-cane, sweet fruits, and milk ; (d) Salts—among which common salt is one of the most important. It is, however, necessary for us to eat fresh fruit and vegetables, because these also contain "salts" as well as "acids". Most kinds of food belong to more than one of these groups, for instance, milk contains meat substance, fat, sugar and salts, besides water; bacon contains meat and fat ; eggs contain meat substance, fat and salts. Generally, however, the food consists chiefly of one food substance, such as meat or fat. All these different food substances are required by the body, and it is, therefore, necessary to eat many different kinds of foods. Milk is almost the only food which contains everything needful for children, and that is why it is so important that babies and little children should have plenty of milk. Some people do not like eating meat or fish, and they must on that account take an extra amount of such foods as milk and cheese instead, for they cannot keep well or strong if they eat only starch-containing foods, fat and vegetables.

Water in food.

Besides solid food to eat we need also something to drink. Water is the best fluid to drink, and man cannot live without it any more than plants or animals can. If a plant is not watered, and is thus allowed to become dry, it will wither and die ; the human body will also die if it cannot obtain water. Most food contains a good deal of water ; and some foods, such as jelly, though appearing to be quite solid, are almost wholly made of water. All fruits and vegetables contain water, and thus when they are cooked they seem smaller because some of the water in them boils away, or becomes "juice". There is also a large amount of water in meat. The water contained in food, however, is not enough to keep us healthy and we must, therefore, always drink water as well. Water is necessary partly because it helps to dissolve and make liquid the food which is eaten. The nourishing part of the food is then in a condition to be absorbed into the blood, and is distributed by the blood to all parts of the body. Food can only be taken up by the blood in liquid form, so that without water the food would be of little or no use to our bodies, however good it might be in itself. Water therefore may in this sense be considered a food.

3. What is the use of our food? Why food is necessary.

Everything we eat is not necessarily "food". To be a real food it must be able to help the body in one or more of the following ways :—

(a) Food is necessary for the growth of the body.

It must help to make the body taller and bigger. Babies and children have to grow bigger and heavier, they cannot do this unless food is given to the body which it is able to turn into bone and muscle. After serious illness grown-up people become thin, wasted and weak—then they have to eat food to restore them, and to make their muscle big and strong again.

Notes on Temperance Syllabus.

(b) Food prevents the body from becoming thin and wearing away.

If we do not have food for several hours we begin to feel hungry. Some part of the body is continually wearing away and being used up, somewhat in the same way as a candle is used up as it burns When we feel hungry it means that we feel the need of food to replace the part of the body that has wasted away. If we use our muscles and do hard work the body wears away faster than if we do no work, and, therefore, we need more food after our work to make up for this extra waste. If we cannot get enough food we know that we grow thin, so it is evident that we must take food even if the body is to remain the same size and weight.

(c) It is from food that we get our strength and power to work.

When we do work with our bodies or minds we use up our strength, and sooner or later we get tired and have no more power or energy to work. Then, besides rest, we require food to supply fresh strength and energy to make up for that which we have lost.

(d) It is by our food that the body is kept warm.

As our bodies are warmer than the air and most of the objects which surround us, they are constantly cooling down and losing heat. When food is taken into the body and absorbed into the blood, heat is produced, in somewhat the same way, as heat is formed when anything is burned. It is the heat derived from our food which replaces the heat lost from the surface of the body, and which prevents us from becoming too cold. This explains why people often feel particularly cold when they are hungry.

(e) The working of the mind depends on the condition of the body.

Our minds cannot work well unless our bodies are properly fed and warmed, because food serves to strengthen brain as well as body. Just as the body becomes weak and unable to work if it is not fed, so the brain also becomes less active if not nourished. Thus, children who are not properly fed cannot learn their lessons as well as if they were well nourished. It is, moreover, particularly important that children should receive suitable and sufficient food, because under-nourishment in childhood may starve, not only the body, but also the brain, upon the health, capacity and power of which so much of their future life depends.

4. Overfeeding and underfeeding.

While we should always eat enough food to keep us strong and well, we should never take more than is necessary for this purpose. Too much food is not only useless, it also does harm. Extra and unnecessary food either passes out of the body and is wasted, or else is stored up in the body as fat, so that people who eat too much may become very stout Such people are on the whole less healthy and are more liable to illness than those who have more self-control and eat only enough for their actual needs. Overfeeding may be, and often is, more harmful than underfeeding. It is quite as bad for children to have too much to eat as for grown-up people.

5. The special usefulness of the different kinds of food. Why people eat various kinds of food and why they are wise to do so.

The several kinds of food referred to above are all required by the body, and each kind is of use in its own particular way. For instance, meat, fish and eggs help the body to grow, to become strong and able to work, they help to make muscle and supply energy and strength Cheese (which contains the meat substance of milk) and milk are useful in the same way. Foods containing sugar and starch also help to make the body strong and fit for work, but they make it warm too. Fat in food both makes the body warm and keeps it from getting thin. Besides these foods, we shall do well to eat fruits and green vegetables, because they too help to keep the body healthy.

It is easy to see why it is not good to try and live on one kind of food alone. If, for example, we eat only bread and butter, we have starch and fat in our food, but that is not enough to make the body grow and keep strong. If we live on meat or fish only, we have not enough fat or sugar to keep us warm. If we do not have fresh vegetables or fruit with our food, we become ill, because our diet then lacks the necessary salts and acids. This is the reason why sailors who made long voyages in sailing ships used to get ill, because in those days it was not possible to store enough fresh vegetables to last for the whole voyage. We must, therefore, eat a little of a good many different kinds of food if we are to keep well and strong, but we should always avoid eating and drinking anything that is either useless or likely to do the body harm, and is, therefore, not a real "food", like those of which we have been speaking.

6. Things which people eat and drink for pleasure.

Besides the food that people eat to do them good or make them strong, there are many things which they eat merely because they like them. Children, for instance, like sweets and cakes. Sweets and cakes contain sugar and other pleasant things that are good for us if we do not eat too much of them. If we eat too many sweets, especially between meals, we have no appetite for the other more nourishing food which the body needs, and besides this the sweets and cakes may actually make us ill and so do us harm.

People also drink things because they like them; for instance, tea, coffee, and cocoa. Neither tea nor coffee is a real food; the only food in tea as we drink it is the milk and sugar that we put into it. The difference between milk or any other food and tea lies in the fact that milk gives the body power and strength, whereas tea only helps the body to put forth and use the strength it has gained from real food.* If people drink these things when they are tired, they feel for a short time fresher and more able to work — they feel "stimulated", in fact. This is due to a certain substance which tea and coffee contain, which temporarily increases our capacity for muscular and mental work, and, if taken in moderate quantities, does so without causing any marked reaction. Thus fatigue is in some degree really diminished and not only obscured. People, therefore, drink tea and coffee partly because they have a pleasant taste and quench thirst, but also partly because of their stimulating effect. If we drink them in moderation they do us no harm, but if we take them too frequently, especially for the purpose of freshening us up when we are tired, then they may be distinctly harmful. When people are tired they do not need stimulants so much as rest and real food, before they begin to work again.

Tea should always be freshly made and should not be strong. To make tea properly, a teaspoonful or more should be put into a clean warm tea-pot, boiling water should be poured in, and the tea may be left to stand three or four minutes. It will then be ready to drink. If tea is left to stand long after it has been made, it soon begins to taste bitter; this is because a substance, "Tannin," is being dissolved out of the tea-leaves by the hot water. The longer the tea stands, the more tannin there will be in it. Besides making the tea taste bitter, the tannin is bad for our bodies: it prevents food being properly absorbed, gives us indigestion and does harm in other ways also. Tea should be drunk soon after it is made because there is then very little tannin in it. Neither tea nor coffee is good for children; they should have milk or cocoa instead. Cocoa is better for children than tea or coffee because it is less stimulating and contains a little more real food substance.

Notes on Temperance Syllabus.

7. Other beverages, such as beer, wine, spirits.

Besides these beverages, there are others which people take because they like them, such as beer, wine and spirits. These things are not of real use to us, because they cannot make us grow, nor keep the body from wearing away, and they cannot make us strong or warm. They contain little or no meat substance, no starch and no fat, and only a little sugar, and they are, therefore, not "foods" like the others of which we have spoken. They should not be used as foods therefore, partly because they are unable to help nourish the body but also partly because they may do actual harm by preventing real food substances from being absorbed into the blood. Many people, however, suppose that beer is a real food, and they drink it partly because they think it makes them more able to work. It is true that there is a certain amount of nourishment in beer. There is, for example, a little sugar and there is a small quantity of the food substance found in meat. To obtain enough food from beer really to benefit the body, however, it would be necessary to take an extremely large quantity. For this reason the good that might be done by the nourishing part of the beer would be more than counterbalanced by the harm done by the alcohol contained in so large a quantity of beer. This is one important reason for not taking beer as a food. Another is the expense, for even if no harm were done by the amount of beer which it would be necessary to drink, the cost of such a meal would be far greater than the cost of an equal amount of nourishment taken in the form of ordinary food. For these two reasons, therefore, beer cannot be considered to be one of the "foods" which the body requires.

These alcoholic beverages do not, as a rule, quench thirst as water or tea can do, in fact they make people more thirsty and so cause them to be inclined to go on drinking more beer or spirits. Thirst may be, in fact, actually created and increased instead of being satisfied. If this happens people may do themselves great harm, just as people who drink strong tea too often may do themselves harm; but the harm that is done by beer, wine and spirits is much greater because they contain a substance, Alcohol, which tea does not, and this substance may be very dangerous to the body. Such beverages are especially liable to cause harm when they are taken between meals or without nourishing food.

Children and young people should not drink beer or spirits of any kind. When they are grown up, they will be able to judge for themselves whether they may take beer in small quantities, or whether it is not much wiser and better to refuse to take any beer and spirits, and to use the money which would otherwise have been spent in this way to brighten their own lives and those of others. Children should be given alcohol only when the doctor orders it because they are ill. Doctors do not often order alcoholic drinks for children, because they understand how dangerous such drinks may become and they are generally able to give some other medicine which will be equally useful. Children do not, as a rule, like the taste of alcohol; in fact, wide experience proves that "alcohol is seldom any temptation to the "young, but nevertheless, the habit may be acquired and become a temptation later".*

It must be remembered that we cannot harm our bodies when in health by refusing to drink beer or spirits, because the body does not require them, whereas it is always possible that various evils may arise as a consequence of taking such beverages.

We must also bear in mind that if alcohol is used regularly drinking habits may not infrequently result, for a mere knowledge of the dangers of alcohol is not always a sufficient safeguard.

Notes on Temperance Syllabus.

SECTION II.

1. The presence of Alcohol in beer, wine and spirits.

Beer, wine and spirits are not useful to the body in any of the special ways in which our ordinary food is useful. They also contain the dangerous substance which was referred to in the last section. This substance is alcohol, which in pure form is harmful to the human body.

2. Some Characteristics and Uses of Pure Alcohol.

Pure alcohol is colourless and looks like water, but it has a peculiar smell which water has not, and it also has not the power to quench thirst like water.

It will burn; brandy and whisky, which contain a great deal, will take fire easily, methylated spirit, which is nearly all alcohol, is used for spirit lamps, etc., because it burns so well.

If animal or vegetable substances such as meat or green vegetables, are soaked in alcohol, they become hard and tough and would be useless as food. Alcohol cannot dissolve food as water can, and, therefore, cannot help the body to absorb and make use of food. It is able, however, to dissolve other substances which water cannot dissolve.

Alcohol has a great attraction for water, and if substances containing water are soaked in alcohol, they lose this water and become dry and hard. Alcohol is also able to absorb water from the tissues of the body, and this explains why alcoholic drinks tend to make a man more rather than less thirsty. When the body loses water, whatever the cause of this loss may be, thirst is created which calls for a renewal of the supply of water. Alcoholic beverages, therefore, make a person thirsty in the same way as he becomes thirsty after perspiring freely.

These properties of alcohol make it extremely useful in certain arts and manufactures, and for some industrial purposes. As a fuel, for example, it may be used for spirit lamps or to drive motors. The chemist uses it to prepare and purify drugs and other compounds. It is employed to dry and harden substances; many articles and museum specimens are preserved in spirit; and because it is almost impossible to freeze alcohol, it is used instead of mercury in thermometers when an exceedingly low temperature is to be registered.

3. Proportion of Alcohol in beer, wine and spirits.

It is not possible to drink pure alcohol, because it causes a hot painful feeling in the mouth, throat, and stomach and also produces direct injury. Therefore, it can only be taken when diluted and made weaker by mixing it with water or other liquids less harmful than alcohol.

Beer, wine and spirits all contain alcohol. There is some in beer, more in most wines, and a great deal in spirits. (It is for this reason that beer will not burn, though brandy will.) The percentage of alcohol by volume in some of the commoner alcoholic beverages may be stated as follows:—

Lager beer	contains about	4	per cent.
Bottled beer	„ „	7	„
Claret, hock, etc.	„ „	9-10	„
Port	„ „	17-23	„
Spirits: Gin	„ „	37	„
Spirits: Rum, Whisky, Brandy	„ „	40-50	„

When people drink alcohol mixed with water or other liquids it does not poison them as pure alcohol would do, but even when it is made very weak, it may still have a harmful effect, especially if taken frequently. (Some of the "medicated wines," sold by chemists and others, contain a large percentage of alcohol, and are purchased freely for use as "tonics" by many people. By the indiscriminate use of such wines harm is done and intemperate habits may be acquired.)

4. The drinking of Alcoholic Beverages may bring about Injurious Effects and Changes in our Bodies.

The following are some of the serious effects which drinking beverages containing alcohol may have on our bodies:—

(a) The Effect on Growth.

If much alcohol is given to children and young people the growth of the body will probably be interfered with and instead of becoming tall and big they will most likely remain short and stunted. Let us see what happens if alcohol is given to plants. Cress seeds were planted by Dr. J. J. Ridge in separate glass tubes, some were given pure water and others water containing alcohol in varying quantities. The seeds which had pure water grew up strong and healthy, but the more alcohol there was in the water the less vigorous was the cress, and when the alcohol formed one hundredth part of the water, the seeds were killed. It was also found that the green colouring matter of plants, which is necessary to their healthy existence, is not freely produced if they are watered with even a very weak solution of alcohol.*

Again, Sir B. W. Richardson, M. D., observed that lowly forms of water animals, such as jelly fish, are very quickly killed if a little alcohol is added to the water in which they live. Then, too, if alcohol is given to young animals, such as puppies or kittens, they grow up less strong and vigorous.

Although it has not been proved that alcohol has precisely the same effect on the human body as it has on plants and animals, yet it is probably harmful to the living matter in our bodies in somewhat the same way that it is harmful to the living matter in plants and animals. Alcohol cannot help the body to grow, but rather tends to retard and stunt its growth.

(b) The Effect on the power of the Body to resist Disease.

Alcohol taken in excess lowers the resistance of the body to disease, that is to say, a person who habitually drinks much beer or spirits is more likely to contract illness than one who does not. Moreover, such a person is less likely to recover from the attacks of disease. Consumption and inflammation of the lungs are among the diseases to which alcohol may render people especially liable. Then, again, wounds, sores and cuts heal far less readily in a person who takes much beer and spirits than in one who does not, and such a person is much more likely to suffer from blood poisoning.

(c) The Effect on the Body's Strength and Power to work.

The drinking of much beer and spirits tends to weaken the muscles of the heart and of the body generally and so diminishes the power and capacity to work. Experiments were made by Dr. Parkes with two gangs of soldiers doing equally hard muscular work (mowing), one gang alternately taking beer during the work and the other not. In every case it was shown that although men taking beer might for a short time gain on the others, yet they soon dropped behind, and at the end of the day the total work accomplished by them was less than that done by those who had no alcohol.† In the South African War it was observed by Sir Frederick Treves, who was with the column which relieved Ladysmith, that soldiers who drank much alcohol were the first to fall out on a long march, and were less fitted to overcome hardships and fatigue than those who either did not drink alcohol, or took it in very moderate amount. Athletes, when training for racing or other sports, usually avoid alcohol because they know the harmful effect it may have upon their bodily strength and endurance. Mr. Brassey says: "Some of the most powerful among the navvies have been "teetotalers. On the Great Northern Railway there was a celebrated gang of navvies "who did more work in a day than any other gang on the line and always left off "work an hour or an hour and a half earlier than any other men. Every navvy "in this powerful gang was a teetotaler."‡ Muscular fatigue following severe exertion is far less readily recovered from if much alcohol is taken during the work or exertion and the recuperative powers of those who regularly take too much to drink are greatly lessened. Broadly, therefore, it may be said that common experience shows that men engaged in very hard manual labour do their work more easily, in all respects, without alcohol.*

(d) The Effect on the Proper Digestion of Food.

Beer and spirits, if taken in considerable quantities, have serious effects on the digestion. When so taken into the body the delicate wall of the stomach is irritated, and if this irritation is frequently repeated, a form of chronic disease is set up. Besides the pain and discomfort which this causes, the digestive functions of the stomach are interfered with, food is not absorbed into the blood as freely as it usually is and the general nutrition, therefore, suffers. Alcohol, when taken in such quantities, also tends to destroy the natural appetite and the wholesome sensations of hunger which are an aid to good digestion: less food is, therefore, taken into the body, and this, together with defective absorption, serves to bring about a condition of under-nourishment.

(e) The Effect on the Heat of the Body.

The action of alcohol causes the blood vessels of the skin to become very full of blood. This makes the skin feel hot and look flushed while a temporary feeling of warmth is experienced by the body generally. This feeling, however, soon passes away and the man feels cold and chilly, especially if no nourishing food was eaten with the beer or spirits. This is because heat is quickly lost from the hot flushed skin, and alcohol, therefore, brings about a waste and dissipation of the body heat, and so makes the body colder than it would otherwise have been, while it has not power to replace the heat lost as a real food would do. It should for this reason never be taken to make a person warm, as it really has the opposite effect in the end. Many Arctic explorers have not permitted alcohol to be taken as a beverage by members of their expeditions, partly because it causes this loss of heat, which is especially serious in cold climates, and partly because it so greatly diminishes the muscular strength and the capacity for endurance. A man drinking much alcohol in a very cold climate is likely to suffer severely, or even die, from the cold because of the heat that is lost from the body on account of the alcohol. Persons frozen to death, at any rate in this country, have often died because they were intoxicated when exposed to the cold. † Alcohol has also been found to predispose to sunstroke.

(f) The Effect on the Control of the Body which is exercised by the Brain.

The effects on the brain of considerable amounts of alcohol are very noticeable. Though at first it appears to be stimulating, and in fact is so, for a time, partly because of the extra quantity of blood that passes to the brain, it has soon a deadening influence and creates false impressions of comfort and well-being. A man who is under the influence of alcohol believes his external surroundings to be better than they actually are because he is unable to feel or realise his limitations so acutely on account of this deadening effect. The feelings and sensations are blunted and the proper control of the brain over the muscles is weakened. As one result of this loss of control, accidents, such as falls, or factory mishaps with machinery, may occur. It is a significant fact that such accidents occur with greater frequency on Sunday and Monday, after indulgence in large quantities of alcohol on Saturday or Sunday. The trembling, shaky hand so often seen in those who take too much alcohol is another result of this loss of control by the brain, and this is especially detrimental to the man who earns his living by the sureness and steadiness of his hand. It has been shown that comparatively small quantities of alcohol may injuriously affect the nerves and senses (sight, touch, etc.).

Notes on Temperance Syllabus.

(g) The Effect on the Intelligence and Understanding.

The higher powers of the intellect, such as the will power and the understanding, may also be injured or weakened by the drinking of alcohol. The general intelligence of a man who frequently gives way to drinking in excess is lowered, his power of voluntary attention is enfeebled, and his power of calculation retarded. His memory also becomes bad, and his work is often careless because of this. Then the power to think may be lessened and he is thus unable to reason well and clearly. His judgment becomes less accurate and balanced. Mental activity generally is reduced and the quality of the work that is done becomes increasingly inaccurate and untrustworthy.

Observations made by Dr. Aschaffenburg on the work of compositors (which is skilled work requiring an active brain) led him to conclude that when alcohol was taken before work and by men accustomed to its use, fewer letters were set up than when no alcohol was given, although the men themselves were under the impression that the alcohol caused them to work better and more rapidly.* Dr. Leopold Lang finds reason to think that a similar conclusion holds true of marks earned by school children in Holland, Austria and Germany It has been shown that in "very good" and "good" classes the abstainers head the list by considerable proportions; in those giving "moderate" or "sufficient" results the proportions are about equal, and in those giving "inadequate" or "bad" results the proportion of those who drink is more than twice as great as of those who abstain.

The injurious effect of drinking much alcohol seems to be most marked in the body tissues of the young—hence its especial harm to children—and also in the most highly developed portions of the body, namely, the brain, and again in the most highly developed parts of the brain. Men differ widely, however, in the power of their brains to resist this injury, and alcohol seems sometimes largely to spare the brain of a man who constantly drinks, and to attack some lower organ of the body, especially if that organ be of a low resistive power. It thus affects each person at his most vulnerable points.

5. The Effects of Excessive Drinking of Alcohol.

(a) For all these different reasons it is clear that the drinking of alcoholic beverages in excess is likely to be injurious to all parts of the body. A person who frequently takes much alcohol becomes less fit and healthy, partly owing to its cumulative effect Neither his muscles nor his brain are capable of as much exertion as those of a person who is strictly temperate, and the quantity and quality of the work that is done invariably show more or less marked deterioration.

(b) The health of such a man tends to become worse as the effects of the alcohol on the different parts of the body become more pronounced He will probably suffer from digestive troubles and malnutrition or from some of the various illnesses to which habitual drinkers are particularly liable. This naturally tends to shorten his life, which is also threatened by accidents of all kinds to which his mental apathy, carelessness, and the loss of due control over his muscles expose him. It has been estimated that about 11,000 men and women at least, and probably many more, die every year in England and Wales from diseases caused by alcohol † Men and women who have much to do with the manufacture or sale of alcoholic beverages, and are therefore constantly liable to the temptation to drink them in excess, do not live so long as the average healthy man, and the mortality among them is even higher than in many of the so-called Dangerous Trades. (See Note 1) Further, the experience of Friendly Societies shows that abstainers are less liable to sickness, and on the whole live longer than non-abstainers ‡ (See Note 2.)

NOTES TO SECTION II.

N. B.—These Tables are inserted only for the use of the teacher, and are, of course, wholly unsuitable to present to the child.

Note 1.—The following Table, compiled from the Registrar-General's Decennial Report*, gives the average relative mortality, expressed in the form of a ratio, among occupied males (25-65 years of age) from alcoholism and diseases of the liver, in various trades, during two periods of 3 years each (1890 1892 and 1900-1902).

The figures are based on medical certificates as to the cause of death, and cannot, therefore, do more than give an approximate estimate of the relative mortality from all causes and from alcoholism. Diseases of the liver are included because they are so often closely connected with excessive indulgence in alcoholic beverages.†

Occupation.	All Causes.		Alcoholism and Diseases of the Liver.
	1890-1892.	1900-1902.	1890-1892.	1900-1902.
Occupied males	100	100	100	100
Coachman, cabman	121	115	140	137
Costermonger	173	192	160	222
Coalheaver	160	124	162	117
Fishmonger	101	102	164	173
Musician	127	123	166	195
Dock labourer	192	149	191	168
Chimney sweep	138	134	200	180
Butcher	116	115	219	217
Brewer	150	143	251	280
Inn-servant	181	191	413	424
Inn-keeper	172	180	717	724

It will be understood in reading this Table that the number 100 represents 100 deaths in a given population of occupied males in all trades and professions, (a) from all causes, and (b) from alcoholism and diseases of the liver, while the numbers below, in each column, give the relative mortality from all causes, and from alcoholism and diseases of the liver, among occupied males in certain special occupations. That is to say, the same population which gave, in the years stated, 100 deaths from alcoholism among occupied males of the above ages, gave (in 1900 to 1902) 137 among coachmen, 222 among costermongers, 280 among brewers, and 724 among inn-keepers. The figures given are, therefore, not death-rates, nor do they represent, of course, the actual number of deaths taking place in the years stated; but they give the relative magnitude of the mortality from all causes, and from alcoholism and diseases of the liver, among persons engaged in different occupations, demonstrating the relatively high mortality from alcoholism in certain trades as compared with what may be thought of as the standard mortality for occupied males of all trades and professions.

Note 2.—The following Table shows the Expectancy of Life (that is, the average future duration of life dated from the age in question)—(a) in the general population of England and Wales based on the experience of 1891-1900, (b) in persons insured in a large number of the principal Life Offices based on the experience of 1863-93, and (c) in various Friendly Societies and the United Kingdom Temperance and General Provident Institution. It will be seen how much more favourable is the Expectancy of Life in persons abstaining from the use of alcoholic beverages :—

Age.	General Expectancy of total Male Population in England and Wales based on Experience of 1891-1900. (Registrar-General.)	General Expectancy based on the experience of Persons insured in a large Number of the Principal Life Offices in Great Britain in Years 1863-93 (Institute of Actuaries.)	Oddfellows. (Non-abstainers largely.)	Foresters. (Non-abstainers largely.)	Rechabites (Abstainers.)	United Kingdom Temperance and General Provident Institution based on Experience of 1841-1901 (Abstainers.)
25	37·0	39·1	37·6	39·0	44·3	43·0
30	38·1	35·1	34·0	34·8	39·7	38·8
35	29·2	31·2	30·[illegible]	30·7	35·1	34·6
40	25·6	27·4	26·8	26·7	30·6	30·8
45	22·2	23·7	23·3	22·8	26·1	26·1
50	18·9	20·1	19·9	19·1	21·8	22·0
55	15·8	16·7	16·6	—	17·7	18·1
60	12·9	13·6	13·8	—	13·8	14·6

The first column of this Table gives the Expectancy of Life at the general population, whether insured or not. For instance, a person out of the general population at the age of 20 may expect to live 41 years more. The second column gives the Expectancy of Life as experienced by a large number of insured persons chiefly of a social status above the wage earning classes, and it will be seen that the Expectancy of Life is somewhat increased at each age. With these may be compared the experience of the two great Friendly Societies (Oddfellows and Foresters), of whom a high proportion are non abstainers, and the experience of the relatively small society of the Rechabites consisting only of abstainers. The last column gives the experience of abstaining persons chiefly of small means or who are insured for small sums. Comparing the last two columns with the first four columns it will be noted that the abstainers show a much higher expectancy of life than any of the other groups at each age and in all cases.

Further, it has been ascertained by the Registrar-General that of 61,215 men between 25 and 65 in the community, 1,[illegible] die in one year, but of 61,215 publicans, 1,642 die in one year, while of 61,215 Rechabites (abstainers), 560 die in one year.—(From the Inter-Departmental Committee on Physical Deterioration, Vol. iii, Appendix XVI, p. 64, Section II.)

The general policy among Insurance Offices of late years has been to give somewhat more favourable terms to total abstainers, as it has been recognised that such persons are on the whole likely to live longer than non-abstainers. On the other hand, the Prudential Life Company in 1874 added 15*s*. per cent. to the premium on the lives of "beer-shop keepers, licensed victuallers, and their servants." A few years later this was raised to 21*s*., and in 1895 to £1. It is the general practice of Accident Insurance Companies also to allow a reduction of premium to total abstainers, which varies from 5 to 10 per cent.

Notes on Temperance Syllabus.

SECTION III.

1. The drinking of Alcoholic Beverages not only may have bad effects upon the Body and Mind of the individual, but also may be followed by still more serious consequences, namely, Moral Injury to himself and great harm to others.

The last section dealt with the evil consequences to the individual which result from drinking considerable quantities of beverages containing alcohol, and especially about the effects of such drinking on his own health and capacity for work. There are, however, other consequences even more serious and far-reaching, such, for instance, as the evil effects on his own mind and character and the further results of his habits on the lives and social surroundings of those depending on him. It is on this account that civilised States have found it necessary to subject the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages to stringent regulations.

2. The importance of Self-control and Temperance in all things. Freedom is lost if Evil Habits are acquired.

A man who habitually gives way to the temptation to drink too much alcohol, even if he is never actually drunk, gradually loses his power of self-control. Each time the temptation returns it is more difficult to resist, and he yields to it, even though he knows he is doing wrong and fully understands the harm that his weakness causes. The longer the habit continues, the harder is it for him to give it up. Such a man is said to be intemperate.

It must be remembered that temperance and self control are not only needed to avoid contracting the habit of drinking too much, but that they are also constantly required in everyday life by children as well as by grown-up people. They are needed to keep us from giving way to bad temper, to keep us from greediness and eating too much, and to prevent us from being lazy, extravagant, selfish or unkind to others. A person who is intemperate in one way, is very likely to be intemperate in other ways too, and the loss of self-control in one respect often means moral weakness in other directions also. All children should try to practise self-control in little things, to fit them for the time when they will be grown up and will be obliged to practise it in more important things. It is much better to learn good habits when we are young than to wait until we are grown up, and then perhaps have to get rid of bad habits first. Every one knows how much easier it is to form a new habit than to break down an old one. If a man has not got the strength of will and character to overcome temptations he will soon lose his power to choose aright and will become a slave to his bad habits. A weak man will often drink more than is good for him, not because he wants to, but because he has not got the strength of will to say "No" when his friends ask him to take more; or perhaps he is afraid of being laughed at by them, and has not the moral courage to refuse to do what he knows will be bad for him.

In considering temperance we must, however, not forget that too much stress should never be laid on the value of any one quality or habit, and that the cultivation of this one special virtue may lead to the neglect of other qualities equally desirable and necessary. A man who does not drink may be greedy, selfish, untruthful, mean or cruel, just as a man who does drink, and even drinks a great deal more than is good for him, may be really kind-hearted and generous. When we speak, therefore, of the value of temperance we must always have in mind that one of the great aims of education is to build up and form a well balanced and high moral character and to produce upright men and women, and that the practice of temperance, though of the greatest use, is only one of the means to this end, and should never be separated from conduct as a whole.

Notes on Temperance Syllabus.

3. The Personal consequences of Excessive Drinking of Alcohol.

(a) Waste of Money which could be wisely spent or saved.—The Value of Thrift.

Large sums of money are often spent even by poor people on drink. In the year 1908, it was estimated that the total expenditure on intoxicating liquors in the United Kingdom was 161,000,000*l*. This gives an average expenditure per head of 3*l*. 12*s*. 3*d*. and per family of five persons of 18*l*. 1*s*. 3*d*. This includes, of course, many individuals and families who spend nothing on alcohol. Speaking broadly, it may be said that about two-thirds of the total sum (i.e., about 107,000,000*l*.) was spent by the working classes.* This means that on an average in every working man's family, not less than 5*s*. a week was spent on drink alone. Some families of course spent less, but others spent a good deal more. Let us suppose that the weekly income of a family of five is 25*s*. The average cost of food should be at least 15*s*., and the rent will be at least one-fifth of the income, that is 5*s*.† If now 5*s*. is spent on drink, there will be no margin for fuel, clothes, lighting, recreation, illness or thrift. There must, therefore, be a saving somewhere, and as the rent cannot be reduced, it probably means that less will be spent on food and other necessaries. So that quite apart from the direct effects of the drink on the individual, the family will be undernourished and insufficiently clothed. No one can be healthy or efficient who is deprived of the actual necessaries of life.

If 5*s*. a week could be saved and not spent on drink, it might be placed year by year as an Insurance Premium in the Post Office and after 30 years a man would have 422*l*., which could be invested in an annuity of 12*s*. 6*d*. a week.‡ Or he might save money to buy his own cottage and garden. He could provide, both for himself and his family, the holidays and healthy recreation, which every one requires to make life more cheerful and joyous and to relieve the irksomeness of daily toil. He could afford to place his children well in the world, to make his home pretty, comfortable and attractive, and to guard against temporary lack of employment or sickness. Such a man would be able to meet easily and with sufficient resource most of the misfortunes to which everyone is liable.

(b) Loss of Self respect.

The man who frequently takes too much beer or spirits soon begins to show signs of degeneration. He becomes careless about his personal appearance, loses his self-respect, and ceases to take a proper pride in being clean, smart, neat, truthful, and industrious.

(c) Unfitness for Work—loss of Employment—Pauperism.

A man who drinks to excess becomes idle and useless and learns to loaf about the streets instead of working. The habit thus tends to make any hard work distasteful, and no one wishes to employ such a man for his work, when he does any, is usually bad. Instead of being a respected man with a comfortable home and regular wages, he generally has to live as best he can, on any odd jobs that come his way. A man who does not drink too much will do better work, other things being equal, than one who does and is, therefore, able to obtain and keep regular employment and to get better wages; moreover, such a man can be depended on while the drunkard cannot, and he will, therefore, be trusted by his employer and may have many more opportunities of getting on and improving his position than will come to the unsteady man.

Sobriety is thus an aid to efficient and productive labour, and as the rate of pay is influenced by the quality and value of the work done, sobriety will help to produce and maintain good wages. Intemperance, on the other hand, tends to have the opposite effect, and is indeed one of the chief causes of pauperism.

Notes on Temperance Syllabus.

(d) Ill-health, Disease, Insanity.

The heavy drinker is seldom really well in health, partly because he often has not much money to spend and what he has he prefers to spend in drink rather than in nourishing food, partly, too, because of the illnesses caused by the alcohol which he drinks. Because he is not well he will often feel depressed and miserable, and may then take beer because he is unhappy and because his home is uncomfortable. Though the beer may make him forget his troubles for a little while, this effect soon passes off, leaving him probably more miserable than he was before. Such people comparatively often get disease of the brain and become insane and have to be sent into lunatic asylums.

The general unfitness for work, together with ill-health, often leads to neglect of duty, which may have serious consequences to others. For instance, if a signalman drinks too much and in consequence forgets to alter the signals or goes to sleep, there may be a train accident. If a sailor steers his ship in the wrong direction after drinking, there may be a wreck. Motor-car accidents may also be caused by drivers taking too much alcohol. The moral degradation which always follows loss of self-respect often leads a man into temptations of another kind; his perceptions of right and wrong are dulled, and if he is unable to earn money he may steal things or rob people to procure it, possibly the value of the articles or the sums of money may be quite small at first, but they generally tend to get larger, and so he gradually comes to lead a criminal life. A man will often take alcohol to give himself the "courage" for a crime that he would probably never commit in his sober hours. Sometimes he may commit a crime and afterwards make the excuse that he did not realise what he was doing because he was drunk at the time. This, however, is not regarded as a reasonable excuse, and a man is held responsible for his actions even though he has had too much to drink.

(f) The ruin of Homes, Unhappiness and Suffering.

The home of a drunkard is always wretched and unhappy. Such a man spends on beer most of the money which should buy food and clothes for his wife and children; often there is little or no money to spend, because he has lost his work, and cannot or will not get more. The home becomes more and more comfortless, because if there is not enough money for food, there will be none for the small luxuries and comforts which so greatly add to the pleasantness of life. Instead of these we find discomfort, and often dirt. The suffering unfortunately falls to a great extent on those who do not merit it, the wife and children, and they not only have to endure a cheerless wretched life, but may also have the actual cruelty of a drunken husband or father added to their other misfortunes.

Though intense misery and suffering often result when the father takes to drink, even more unhappiness may follow when it is the mother who drinks. The consequent neglect of the children is then always greater, it is the little ones and the babies who suffer most. Many a respectable man has taken to drink himself because his wife has disgraced him and made his home wretched and miserable. On the other hand, it must be remembered that a good and careful wife can often prevent her husband taking too much to drink. If his home is clean and comfortable and tidy, and if his food is well-cooked and appetising, he will have far less temptation to seek cheerfulness in the public house. The children of drunken parents start life with many disadvantages. With their physical health and energy below the average, they lack the care, nourishment and protection which all children require if they are to grow up well and strong; they are only too well accustomed to squalor, poverty and a low standard of comfort, and, therefore, often have no desire or ambition to achieve better things, and being thus badly equipped from the outset both in mind and body, their chances of leading happy and useful lives are greatly lessened.*

* It may here be added that subject to certain exceptions persons are forbidden by law (Children Act, 1908, Ss. 119-120) to give to any child under the age of 5 any intoxicating liquor, and the admission of children under 14 to the bars of public houses is forbidden.

Notes on Temperance Syllabus.

"The use of these things" (beer, wine, or spirits) says Sir Michael Foster, "has brought no end of misery into the world. If we could take away from the world all the ill-health, all the poverty, all the wretchedness, all the cruelty, all the crime which has been brought about by drinking too much wine, beer, or spirits and the like, how much happier, wealthier and brighter the world would be."*

4. Social Evils which result from Alcoholic Excess.

The evils of drinking too much are not limited to the man himself and his family, but he may also influence others to follow his bad example, and the harm done by one man may thus be widespread "One degraded or ill-conducted worker "will demoralise a whole family; one disorderly family inexplicably lowers the "conduct of a whole street; the low caste life of a single street spread its evil influ-"ence over the entire quarters; and the slum quarter . . . subtly deteriorates "the standard of health, morality and public spirit of the whole city." †

We must, therefore, consider the effects of intemperate habits on the nation as well as on the individual. Money spent by the nation on drink must be reckoned as money which is largely, if not entirely, wasted, because there is no proper return for it. The expenditure of 160,000,000*l*, or more, every year, is a drain on the resources of the nation and the direct cause of not a little national poverty. It must be remembered how vastly large is this sum, which, it has been estimated, is equal to all the rents of all the houses, farms, shops, hotels, etc., in the United Kingdom, so that the amount spent on drink alone would be enough to enable everybody to live rent free ‡ To put it another way, it is equal to the cost of all the butchers' meat, bacon, ham, poultry, and game eaten every year in the United Kingdom; it is also equal to the cost of all the bread, flour, milk, butter, cheese, and eggs § It is about equal to the national revenue raised by all the rates and taxes §

Paupers, criminals and lunatics have to be maintained and paid for by the public, and very large sums of money are spent annually in this way. If less alcohol were drunk, there would be less poverty less crime and less insanity, and a good deal of this money might be set free to reduce the taxes, or to make pleasanter and more comfortable the lives of those for whom the State is not compelled to provide.

Then again, the prosperity of any nation depends on its workers, and if a large number of these workers damage their capacity for work by excess in alcoholic drinks, that nation sooner or later will degenerate and fall behind other nations because it cannot successfully compete with more sober and temperate races. Competition in the commercial world is becoming keener and more severe, and it is only by cultivating to the utmost our skill, knowledge, energy and ability that we can hope even to retain our present position among other nations. The country has to suffer not only the loss of the productive labour of those who are totally incapacitated through drink, there is also the loss in efficiency of those who are only partially incapacitated, there is the loss to employers and work people generally from accidents of all kinds, from waste of material and idleness caused directly or indirectly by drinking and there is also the loss due to the shortening of the productive period of men's lives by the earlier death which is so often consequent upon drinking habits.

It is the duty of every good citizen to help and not to hinder his follow-men by his own example and influence, and to endeavour to do something, however little, to improve the conditions under which people live.

Uncurrent Government silver coin received for recoinage, old subsidiary coins received from the Straits Government, bar silver tendered by the Exchange banks, fine silver purchased by the Secretary of State and a small proportion of Chaubisania coins received from the Kishangarh Durbar were taken into direct alligation.

Revenue and Expenditure.

12. The revenue and expenditure (including interest on Capital outlay and other pro formâ charges) of the two mints in 1913-14 compare as follows with the corresponding figures of the previous year:—

Year.	REVENUE.			EXPENDITURE.
	Calcutta.	Bombay.	Total.	Calcutta.	Bombay.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1912-13	16,15,389	26,78,575	42,93,964	16,17,437	12,43,720	28,61,157

13. The large decrease of revenue in the case of Bombay is chiefly due to smaller receipts on account of seigniorage on new rupee and dollar coinage.

14. The expenditure on salaries and establishments of the two mints compares as follows with that incurred during 1912-13:—

	CALCUTTA MINT.			BOMBAY MINT.			BOTH MINTS.

Miscellaneous Work.

15. The receipts on account of the miscellaneous work done in the two mints and the cost, were as follows:—

Year.	CALCUTTA MINT.			BOMBAY MINT.			BOTH MINTS.
	Cost of work done.	Amount realised.	Profit.	Cost of work done.	Amount realised.	Profit.	Cost of work done.	Amount realised.	Profit.

16. The miscellaneous work consisted of the striking of medals for the Army Department, for Colleges and for other public and private institutions, the manufacture and adjustment of scales and weights, and some miscellaneous work undertaken for Government departments and the public.

Counterfeit Coins.

17. Treasuries.—The number of counterfeit silver coins of the several denominations cut at the Indian Treasuries during 1913-14 compare as follows with the figures for the previous year:—

	Rs.	½ Rs.	¼ Rs.	⅛ Rs.	Total.
1912-13	. 126,312	4,929	5,474	4,290	141,005
1913-14	. 119,664	5,344	6,931	4,850	136,789

18. The following statement gives the provincial distribution of the figures for the year 1913-14:—

Provinces.	Rs.	½Rs.	¼Rs.	⅛Rs.	Total.

TOTAL .	119,664	5,344	6,931	4,850	136,789

Of the total number of 119,664 counterfeit rupees, 51,294 were detected in Railway Cash offices, the most important figures being 8,370 from the North Western Railway, 6,589 from the East Indian Railway, 5,809 from the Rajputana-Malwa Railway and 4,737 from the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway.

19. Mints.—Counterfeit silver coins numbering 11,971 pieces were received at the two mints during the year against 14,365 pieces in the previous year. The following statement compares the details for the two years:—

	Received in remittances of uncurrent coin from Treasuries.		Received from Treasury and other officers under standing orders.		Received at the Mints for examination.

TOTAL .	5,846	6,118	3,251	5,072	2,874	3,175

20. There was thus a decline in the number of counterfeit coins brought to light during the year under report as compared with the figures for 1912-13. Of the counterfeits received at the Bombay Mint for examination, 582 coins from the Bombay, Baroda and Central India, Rajputana-Malwa and Jodhpur-Bikaner Railways and 12 coins from other sources are reported to have been exceptionally well executed.

Offences against coinage.

21. The number of cases of offences against coinage brought to trial during the calendar year 1913 was less by 40 than in the previous year. The following table, which gives the comparative figures for the two years in detail by Provinces and Administrations shows that there was a decline in the number of cases in Madras, Bengal, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, the Punjab, Burma and Assam, and an increase in the Central India Agency and in Central Provinces and Berar :—

—	NUMBER OF CASES BROUGHT TO TRIAL.		NUMBER OF PERSONS TRIED.		NUMBER OF PERSONS CONVICTED.

II.—WORKING OF THE ASSAY OFFICES.

Number of Assays.

22. The number of gold and silver assays made compares as follows with the figures for the previous year :—

Year	Calcutta Assay Office		Bombay Assay Office
	Gold	Silver	Gold	Silver
1912-13	423	31,313	858	38,926
1913-14	358	23,211	832	20,107

23. In March 1913, a change was introduced in the Calcutta Assay Office, in the system of gold assaying, this being brought into conformity with that used in the Royal Mint, London, and elsewhere.

Meltings for standard silver coinage.

24. The average fineness per mille of silver meltings for coinage during the year was as follows :—

	Calcutta.	Bombay.
Rupees	916·079	915 982
Half-rupees	915·992	916·042
Quarter-rupees	915·751	915·686
One-eighth-rupees	915 668	915·672
British Dollars	...	899·113

Gold in Silver Coins.

25. The average proportion of gold found by monthly parting assays in the silver pyx coins in the two mints is shown below :—

	Calcutta.	Bombay.
Rupees	·143 per mille	·539 per mille
Half-rupees	·517 ,,	·228 ,,
Quarter-rupees	·336 ,,	·326 ,,
One-eighth-rupees . . .	331 ,,	·155 ,,
British Dollars	..	·254 ,,

26. The total silver coinage of the Calcutta Mint during the year is computed to contain 4,122 Troy ounces of gold of the value of about £17,477 and of the Bombay Mint, 2,013 Troy ounces of the value of £8,535.

Pyx trials of silver coins.

27. The following statement gives a summary of the results of the pyx trials in the two mints :—

28. In pyx trials of rupees one coin was found in Calcutta to be above the legal remedy for weight. In Bombay in one trial only were single coins found to be outside remedy and the fresh pyx called for in that case disclosed no coin beyond legal remedy.

29. In October 1913 an alteration was made in the Calcutta Assay Office in the number of single coins taken for Assay in pyx trials and also in the number melted up, in order to bring the Calcutta system into line with that of the Bombay Assay Office.

30. The Gay Lussac volumetric system of silver assay as employed in the Royal Mint has been introduced in Calcutta as a subsidiary method to the gravimetric system ordinarily employed there. Though the latter has proved to be the most convenient and satisfactory for general use, the volumetric system has been found to be useful where prompt and confirmatory assays are required.

H. F. HOWARD,
Controller of Currency.

21st July 1914.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE CALCUTTA MINT.

No. 1391, dated Calcutta, 1st June 1914.

TOTAL .	879

8. There was no remittance of gold from Mint balances to England during the year under review.

SILVER.

9. Receipts.—The receipts of silver into the Mint consisted of silver purchased by the Secretary of State for India for rupee coinage and uncurrent silver coins from Treasuries for recoinage into new coin.

10. The value of the receipts in the case of the former amounted to standard tolas 4,52,35,845 for which a purchase price of R2,99,48,490 was adjusted in the Mint Accounts. The entire receipts consisted of bar silver.

11. In the case of the latter, the nominal value of the receipts amounted to R2,08,89,770 details of which are shown in the following table :—

Classification.			In thousands of Rupees.
Government Rupees and half rupees of 1835			5,38·3
Do.	do.	1840 1st issue	12,49·0
Do.	do.	do. 2nd issue	41,10·8

George V. 1911			1,61·4
Murshidabad, Furrakhabad, Benares & Patna Coins			31,32·8
		Total	2,08,89·7

12. The Murshidabad rupees were received under orders of Government from the Nepal Durbar at Re. 1 per tola.

13. Coinage.—The silver coinage executed for the Government of India amounted to 8,91,31,763 pieces valued at R6,63,36,058 as compared with 10,48,58,423 pieces valued at R8,37,58,651 in the previous year. In addition to this 26,00,000 pieces valued at R4,00,000 were coined for the Ceylon Government, making an aggregate silver coinage of 9,17,31,763 pieces valued at R6,67,36,058.

14. Percentage of good coins—The percentages of good coins obtained from the weight of metal operated on are furnished below :—

Rupees	886·57	60·2
Half Rupees	20·48	66·4
Quarter Rupees	38·46	67·0
Eighth Rupees	22·25	64·5
Fifty cents	1·59	63·6
Twenty-five cents	1·68	59·5
Ten cents	3·67	54·4

15. Pyx Trials.—The weight and fineness of the coins were as usual maintained at the proper standards as will be seen from the annexed report of the Assay Master on the year's work.

16. Silver Operative Losses.—I append the usual balance statement showing the nett operative loss sustained during the year on the coinage operations.

Opening balances .	28,26,052	Issues		6,68,65,822
Receipts . . .	6,63,56,197	Closing balances		22,59,366
		Operative losses	B. I. G. coins	56,813
			Ceylon Cents.	248
Total .	6,91,82,249	Total .		6,91,82,249

17. This gives a rate of 92·0 per lakh on a coinage of 665·39 lakhs of good coins coined in the case of British India Coinage and 61·9 per lakh on a coinage of 4 lakhs of good coins coined in the case of Cents Coinage.

18. A recovery of 1,095 tolas of standard silver was made in the Melting Department in the current financial year towards the work done during the year under review. This recovery reduced the above rate of loss to 90·4 per lakh. In addition to this, surplus silver amounting to standard tolas 1,870 was recovered during the year and credited to Government.

19. R5,579 worth of silver recovered and brought to account in the year under review represents the actual value of the silver which was estimated at 5,000, standard tolas, vide sub-para. 14 of the previous report. The above amount is included in the figure R7,449 " other items " silver in Statement No. 1 attached to this report

Bronze and Copper.

20. The total Bronze Coinage executed for the Government of India in the year under report amounted to 14,96,82,090 pieces as compared with 14,65,29,134 pieces valued at R19,18,462 in the previous year resulting in an excess of 31,52,956 pieces valued at R1,66,977. In addition to this 30,00,000 of pieces of copper coins valued at R30,000 were coined for the Ceylon Government.

21. It was necessary to replenish the stock of new copper owing to the heavy coinage executed. The Mint therefore purchased maunds 16,515·25 valued at R6,44,264.

22. Purchases of tin were also necessary, the total quantity purchased amounted to maunds 818 valued at R86,536.

23. Operative Losses.—The Bronze operative losses written off the accounts amounted to maunds 136 as detailed below:—

Melting loss mds. 121 at ·425 per 100 mds. melted.
Coining loss „ 15 „ ·060 „ 100 „ of new coins coined.

24. The operative loss on the copper coinage amounted to mds. 5 and was met by the charges for coinage recovered from the Ceylon Government.

Miscellaneous.

25. The frontispiece to this report illustrates the various medals designed and struck during the year under review.

26. Special reference may be made to the two medals No. 1 for His Excellency the Viceroy of India and No. 2 for His Excellency the Governor of Bengal. The work in connection with both these medals was done entirely in the Mint. The reverse design for the latter was prepared by the Head Engraver of this Mint.

27. The miscellaneous work done during the year was confined to the striking of medals, etc., for the Army Department, Colleges, and other private institutions and kept the Die, Engraving, and workshop Departments fully engaged.

28. In December 1913, the President of the Weights and Measures Committee referred to this Mint for an opinion as to the practical feasibility of altering the weight of the present rupee from 180 grains to 175 grains troy without diminishing the amount of fine silver contained in the present coin. A series of experiments with a view to produce a silver-copper alloy in the proportion of 165 silver and 10 copper were carried out with the result that the metal was not (1) sufficiently hard to warrant its use for coinage, (2) metallurgically adaptable to ease in minting, (3) conducive to facility in Chemical analysis. Additions of (a) aluminium and (b) nickel were experimented with. In the case of (a) a small proportion produced an alloy that could be minted but was softer than the present standard alloy of 11-12ths fine, while in the case of (b) the very small proportion of nickel that the silver took up also produced a softer metal. As a final test the Committee requested that alloy in the proportion of 165 silver, 5 copper and 5 zinc, might be tried. The metal of this mixture showed, however, clear indications during the minting operations of softness. Tests for hardness were also conducted independently of this Mint by means of a Brunnell's Scleroscope by the courtesy and kind assistance of the Superintendent of Local Manufactures and Government Test House, Alipore.

Plant and Machinery.

29. There were no additions or alterations of any importance to plant and machinery made during the year under review. The Electric Installation worked successfully throughout the year.

30. The following figures show the cost of working the Power Station during the financial year under report :—

	R
B. T. Units generated	7,44,004
Fuel, Establishment and Stores	38,000
Depreciation at 5 per cent. on plant and 3 per cent. on buildings, and provision for pensions	27,290
TOTAL	65,290
The cost per unit works out to be—	Annas.
Fuel, Establishment and Stores	·8172
Depreciation and interest	·5870
Total cost per unit	1·4042

The increased cost per unit as compared with the previous year's results is chiefly attributable to the fact that the contract price for Rubble Coal for the year under review was in excess of the price paid in 1912-13 by about 38 per cent.

The annual recoveries in payment for power and light used in the Mint residential quarters was R1,847.

REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

Revenue.

31. Charges levied.—The seigniorage on silver purchased for coinage amounted to R9,04,717. The revenue under this head of account was also augmented by R1,303 being the value of assay fees realised through the Assay Office. The amount of R377 credited to this account represented premelting fees realised from Government Departments.

32. Gain on Coinage Operations.—The assay benefit amounting to R21,230 represented the difference between the fineness of the silver as invoiced and the finenesses at which it was found necessary to operate the silver. The increased gain by overstandard value of uncurrent silver coins received for recoinage is attributable entirely to the receipt of the Murshidabad coins, etc., received for recoinage from the Nepal Durbar during the year. The total revenue under this head of account (vide Statement No. 1 appended to this report) amounted to R1,32,060.

33. Cash and Transfer Receipts.—The receipts amounted to R68,872 as against R79,975 for the year 1912-13. The amount of R12,316 "Miscellaneous" under Cash Receipts includes R11,989 paid by the Corporation of Calcutta as rebate of rents, rates and taxes referred to in paragraph 42 of the previous report.

Expenditure.

34. Loss on Coinage.—This amounted to R4,05,176 of which R57,061 representing operative losses are referred to in detail in paragraph 16 of this report. The increased loss on the withdrawal of old silver coins as compared with the previous year is due to the increased receipts, vide paragraph 11.

35. Copper used as alloy.—The value of copper used as alloy amounted to R48,316 and is more than that of the previous year by R2,627.

36. Salaries and Establishment.—The total debit at this head of account amounted to R3,71,597 and is less than the amount expended in 1912-13 by R12,071. The reduction in expenditure occurs both against fixed as well as temporary establishment. The compensation in lieu of private assay fees amounting to R2,040 appears in this report for the first time.

37. Local and English Stores.—The expenditure under these heads amounted to R2,02,965 as compared with R2,02,865 in the preceding year.

38. Contingent and Transfer charges.—These amounted to R83,391 and were in excess of last year's expenditure by R5,496.

39. Pro formâ Receipts and Charges.—The receipts amounted to R4,89,580 and represented a credit at R3-4-4 per thousand pieces of all denominations of new Bronze coins coined during the year. On the charge side the interest at 3½% on balances and value of capital account amounted to R3,30,210 as compared with R3,74,663 in the year 1912-13.

40. Balances sunk in the Mint.—The average silver bullion balance exclusive of silver on Currency Account amounted to R22,79,136. The minimum daily balance was R7,44,315 which occurred on 28th April 1913 and the maximum was R39,53,268 on 29th January 1914.

41. Capital Account.—The value at debit of this account at the close of the year was R65,05,117 as compared with R66,73,519 in the previous year.

COUNTERFEIT COINS.

42. The Assay Master reports as follows:—The total number of coins received for examination during the year was 34, of which 17 (all base castings) were from the District Magistrate, Jullundur, and 17 from the Mint.

43. Of the latter, one was genuine, one struck counterfeit, ten were counterfeit castings and five on which no opinion was expressed. The amount of silver present in the counterfeits ranged from 21·6 to 934·1 per mille.

44. The Mint, during the course of examination of uncurrent silver coins received from Treasuries, eliminated counterfeit R2,992, half Rupees 102, quarter Rupees 332, and one-eighth Rupees 430. These are detailed in Statement IV attached to this report.

OFFENCES AGAINST COINAGE.

45. The usual statement of offences against coinage appended to this report shows that the number of cases brought to trial was less than the previous year by 40.

46. It will be noticed that there is a considerable decline in the number of convictions relative to the number of cases brought to trial in the following provinces:—

Bengal, Punjab, Burma, and Rajputana Agency as compared with the previous year.

47. The ratio of the number of persons convicted to the number of persons brought to trial was 59·04 as compared with 57·1 on the figures of the previous year.

3. Gold assays.—The total number of gold assays from all sources during the year amounted to 228, of which 42 were done for the Mint. From March 1913, I instituted a change in the system of gold assaying in the Assay Office to bring it into conformity with the system used in the Royal Mint, London, and elsewhere. Whereas formerly the basis of assays of gold was 12 grains, it is now ·5 gramme and the method of carrying out the assay is in accordance with the instructions laid down by Dr. Ross, Assayer of the Royal Mint.

The coinage of the year was computed to contain 4,122 troy ounces of gold in value about £17,477.

7. From October 1913 I made, with the concurrence of the Mint Master, an alteration in the number of single coins taken for assay in pyx trials and the number melted up. This was done to bring our system into conformity with that of the Bombay Assay Office and also to reduce a certain amount unnecessary work. Whereas formerly 10 coins were taken from each lakh of rupees and from each day's coinage of halves, quarters and eighths for single assay, 5 only are now taken as shown in the table below :—

Table showing coins taken for assay of pyx trials.

Denomination of coins.	Number assayed singly.	Number melted.	REMARKS.
Rupees	5 from each lakh	25	Remainders of single coins of each lot of 5 lakhs melted and assayed.
Halves	5 from each day's coinage	50	Remainders of single coins melted up once in each month and assayed.
Quarters	5 from each day's coinage	100
Eighths	10 coins cut up and 5 assays made.	200

The results obtained under this method have been quite satisfactory.

8. The Gay-Lussac volumetric system of silver assay as employed in the Royal Mint, London, has been taken into regular use as a subsidiary to our ordinary gravimetric system and we have now a well arranged room for this purpose. Although I am still of opinion that the Indian method is most convenient and satisfactory for general use, the volumetric system has proved of great utility where confirmatory assays are required and when results are wanted in a short space of time.

9. During the last year an automatic shaker for bottles has been set up and works very efficiently. It produces more regular results than the old hand-shaking process and is a considerable saving in time and labour. Two new fume chambers have been installed, which are of great service in mitigating the nuisance of poisonous acid and other fumes in our laboratory.

12. Verification of Weight pieces.—The following verification was made during the year:—

Mint Working Standard Avoirdupois set.

13. The post of Assay Master was held by Lieutenant-Colonel F. Cunynghame Hughes, I.A., throughout the year.

The post of Deputy Assay Master was held by Capt. H. J. Wallis, I.A., from 12th November 1913 to 19th February 1914 and for the remaining portion of the year under report by Lieutenant-Colonel F. C. Hughes in addition to his own duties of Assay Master.

APPENDIX.

Experimental work as detailed below was carried out in the Assay Office laboratory during the last twelve months.

The first experiments were made with a view to determining accurately the composition particularly the average silver and gold contents of rupees of different issues.

This work was carried out chiefly to assist the Mint Master in constructing alligation tables for standard meltings when different issues of uncurrent coins are used, the values previously taken not always proving satisfactory.

They are also of interest in indicating the varying amounts of gold and other constituents found in the different issues of rupees.

To estimate the silver contents 100 coins were taken in each case, laminated into thin straps, cut up into small pieces and thoroughly mixed. Twenty assays were made gravimetrically and 12 volumetrically. Half the original weight of the cut up pieces was melted and assayed gravimetrically and volumetrically, six assays being taken in each case. From the melted portions two samples from each were taken for the estimation of gold. Copper and lead were estimated from suitable quantities of the metal remaining over from these assays, both by the electrolytic method.

„ Edward VII and George V. .	916·2	0·14	81·8	1·4	0·46

The second lot experiments taken up were for the purpose of testing the effects of annealing and pickling on the fineness of rupee blanks and afterwards the amount of refining these blanks undergo on melting. Van Reimsdijk, Assayer of the Netherlands Mint, has clearly proved by numerous and exhaustive experiments made as far back as 1868 that coinage blanks take up oxygen in the form of copper oxide on annealing which is not all eliminated by the pickling process. This accounts for a fact well known and established that single coins will assay generally ·2 to ·3 per mille lower than the same coins melted up. In some cases the difference between the average fineness of a batch of single coins and melted ones from the same lakhs will amount to 1 per mille. On melting under charcoal the oxygen is again liberated by reduction of copper oxide. For the purpose of this experiment 100 unannealed rupee blanks were obtained from the Mint. These were assayed in the usual manner in batches of 10 by having their centres punched out. They were then returned to the Mint where they went through the usual process of annealing and pickling. They were then assayed again and the remainders of the blanks were melted up and further assays made. The results are given in the table below :—

Description.	Batches of ten blanks.										Mean of whole.
	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Unannealed blanks .	916·36	916·22	916·24	916·46	916·34	916·06	916·15	916·27	916·15	915·91	916·216
Annealed blanks .	916·38	916·49	916·51	916·60	916·53	916·32	916·35	916·40	916·50	916·19	916·427

The above results show that whereas the process of annealing and pickling results in a refinage of ·21 per mille, melting under charcoal produces a further refinage of about ·27 per mille, undoubtedly due to reduction of copper oxide.

Silver branch of the Gold standard Reserve.—The balance of the Gold Standard Reserve stood at Rs 4,50,00,000 at the beginning of the year and Rs. 1,35,00,000 at its close.

6. Meltings.—Uncurrent Government silver coin remitted by Treasuries as well as old subsidiary coins from the Straits Government, bar silver tendered by the Exchange Banks and fine silver received from the Secretary of State and purchased from the local Banks, and a small proportion of Chaubisania coins from the Kishangarh Durbar were taken into direct alligation.

7. Percentages of good Coin.—The percentages of good coin calculated on the amounts laminated were as detailed below :—

Description of coins.	Weight of ingots laminated.	Percentage of good coin.
	Tolas.
Government Rupees	8,96,04,152	68·37

8. Silver Operative Losses.—The silver operative losses for the year 1913-14, as detailed below, amounted to Rs. 65,709-13-0; all silver being valued at the uniform rate of rupee one per standard tola :—

	Rs.	A.	P.		Rs.	A.	P.
Opening balance	7,89,001	4	10	Issues	6,87,96,696	11	8
Receipts	6,95,61,252	14	0	Closing Balance	14,90,339	10	2
Refined silver of 1912-13 recovered in 1913-14	10,294	0	0	Refined silver of 1913-14 recovered in 1914-15	7,802	0	0
				Operative loss for the year :—
				B. I. G. Coin	62,551	13	0

This gives a rate of loss of Rs. 95·30 per lakh of tolas coined, or if distributed according to the various coinages, Rs. 95·88 per lakh on British India Government coin, Rs. 85·00 per lakh on Dollars and Rs. 89·60 per lakh on Cents.

3,71,56,031 tolas and 87,47,334 tolas of bar silver were put into alligation at ·7 and ·8, respectively, higher than the invoiced fineness. Had all the bar silver been put into alligation at half a millieme or ·5 higher than the invoiced fineness as is customary, the rate of loss for British India Government coins would have been reduced to Rs. 79·07 per lakh and the combined loss to Rs. 79·39 per lakh, which latter figures are more correct for comparison.

NICKEL.

9. The number of nickel one-anna pieces coined during the year was 46,320,000 of the value of Rs. 28,95,000 being more by Rs. 4,09,000 than that of the previous year.

The total operative loss written off the books during the year amounted to 35½ maunds, giving a percentage of ·454 per 100 maunds of metal rolled, which is higher than last year as no recoveries were made during the early portion of the year.

BRONZE.

10. No bronze coinage was carried out during the year.

11. Miscellaneous Work :—

(a) This consisted of the recurring supply of dies, medals, etc., to various public institutions, the manufacture and adjustment of scales and weights, and miscellaneous supplies and repairs undertaken for Government Departments and the public, the profit made being Rs. 502. After defraying postage and other charges, the profit on the sale of these coins amounted to Rs. 106.

(i) 582 coins (castings) received from the Bombay, Baroda and Central India, Rajputana-Malwa and Jodhpur-Bikaner Railways and 12 coins (10 castings and 2 struck) from other sources were retained as exceptionally well executed specimens.

(ii) 87 coins (81 castings and 6 struck) were sufficiently good to deceive the public as regard colour and finish.

(iii) The remaining 2,552 (2,523 castings and 29 struck) were in the majority of cases inferior specimens of low touch silver or base metal and noticeably false.

(The second and third classes above include coins which were returned to the Railways).

(b) 1,990 counterfeit coins (1,491 rupees, 61 half-rupees, 177 quarters and 261 one-eighths) were discovered in remittances of uncurrent coins to the Mint as against 1,930 in the previous year.

(d) 357 one-anna pieces received during the year were found to be palpable cast counterfeits of lead and tin or other similar alloys.

(e) 2 palpable cast counterfeit sovereigns were received during the year in a counterfeit coining case from the Treasury Officer, Poona.

GENERAL.

21. During the year a post of Artist Engraver and Die Sinker to the Mint was sanctioned by the Secretary of State and Mr. G. Lemonnier joined the appointment on the 14th November 1913. Previously, owing to the rough and unfinished nature of the engraving work which could be performed in the Bombay Mint, it was necessary for the Mint to depend entirely on London or Calcutta for designs and also for matrices and punches.

22. The twelve new automaton weighing machines expected from Europe failed to arrive but it is hoped that they will be received early next year.

23. One of the batteries of the two annealing furnaces mentioned in last year's report was duly converted into a battery of three furnaces with satisfactory results and the work of converting the second battery is in hand. The copper barrels containing the annealed blanks are now revolved both in the pickling solution and clean water trough by engine power, superseding the old system of manual labour.

24. Complaints were received during the year from some of the residents in the new buildings recently erected near the Mint boundaries in respect of the fumes emanating from some of the cupellation furnaces in use in the Mint, and arrangements are being made to conduct all such fumes into one of the taller chimney shafts attached to the Melting Department.

25. Complaints were also received from the Health Officer of the Bombay Municipality that mosquitoes were breeding in the large Mint tank which supplies all the water necessary for the Mint engines. The tank was accordingly cleared of all vegetation as far as possible and re-stocked with a special variety of fish recommended by the Bombay Natural History Society. It was also explained to the Health Officer that the tank would be filled in as soon as the existing Mint engines were replaced by electric power and that the whole question of such replacement was under the consideration of the Government of India.

HISTORICIAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit o- Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, includf ing lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured persian and sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

It will be published early in September next by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and will be procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There will be two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and a very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250 which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited and a considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date.

To

THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE EARL OF CREWE, K.G.,
His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

Calcutta, the 17th November 1910.

MY LORD,

Lord George Hamilton, in his despatch no. 45, dated the 4th May 1899, referred to the great increase in the Indian Medical Service which had taken place between the years 1884 and 1899 and asked whether means could not be found to reduce the establishment or at any rate to restrict its increase. Later, in his despatch no. 5, dated the 18th January 1900, written in reply to the despatch from Lord Curzon's Government, no. 185, dated the 26th October 1899, he remarked that the question of reducing the establishment of the Indian Medical Service or of restricting its growth was one which deserved attention, both on the ground of economy and also with reference to the recruitment question; and that the two questions were closely connected, because any failure in the supply of candidates might call for remedies involving considerable permanent increase of expenditure. He observed that it was clear that if the increase of the number of medical officers in the pay of Government, or the specialisation of their functions, were to keep pace with the growth of an immense population, the extension of the service might proceed indefinitely. He assumed that he would have the concurrence of the Government of India in thinking that an attempt to organise medical relief or research on a scale which would be much larger than that which was required for administrative duties was neither expedient nor practicable, and added that it was of material importance that no impediments should be placed in the way of the gradual spread through the interior of India of an independent medical profession, which alone could adequately supply the needs of the people.

2. Lord George Hamilton reverted to the question in his despatches no. 29, dated the 15th March 1900, and no. 157, dated the 13th December 1900, in connection with a scheme for improving the administration of asylums in India by the appointment of officers of the Indian Medical Service as whole-time superintendents. In the former he raised the question whether, if persons possessing special knowledge and experience of mental diseases were required, it would not be better to obtain, at the beginning, one or more experts from England for the purpose. In the latter he said that the point for discussion was whether Government were bound to provide from the Indian Medical Service for the growing needs, beyond the ordinary administrative duties, of the country in respect of medical relief, and suggested that the time might have come for determining whether the Indian Medical Service should continue to be treated as the sole source of supply for demands that were sure to multiply indefinitely and that were provided for in other countries by resort to an open profession. He then went on to urge the advisability of giving some of the appointments which were reserved for the Indian Medical Service to men selected from the medical profession generally. He observed that such men existed at present in India in limited numbers only, but that that was partly the result of their practical exclusion from all official recognition in connection with public offices. He added that it would be of great benefit to India generally if medical men were to establish themselves in private practice in the country in the same way as they did in other parts of the Empire, without increasing the medical service connected with the army. In his despatch no. 43, dated the 26th April 1901, he repeated several of these arguments, and emphasised the fact that the Indian Medical Service was primarily a military service, and that its first and only indispensable duty was the medical charge of the Indian Army. Lord Curzon's Government, in paragraph 14 of their despatch no. 86, dated the 13th June 1901, expressed their full concurrence in Lord George Hamilton's opinion that it was most undesirable to attempt to provide from the Indian Medical Service for the growing needs, beyond the ordinary administrative duties, of the country in respect of medical relief. They observed that the growth of an independent medical profession in India was a development which they would welcome, and that they would be ill-disposed to recommend any measures which might retard it. On the other hand, they expressed the opinion that the development of such a profession must necessarily be a slow and gradual progress.

3. Throughout the whole of this correspondence the point on which most stress was laid was the impossibility of providing by extensions of the Indian Medical Service for the growing medical needs of the people of the country, as distinguished from the ordinary requirements of the administration. No suggestion was made that medical officers of Indian nationality should be substituted for European medical officers, and in fact Lord George Hamilton appears to have thought that European medical men, if encouraged by the prospect of obtaining Government appointments, could be induced to establish themselves in private practice in India as they have done in other parts of the Empire. We think it necessary to emphasise this point, because the fact that the previous correspondence was not sufficiently referred to or considered in our despatch of the 20th August 1908, or in the letter which we addressed to local Governments after we received Your Lordship's despatch of 11th December 1908, has, we find, given rise to much misunderstanding. Several of the local Governments, in particular the Punjab, have inferred that the main object aimed at was the transfer of a considerable number of appointments, now held by a service mainly European, to medical officers of Indian nationality, even at a serious loss of efficiency. We regret that this misunderstanding should have occurred, as it has obscured the main issues raised, which are (1) how far it is possible for Government to stimulate the growth of an independent medical profession ; (2) whether, and, if so, how far, the allotment to the Indian Medical Service of the civil posts, which they now hold, operates to discourage the growth of such a profession ; and (3) how far the withdrawal of such appointments, so far as practicable and expedient, from that service, would serve to encourage it. The question how far it is possible or expedient to substitute for officers of the Indian Medical Service medical men of Indian nationality or medical men recruited in India, though one which merits our most careful attention, cannot be considered as more than one of the subsidiary points for consideration.

4. In 1908 we pointed out that about one-third of the civil appointments now held by the Indian Medical Service do not form any part of the war reserve, and that consequently there would be no objection, from a military point of view, to their transfer to medical men not belonging to that service. Starting from that premise, we concluded that, subject to certain specified conditions, a considerable number of the appointments not included in the war reserve might gradually be transferred to medical men not belonging to the Indian Medical Service. We had not at that time had the advantage of the opinions of local Governments, and we regret to find that we gravely underestimated the objections, on other grounds than those connected with the requirements of the Indian Army in time of war, to the transfer of appointments which we contemplated. We have now given the whole question our most careful consideration in the light of the opinions of local Governments. We recognise most fully the importance of encouraging the growth of a private medical profession and the impossibility of the Indian Medical Service being expanded so as to meet all the medical needs of India. But we feel bound to recede from the position which we previously took up, because on further consideration of the question we are convinced that the mere transfer of a certain number of Government appointments from the Indian Medical Service to private practitioners would do practically nothing to encourage the growth of an independent profession ; that most of the civil appointments now held by the Indian Medical Service could not suitably be given to men not in regular Government service, with whom their private practice would be the first consideration; and that the retention of a considerable number of superior civil medical appointments for the Indian Medical Service is essential, not only in the interests of administrative efficiency, but also for the purpose of making the service itself attractive to able medical men. In short, while we adhere to the views previously expressed, that it is impracticable to provide from the Indian Medical Service for the growing needs, beyond the ordinary administrative duties, of the country in respect of medical relief, we hold strongly that the appointments now held by officers of the Indian Medical Service are required strictly for ordinary administrative duties, which cannot suitably be performed by men otherwise recruited.

5. As indicated above, the most important question which we have to consider is what can be done by Government to encourage the development of an independent medical profession. It has been assumed in previous correspondence that the chief, if not the sole, cause operating against the development of such a profession is the fact that most medical appointments have hitherto been retained for the Indian Medical Service. The letters received from the local Governments prove conclusively that this is not the case. In the first place, it is manifest that before a large supply of medical practitioners qualified according to Western methods can be called into existence, there must be a wide-spread demand for them. The fact that there is not, at the present time, such a demand is almost entirely due to the circumstance that the mass of the people are still content with the kaviraj, hakim, vaid, ojha and the like, who are trained according to indigenous methods, and who exist in very large numbers everywhere. When the mass of the people become dissatisfied with men of this class and require the services of medical men qualified according to Western methods, the supply will readily be forthcoming. The demand already exists in some of the cities and large towns, and will no doubt increase in such places as time goes on, and it will, doubtless, similarly extend in due course to the country districts. The letters of the local Governments show very clearly that what is wanted for the encouragement of the school of allopathic medicine is the gradual conversion of the people to this system, and that the mere transfer of a certain number of appointments from the Indian Medical Service to private practitioners would have no effect in that direction. On the contrary, as the Bombay Government have pointed out, such a measure might have a positively detrimental effect, as it might lead young men to try by various methods to secure Government appointments, instead of settling down to private practice. The withdrawal of Indian Medical Service officers, except with due circumspection, would also operate in another way against the development of an independent medical profession. We would instance the city of Ahmedabad in the Bombay Presidency. There, originally, the civil surgeon had all the allopathic practice, and there were no private practitioners other than the kaviraj and the like, trained according to indigenous methods. At the present time the civil surgeon has scarcely any private practice, almost the whole of his time being devoted to his administrative duties. On the other hand, there are a large number of private allopathic practitioners, and this happy result has been due entirely to the confidence in the allopathic system engendered by successive Indian Medical Service officers. This beneficial process has been going on everywhere in India, and it would be, in our opinion, a fatal mistake to check it by withdrawing the very men who are making allopathic medicine popular.

6. Government can, however, assist the development of an independent profession, and some of the chief ways in which they can do so are:—

(1) By providing, as they do at present, and as they should do in an increasing measure in the future, so far as may be necessary, Government colleges and schools for the instruction of qualified practitioners.

(2) By throwing open, as has already been agreed to by the Government of Bengal, the appointments of house physician and house surgeon in the large Presidency Government hospitals to the best students of each year, whether or not they propose to enter Government service.

(3) By encouraging the establishment of medical colleges and schools affiliated to the Universities or to Government medical schools, but conducted by independent medical practitioners. We are already taking steps to this effect in Calcutta and Bombay. It is well known that the Government colleges and schools cannot provide for more than a fraction of those who apply for admission. There is, therefore, ample room for well-equipped and adequately staffed unofficial colleges and schools. The professorships at such colleges and schools, if established, would afford the experience which can be derived from practice in hospitals, which is so important, and which we wish to see extended.

(4) By demonstrating, as they do at present, and as they should do in an ever-increasing measure in the future, both through the agency of their own officers and through that of the various local authorities, the advantages of Western methods in hospitals and dispensaries.

(5) By associating selected private practitioners with the staff of Government hospitals, as honorary physicians and surgeons, and by allowing them facilities for consultations at Government hospitals and the use of the operating theatre, as has already been done in some instances in Bombay, the United Provinces and the Central Provinces. We regard this as a most important measure. It will not enable us to make any reduction in the number of the Indian Medical Service officers at present at the hospitals, but we hope that it may operate to prevent a further increase of such officers.

We have also under our consideration another important question, referred to by the Punjab Government and the Central Provinces Administration, namely, whether anything can be done to stop, or at any rate to lessen, the abuse of charitable hospitals and dispensaries and the unfair competition caused to private practitioners by allowing free attendance and free medicine to well-to-do persons. We have consulted the local Governments on this subject, and propose to examine it carefully when we receive their replies.

7. A further most far-reaching step which Government can take towards assisting the development of an independent medical profession is by making provision for the registration of medical practitioners qualified to practice according to Western methods. This question has attracted attention in this country for many years, but hitherto nothing effectual has been done, because too much has been attempted or proposed. The difficulties connected with the subject have undoubtedly been great, owing to the fact that the mass of the people still prefer to patronise the kaviraj and other practitioners trained according to indigenous methods. Any measure which purported to confer benefits on medical practitioners, qualified according to Western methods, and consequently the rivals of the kaviraj and the like, was bound to provoke opposition. It was, therefore, necessary to wait until the former class had become considerable both in point of numbers and influence before action could profitably be taken. The Government of Bombay have now proposed to enact a local Registration Act and to provide for the creation of a medical council. They propose to secure their object as far as possible in the first place by the grant of privileges to qualified practitioners, rather than by the infliction of penalties upon unqualified persons. When a register of qualified practitioners has been framed, the fact of being a registered practitioner will in itself be a qualification; unqualified practitioners will be sufficiently marked out by the fact that they are not registered; and registered practitioners will take care to make the most of the fact. The registered practitioners, backed by the medical council, will, in course of time, become a powerful body capable of making their influence felt, and then it will be easy, if it is thought desirable to do so, to make the provisions of the law more stringent. The Government of Bengal, which also desires to legislate on the subject, have been advised to frame their Bill on similar lines.

8. We have already authorised local Governments to empower properly qualified medical practitioners to sign medical certificates regarding non-gazetted Government servants without requiring that the certificates should be countersigned by a Government medical officer; the old rule in the Civil Service Regulations having tended to divert to Government medical officers practice which might otherwise have gone to private practitioners.

9. Having explained what appear to us to be the chief practical means of developing an independent medical profession, we will now deal with two of the further questions referred to in paragraph 3 of this despatch, viz :—

(1) whether, and, if so, how far, the allotment to the Indian Medical Service of civil posts, which they now hold, operates to discourage the growth of an independent medical profession;

(2) how far the withdrawal of such appointments, so far as practicable and expedient, from that service, would serve to encourage it.

10. As regards these questions, we cite some of the views expressed by the local Governments. The Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, writes:—"This cry, that the existence of the Indian Medical Service and of the salaried medical services of Government subordinate to it, is militating against the creation of an independent medical profession, is a specious one which will not bear close examination. So far as the Indian agency employed is concerned, the change suggested merely substitutes one set of men for another set of men, a set of men engaged by temporary contract for particular posts for a set of men engaged by permanent contract for a particular service, men without discipline for men under discipline, men who cannot be replaced by transfer if inefficient or guilty of misconduct, for men who can be replaced. There is involved, therefore, a very serious loss of efficiency, there is no addition to the medical practitioners of the country, and no increase in the number of patients treated. As regards the Indian Medical Service, if the civil portion of this service were replaced by Indian doctors, there would again be no net increase in medical practitioners nor in patients treated. There would, in the Central Provinces and Berar, be some 10 or 12 appointments held by Indians which are now held by Europeans, but the objections already urged are so formidable as to make such a step unthinkable. The cry for an independent medical profession therefore resolves itself into the familiar cry for appointments under Government and for the substitution of Indian for European agency." Again he writes:—"In a single sentence, what the budding Indian medical profession is really asking for is salaries; what it really requires for its proper establishment and expansion is not salaries but patients; and patients, if it is worth anything, it will obtain for itself out of India's untreated millions." The Government of the Punjab have made certain proposals for giving up certain appointments, against the wishes of their officers and their own judgment, in the belief that it is the settled policy of Government that this should be done. The letter of the local Government adds, however—"But Sir Louis Dane does not disguise from himself the fact that the course which he is thus prepared to adopt for the purpose of promoting the more extensive employment of Indians in the medical service cannot be described as a step in the direction of fostering a profession of private medical practitioners" The Government of Bengal write:—"Once an officer has accepted an appointment under Government he necessarily ceases to be independent, and the work which he undertakes on behalf of Government will occupy the greater portion of his time; that is to say, he will be a Government servant first and only secondarily a private practitioner." The Government of the United Provinces observe—"That it is desirable to encourage the growth of such a profession an independent medical profession) is an opinion which is strongly held by the Lieutenant-Governor. He fully agrees in this respect with the view of the Secretary of State and of the Government of India. But he does not consider that the growth can be fostered by petty changes in the system of Government service. The establishment of such a profession is impossible without the existence of a demand for it." And again.—"If any independent practitioner accepted Government service he would either cease to be independent or he would be useless as a Government officer" And further:—"There are only 46 such officers (Indian Medical Service officers) in a province containing 47⅔ millions of people in which there are always on duty about 100 Indian civil servants, 85 police officers recruited in England and 60 or more officers of the Public Works Department similarly recruited. His Honour recognises that the main strength of this argument lies in the acceptance of the fact that the administrative duties which the Indian Medical Service officer has to perform are of an importance equal to that of the duties of officers of the other departments named. He himself has no doubt that this is the case He does not consider it necessary to elaborate the argument that among 47⅔ millions of people a staff of 46 Indian Medical Service officers is the lowest that could be entertained. A body of highly qualified men of at least this number could always be fully employed (apart from the necessity of entertaining them for the purposes of the Government itself) as consultants in the practice of assistant surgeons and the existing private practitioners." The Government of Bombay are of the same opinion, and, in connection with the memorial referred to in paragraphs 27 and 28 of this despatch of Sir Bhalchandra Krishna urging that more appointments should be given to private medical practitioners they say:—"The acceptance of the proposals contained in the memorial would, in the opinion of the Governor in Council, result in the creation of a Government medical service wholly recruited in India and this would in no way further the object in view, which is to foster the growth of an independent medical profession apart from Government service."

11. We fully agree with the local Governments, whose remarks we have quoted above, that the giving of a few appointments here and there which are now held by the Indian Medical Service to men not belonging to that service would not have any appreciable effect on the development of an independent medical profession. It is necessary, we think, to lay particular stress on this point, because once it is admitted, it follows that, throughout the remainder of the discussion of the proposed withdrawal of appointments from the Indian Medical Service, the question is not one of encouraging the growth of an independent medical profession, but that referred to at the close of paragraph 3 of this despatch, viz., the question of substituting, so far as expedient and practicable for officers of the Indian Medical Service medical men of Indian nationality or medical men recruited in India. The distinction between these two quite separate questions was not, we consider, sufficiently brought out in our previous despatch. We will now proceed to consider how far it is expedient and practicable to give effect to such a policy.

12. In this connection the first point which we think it desirable to emphasise is the importance of not doing anything which would lower the attractiveness of the Indian Medical Service. As Your Lordship is aware, of the total number of officers of that service in civil employ, two-thirds represent the war reserve, which cannot in any circumstances be encroached upon, while the remaining one-third are officers who are employed solely on civil duties. Although we stated in our despatch of the 20th August 1908 that there would be no objection, from a military point of view, to the transfer to independent practitioners of all the civil appointments held by that one-third, it is obvious that, if all or a large number of these appointments were to be given away to private medical practitioners, the attractiveness of the Indian Medical Service would be greatly diminished. We admitted in that despatch that this danger existed, but we were inclined to think that, as the process would be gradual, and as, by the time that a large number of local candidates was forthcoming, it was possible that the number of medical schools and professorial chairs would have increased, there would be no difficulty in retaining for the Indian Medical Service a proportion of prize appointments sufficient to maintain its attractiveness. There is ample evidence, however, that the publication of our despatch, together with Lord Morley's despatches of the 9th August 1907 and the 11th December 1908, has already given rise to wide-spread uneasiness in professional circles. We have examined the "British Medical Journal," the "Lancet" and the "Indian Medical Gazette," and we cite below the gist of some of the more important articles on this subject. An article of the 15th May 1909 in the "British Medical Journal" stated that the despatch of the Secretary of State had produced a feeling of serious apprehension among the officers of the Indian Medical Service, and a further article, published on the 22nd May 1909, observed that, if the civil list of the Indian Medical Service were reduced, the result would be that instead of nearly two-thirds of the service being able to look forward to the professional opportunities in civil life which practically all enter in the expectation of attaining within three or four years of reaching India, only a minority would be able to obtain civil work, and that only after a number of years in military employ. The article expressed the hope that the present uncertainty as to the future of this famous service would soon be settled in such a manner as fully to maintain its prospects and traditions, as otherwise the standard of entries would inevitably deteriorate rapidly. On the 4th September 1909 an article appeared in the same journal pointing out that the prospects of the Royal Army Medical Corps had materially improved in recent years, and that this was another reason for circumspection as regards curtailing the attractiveness of the Indian Medical Service. The "Lancet," in an article of the 10th July 1909, expressed the opinion that the proposals of the Government of India and the Secretary of State would affect the Indian Medical Service injuriously. Again, on the 20th August 1909, an article in the same journal pointed out that there was less competition now than formerly for the various medical services, that this was the more unfortunate, inasmuch as fewer men were now entering the medical profession as a whole in England, and that it was undesirable that the attractions of the medical services should be reduced, as those of the Indian Medical Service would inevitably be, if the proposals in the published despatches were carried out. The "Indian Medical Gazette" had two articles (in January and August 1909) on similar lines. We would remark, in addition to what is stated in the articles above cited, that it is well known that, owing to the advance already made by Indian private practitioners, particularly in the cities and large towns of India, the private practice of members of the Indian Medical Service is considerably less than it was years ago. While this is most satisfactory as evidence of the progress made by the independent medical profession of this country, it seems to us a further reason for not adding unnecessarily to the growing difficulties of recruiting for the Indian Medical Service.

13. Lord Morley referred in his despatch of the 11th December 1908 to difficulties in the matter of recruitment if further increases to the Indian Medical Service were allowed. We submit, however, that it is, on the other hand, necessary to take into account the fact that recruitment must be affected by proposals which tend to make the Indian Medical Service less attractive. Statistics of the examinations for the last five years show that there have been hardly more than two qualified candidates for each vacancy, and that on one occasion (February 1907) there were only 25 candidates for 23 vacancies. We have no statistics for years immediately preceding 1904, but we are informed that in previous years the proportion was very much larger. We have also been informed by the Director-General, Indian Medical Service, that the general standard of the candidates for the January 1910 examination was below the average, and that the results were still worse at the examination of July 1910.

14. We will now discuss the difficulties which have been pointed out by local Governments as regards giving effect to the proposed policy. In the first place local Governments make it clear that civil surgeoncies, which form the bulk of the appointments held by Indian Medical Service officers, cannot possibly be held by private practitioners. We recognised, in paragraph 7 of our despatch of the 20th August 1908, that difficulties might arise in connection with giving such appointments to locally recruited men, on account of the multiplicity of gratuitous services which are demanded of civil surgeons, and that patients entitled to such services might complain of neglect. We hoped, however, that these difficulties would not be insuperable and would tend to diminish with the increase in the number of practitioners who were qualified to hold such appointments and were anxious to hold them. We are constrained to abandon this opinion, as the reports of the local Governments make it clear that the proposal is impracticable. For instance, the Government of Bombay say :—

> "The question of appointing private practitioners to hold charge of mofussil civil surgeoncies is one of great importance. The difficulties of carrying on the duties of a civil surgeoncy with a man in charge who is entirely independent of Government seem to be insuperable. The civil surgeon is not only entrusted with the medical care of Government servants and their families, but he is also the final medical and surgical authority in a district containing often a million or more of souls ; the administrator of a hospital, a jail and several dispensaries ; the sanitary adviser of a municipality ; the professional adviser of the civil servants and most of their families ; the Government medical referee in the enrolment of the subordinate civil servants and police, and on questions relating to sick leave and retirements on pension caused by ill-health ; and last, but by no means least, he is the final and expert adviser of the Crown on all matters pertaining to homicide, suicide, rape, infanticide, grievous hurt and all other medico-legal work of the gravest and most responsible character. It appears impossible for Government to exercise the necessary control over any private practitioner, and it is certain that, if he has any practice of his own, the interests of Government will be sacrificed to it. The ordinary duties of a civil surgeon, if efficiently performed, are of themselves sufficient to occupy nearly all his time, and most civil surgeons have little leisure to devote to private work. It cannot therefore be supposed that a private practitioner, with even a fairly large practice of his own, can possibly give that time to Government work which is necessary."

The other Governments are equally emphatic. Their letters show that the civil surgeon is the right-hand man of Government in respect of medical matters, and that his appointment is an administrative post which can only be held by a whole-time servant of Government. Of the many important duties of the civil surgeon, medico-legal work alone would require that he should be a whole-time officer. Jail work is also of a great importance, and, combined as it is at every point with medical work, must be performed by a Government servant. It is not work which a private practitioner would ever care to take up. The proposal referred to in our despatch of August 1908 to break up the service of civil assistant surgeons and to make over such appointments to private medical practitioners has since been found to be entirely impracticable, and, for the reasons given in our despatch of the 26th May 1910, we have abandoned it definitely. The Government of Burma has indeed appointed a private practitioner as civil surgeon in the Tharawaddy district, which is close to Rangoon, but the difficulties which they have experienced in obtaining a suitable man have served to illustrate the much greater difficulties which would occur if any attempt were made to employ private practitioners as civil surgeons in up-country stations. The work of civil surgeons, like that of civil assistant surgeons, is chiefly of an administrative character, and it is not the class of work which men who look chiefly to private practice can be expected either to do well or to be anxious to do at all. We have no hesitation in coming to the conclusion that the proposal to appoint Indian private practitioners as civil surgeons is, generally speaking, impracticable and that it should be abandoned.

15. Nor is it practicable to recruit locally, save in exceptional cases, European medical men suitable for civil surgeoncies. Lord George Hamilton, in urging that it would be "a great benefit to India generally that medical men should establish themselves in private practice in the country in the same way as they do in other parts of the Empire without entering the medical service connected with the army," seems to have had in mind the conditions which obtain in Great Britain and in the Colonies, where the population is of European race or birth. As a matter of fact, European doctors can never be expected to establish themselves in this country outside the largest towns, save in exceptional areas, such as Assam, where there is a considerable European population, and the appointment of such men to civil surgeoncies in those exceptional places would seem to be a matter of very doubtful advantage. It would merely mean the recruitment here and there of an individual man, who would have to be replaced by his employers by another recruit from England. It would be of no practical advantage to Government, and would in most cases cause considerable inconvenience to the employers who had brought the men out from England. Similarly, a European who had settled in a city or large town might, here and there, be willing to enter the service of Government, but it is by no means clear that such an arrangement would be of advantage to Government.

16. We agree with the local Governments that the only practical method of recruiting civil surgeons locally is to promote selected civil assistant surgeons to such posts as far as is practicable. This is, we consider, a perfectly legitimate and proper way of rewarding merit in men who have succeeded in their profession and who have been trained to administrative work. Civil assistant surgeons are, for the most part, men with qualifications superior to those of the ordinary private medical practitioner, with the exception of the pick of those engaged in practice in the cities and large towns. We think it desirable to lay stress on this point. Lord Morley's recent despatch on the subject of the Chair of Anatomy at Calcutta seems rather to suggest that he regarded the civil assistant surgeon as being inferior to the ordinary Indian independent practitioner, whereas, as a matter of fact, the reverse is the case. The civil assistant surgeon—unlike the military assistant surgeon, who is a warrant officer trained at Government expense in a Government medical college, and given a college certificate to enable him to work in Government employ and as a general practitioner—begins his career as a private medical student, pays for his own education, and must, previous to his entry into Government employ, have obtained either the M. B. degree or the license (L. M. S.) of a recognised Indian University. Many civil assistant surgeons are extremely distinguished men, and a considerable number of them have European qualifications. These men would naturally object strongly to being considered inferior, as candidates for Government posts, to the ordinary practitioner who has neither their knowledge nor experience. It is to these men that any appointments which may be withdrawn from Indian Medical Service officers should, in our opinion, be given, and it will cause great discontent and will lower the standard of efficiency if they are not given the preference which they deserve. A certain number of civil surgeoncies is already reserved for civil assistant surgeons, and it is possible that a few more may from time to time, without objection, be made over to them.

17. There is, however, a very decided and sharp line which indicates the limit of employment of these men in the posts referred to, and that is the obligation which rests upon Government to provide medical aid to their European officers in the various services. This matter, which is not referred to in our recent correspondence with your predecessor, is very clearly set forth in the replies of local Governments. Although it is nowhere laid down that European officers are entitled to attendance by European medical officers, it is perfectly natural that they should wish to be treated by such officers, just as it is natural that persons of other nationalities should wish to be treated by medical men of their own race. This is a matter of special importance in a country like India, where Europeans are living under what are, climatically, very trying conditions. Still more important is it that European officers should know that they can, without unreasonable expense, procure the services of European medical officers for their families. Anything which would spread a belief that Government were careless of the interests of their European officers in this respect would, we are convinced, have a very adverse effect upon the recruitment of the European services in general. Nothing ought to be done, therefore, which would lead to such a reduction of European civil surgeons as would have the disastrous result referred to, and we would deprecate with the strongest emphasis such a proposal as that made by the Punjab Government, against the wishes of their own officers and against their own judgment, but in deference to what they thought were the wishes of higher authorities, to give up to civil assistant surgeons such a number of civil surgeoncies as would lead to the unfortunate result alluded to. In this connection we would invite Your Lordship's attention to the memorials from Government officers forwarded with our despatch of the 24th February 1910. We support those memorials strongly, and do not propose to take the action suggested by the Punjab Government.

18. We now turn to the case of civil appointments, other than civil surgeoncies, usually held by officers of the Indian Medical Service. These are posts held by high administrative medical officers (such as, the Director-General, Indian Medical Service, surgeons-general and inspectors-general of civil hospitals), inspectors-general of jails, sanitary commissioners, deputy sanitary commissioners, professors, chemical analysers and officers assigned to other special posts. It is, we think, obvious that the chief administrative officers of Government in the medical, sanitary, and, in some cases, the jail, departments should belong to that service. It is also necessary that the Government medical colleges and schools, which not only train the medical subordinates, civil and military, whom Government require for their own immediate work, but which afford at present the only opportunities for satisfactory medical instruction available in India, should be manned, to a considerable extent, by officers of that service in order that discipline and a high standard of efficiency may be maintained. There would be no objection, however, provided that fully qualified local candidates were forthcoming, and subject to the limitations indicated in this despatch, in giving some of the professorial appointments to such persons. It should, however, be understood that any such candidates must be fully qualified, and that the claims of civil assistant surgeons would receive adequate consideration. For the men who complain most that they cannot obtain Government appointments are not, generally speaking, the successful private practitioners, whose practice is far too good to allow of their taking up Government work, but men who cannot make a sufficient living for themselves.

19. We are of opinion, therefore, that when locally recruited medical men are required for appointments which are, or which have been in the past, held by officers of the Indian Medical Service, they should ordinarily be taken from the ranks of the civil assistant surgeons. We would recruit from amongst private medical practitioners, European and Indian, resident in India, only in exceptional cases, and in such cases would appoint them, not as members of a service but on special terms and for a specific period ; as we have already done in the case of Maung Aung Tun, House Surgeon of the General Hospital, Rangoon, and of Mr. Bentley, who has been employed on special investigations in Eastern Bengal and in Bombay. When European medical men are required from England we are convinced that it is both expedient and in the long run economical to recruit them in the Indian Medical Service. To recruit in England a small number of men for isolated posts would give rise to administrative difficulties. To recruit a large number of them would practically mean the formation of a second European medical service, which would, as stated in paragraph 6 of our despatch of the 20th August 1908, doubtless put forward claims to be treated precisely in the same way as the Indian Medical Service. Further, the recruitment of Europeans for particular posts, such as those of the Bacteriological department, would probably result in our having to engage, on special rates of pay, precisely the same men who, if existing arrangements are maintained, would come into the Indian Medical Service in order to spend their lives on research and who would be content with lower rates of pay as members of the service than they would demand if they were especially recruited for isolated posts.

20. Before leaving this question, we would invite Your Lordship's attention to Chapter VIII (pages 129-136) of the Report of the Decentralization Commission. The Commission considered the question of the civil medical department and discussed the proposals, made by the Government of Madras in 1899, but not accepted by the Government of India, for a completely separate cadre of Indian Medical Service officers for duty in that Presidency, and the proposal made in 1903 by the Government of Bombay for a separate civil medical service. The Commission was, however, of opinion that any such proposals would revolutionise the character of the Indian Medical Service and might lead to serious difficulties in recruitment, and would not, even if the members of such a service were given preliminary training with Indian troops, adequately provide for military requirements. The Commission had not before it the particular proposal now under discussion, viz., that that portion of the civil cadre, which must, in the event of war, be retained for civil purposes, should be recruited, as far as possible, locally, but it is clear that it was impressed by the general advantages of the present system.

21. Finally, we give some statistics to illustrate the impracticability of making any reduction in the number of Indian Medical Service officers employed solely on civil duties, that is to say, those not belonging to the war reserve. Excluding eleven officers in the Bacteriological department, who do not hold cadre posts, three officers in the Assay department, to which we have decided to make no further permanent appointments from the Indian Medical Service, the Surgeon Naturalist and the whole of the civil leave reserves, there are at present 114 Indian Medical Service civil cadre appointments not included in the war reserve. Of these appointments, 98 are under local Governments, 10 under the Foreign Department, and 6, including the Director-General, Indian Medical Service, and our Sanitary Commissioner, under the Home Department. Of the 98 posts under local Governments, 29 are held by administrative medical officers, sanitary commissioners, inspectors-general of prisons and chemical analysers, 16 by professors at Government medical colleges, and 53 by civil surgeons, jail superintendents and the like. We have already referred to the posts held by administrative medical officers and heads of departments and to the professorial and other special posts. As for the remaining 53 appointments under local Governments, we would point out that, in the event of a mobilisation of the whole army, not only the war reserve of the Indian Medical Service, but all military assistant surgeons, would be withdrawn, and each of the local Governments would be left with only 7 or 8 Indian Medical Service officers, in addition to heads of departments and a few officers holding special posts, to conduct the ordinary civil medical administration, to hold charge of the larger jails and to cope with epidemic disease. Local Governments would, no doubt, be able to increase their medical staff by re-employing pensioned civil assistant surgeons and sub-assistant surgeons, and they might succeed in securing the services of a few private practitioners. But we are strongly of opinion that the margin of European medical officers, which would be left at the disposal of local Governments in the event of the mobilisation of the army, would be the minimum which would be compatible with safety.

22. We sum up our conclusions as follows :—

(1) An independent medical profession trained on Western lines is steadily growing up in India, but it has yet to overcome its universal rival in the form of the kaviraj, hakim, vaid, ojha and the like, who are trained according to indigenous methods and in whom the mass of the population still trust.

(2) Government can do much to encourage an independent medical profession in the various ways enumerated in this despatch.

(3) The giving up of a few appointments to private medical practitioners will have no appreciable effect on the development of an independent medical profession, and might, on the contrary, tend to hinder a healthy development.

(4) The present policy of reduction, which was inaugurated without previous reference to the local Governments, has already given rise to considerable uneasiness in professional circles, and, if carried further, is likely to cause a decided deterioration in the Indian Medical Service.

(5) The bulk of the civil surgeoncies must be manned by officers of the Indian Medical Service, exceptions being made in favour of civil assistant surgeons.

(6) The Government medical colleges and schools must, in the main, be manned by officers of the Indian Medical Service, but a few professorial posts can be made available to locally recruited men.

(7) European medical men cannot be expected to establish themselves in this country, except in cities and large towns and in special areas where there is a large European population, and it is, generally speaking, undesirable to recruit from among them.

(8) When European medical men are required, they should usually be recruited in the Indian Medical Service. Indians and Europeans recruited locally in special cases should be employed on special terms.

23. We now turn to the specific orders passed in Lord Morley's despatch of the 11th December 1908, that there is to be no further increase in the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service, and, further, that we should endeavour to reduce the present strength. We have considered that decision with special reference to the question as to how many of the superior medical appointments in India can safely be made over to men recruited in India. The Public Service Commission of 1887 discussed a similar question in regard to the Indian Civil Service, and it was decided that the officers recruited to that service should form a corps d'élite, a certain proportion of superior posts not assigned to that service being made available for the Provincial Civil Service. The proportion of superior posts so made available was 16 6 per cent. Similar principles have been applied to the recruitment of other services. In the Public Works Department, out of 434 superior posts, namely, those of executive engineers, superintending engineers, and chief engineers, 75 or 17 per cent, are reserved for the Provincial, and the remainder for the Imperial, service. In the Forest service, it is proposed to divide the higher forest appointments into major and minor charges, and to allot to men recruited in India 20 per cent of the major posts. As regards the superior medical service the question has never been raised, owing to the necessity of providing for the employment in times of peace in civil work of the war-reserve of the Indian Medical Service. We find that, excluding plague and Bacteriological appointments and appointments in the Assay Department, to which department, as has already been stated, it is proposed that medical officers should not be appointed in future, the total number of superior medical appointments actually in existence, or which it is proposed to create in the immediate future, is 464. Of these, 354 are actually held by officers of the Indian Medical Service in the civil cadre (240 by officers belonging to the war-reserve, and 114 by officers in civil employ outside the war-reserve), while 110 are held by, or are open to, medical men recruited in India. Of these 110 posts, 35 are held, or are to be held, by civil assistant surgeons, 55 by military assistant surgeons, 10 by uncovenanted medical officers (of whom no more are being recruited) or by private practitioners; while the balance of 10 has not yet been assigned, but may be given either to civil assistant surgeons or private practitioners. The military assistant surgeons are Europeans or Eurasians, but they all receive their medical education in India, and must, therefore, be classed as indigenous practitioners. The proportion of posts at present available for men recruited locally is, therefore, 23·7 per cent. It is, we consider, a very reasonable proportion and it compares very favourably with the percentages fixed in respect of other services.

24. The existing orders place us in a position of considerable difficulty. When a new appointment is proposed and we are convinced, after considering the possibility of providing for it otherwise, that it cannot be filled satisfactorily at the moment except by an officer of the Indian Medical Service, we cannot give effect to this decision without calling on some local Government to resign a civil surgeoncy held by an officer of the Indian Medical Service and to appoint in his place an assistant surgeon or a private practitioner. For example, the increase in the staff of the Rangoon General Hospital recently sanctioned by Lord Morley led to a reduction of the number of Indian Medical Service civil surgeons in a province in which, as is shown convincingly in the Government of Burma's letter no. 1521, dated the 30th June 1909, the number of civil surgeons belonging to that service is already inadequate. To take another instance, we have recently, in accordance with the recommendations of the Conference on Malaria which met at Simla last year, placed a specially qualified officer of the Indian Medical Service on deputation to investigate endemic malaria in particular areas. Under the orders contained in Lord Morley's military despatch no. 4, dated the 21st January 1910, we are permitted to second this officer, as his deputation is expected to last for more than a year, but, if we do so, we must ask some local Government to surrender an Indian Medical Service civil surgeon temporarily. We would urge strongly that the orders in Lord Morley's despatch of the 11th December 1908, and in that just referred to, should be withdrawn. The object aimed at should not be, we think, merely the negative object of limiting or reducing the number of civil appointments held by the Indian Medical Service. We propose, as we have said already, to do all in our power to further the growth of an independent medical profession, and we propose also, as fully qualified candidates become available, and so far as considerations of efficiency and the legitimate claims of European servants of Government residing in the interior of the country will admit, to increase the number of superior medical appointments open to men recruited in India. But we are convinced, on the grounds urged in this despatch, that it is disastrous that the creation of an appointment of undoubted utility, whether permanent or temporary, for which at the moment no really qualified candidates are available in India outside the Indian Medical Service, should involve as at present the reduction of another Indian Medical Service appointment, usually a civil surgeoncy in a remote station. We propose, therefore, that, in lieu of the arrangements rendered necessary according to the orders at present in force, which we have found to be most detrimental, the case of each new appointment should be considered on its merits, and that, if we are convinced that in existing circumstances it can only be filled from the Indian Medical Service, and if we succeed in satisfying Your Lordship that this is the case, no reduction of an Indian Medical Service appointment should be made when the new appointment is created. We would apply the same rule to temporary appointments and deputations, but we would ask that we may be allowed to sanction temporary appointments and deputations of Indian Medical Service officers without corresponding reductions in the cadre, without reference to Your Lordship or, at least, without your previous sanction.

25. We would also ask Your Lordship to reconsider, in the light of the above remarks, and of those contained in paragraph 19 of this despatch, the decision given in Lord Morley's despatch no. 134 (Revenue), dated the 13th November 1908, rejecting our proposal that, when sanctioned appointments in the Bacteriological department are held by Indian Medical Service officers, they should be treated for the time being as cadre appointments of that service. We have no desire to reserve these special appointments for the Indian Medical Service, and we would welcome the opportunity of allotting them to natives of India if there were any who were fully qualified for them. The success of the department, however, and the benefits which its work can confer on the country, depend entirely on the class of men whom we can recruit. The man appointed to investigate the etiology of disease must not only have had a very complete general scientific training, but must possess powers of observation, initiation, industry and enthusiasm. So far we have not been able to find, among the Indian assistants employed in the department or among candidates in this country for Government posts, this special aptitude in a degree sufficient to warrant their employment on an independent or semi-independent investigation. We could no doubt recruit men in England for the department on special terms. But to do so, would, as we have already indicated, almost certainly be more expensive and would undoubtedly be less convenient. While bacteriological appointments are actually held by Indian Medical Service officers, we think that it is only reasonable that they should be treated, for the time being, as cadre appointments, for the purpose of calculating the usual leave reserve for the Indian Medical Service. We trust, therefore, that Your Lordship will now be able to sanction the proposal made in our Finance Department despatch no. 211 of the 23rd July 1908.

26. We desire to assure Your Lordship that we have made the proposals contained in this despatch only after the most careful and protracted consideration. We are convinced that if the orders in Lord Morley's despatch of the 11th December 1908, restricting the Indian Medical Service civil cadre to its present strength, continue in force, and still more if any reduction of that cadre is insisted on, the attractiveness of the service will be greatly diminished, the efficiency of the medical and sanitary administration of the country will be gravely impaired, the substitution of inferior for superior men will retard, instead of accelerating, the spread of Western medicine in India, and a grave amount of discontent, which could not fail to affect recruitment, will be provoked among all the Indian services which are recruited in England. We would also reiterate what we stated in paragraph 4 of this despatch, that the appointments now held by officers of the Indian Medical Service are required strictly for the ordinary administrative duties of the country in respect of medical relief, which cannot suitably be performed by men otherwise recruited.

27. Before we conclude this despatch we must invite Your Lordship's attention to the memorial from Sir Bhalchandra Krishna, herewith forwarded, which we held over until we could include our observations on it in a discussion of the whole question. We fully concur with the view expressed by the Bombay Government that acceptance of the proposals contained in the memorial would result in the creation of a Government Medical Service wholly recruited in India, and that this would in no way further the growth of an independent medical profession. The memorial, which, we may observe, overlooks the fact that Indians are admitted to the Indian Medical Service, is based, we consider, on a misconception. It is in no way unreasonable that Government medical colleges and schools should, in the main, be officered by whole-time Government servants, especially when, as in the case of the Grant Medical College, Bombay, military assistant surgeons (Europeans and Eurasians) are trained in the college for service with the army. As we have already explained, we are willing that, subject to certain specified conditions, fully qualified Indians should be appointed to a certain proportion of the professorships in Government institutions. What, however, the independent medical profession ought to aim at chiefly is not to secure appointments in Government institutions, but, as is indicated by the Bombay Government, and as we have already suggested to the Government of Bengal, to establish their own medical colleges and schools affiliated to the University or to Government medical schools and competing in healthly rivalry with the Government institutions. In such institutions there would be ample scope for local talent.

28. The complaint made in the memorial regarding the combination of professorships at the Grant Medical College is adequately answered in the letter of the Bombay Government and in the analysis forwarded with that letter. Apart from the regular combination of major and minor chairs, which is an economical arrangement, such combinations lasted only for a comparatively brief period in each case, and the arrangements were made as a matter of administrative convenience. The complaint made in the memorial that the military head of the service claims a share in the control of the Grant Medical College and the Jamsetji Jijibhoy Hospital seems to us particularly unreasonable. The control exercised by the Director of Public Instruction is an anomaly dating from a time when that officer was supposed to control every kind of education.

In our opinion the Director of Public Instruction should have nothing to do with medical institutions, and the military head of the service, namely, the Surgeon-General, should have sole control. We are unable to support the prayers made in the memorial with the exception of the last, which relates to civil assistant surgeons. The position of these officers and the possibility of assigning to them a larger share of superior appointments have been discussed elsewhere in this despatch.

No. 243.

To His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor General of India in Council.

MY LORD,

Question of limiting or reducing the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service.

I have carefully considered in Council your predecessor's despatch in the Home Department, No. 21, dated 17th November 1910, regarding the unofficial medical profession in India, and the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service.

2. I may say at once that after a full examination of the despatch and its enclosures I accept the view of your Government that the question of the steps to be taken to promote the growth of the unofficial medical profession must be treated as distinct from the question of limiting or reducing the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service, and that I am in general agreement with your Government on both questions. For this reason, instead of following in detail your predecessor's examination of the recent discussions in which these two questions have been considered in relation to one another, I propose to state, without direct reference to the previous correspondence, the conclusions to which I have been led by my own examination of the question.

3. In the first place, I am much impressed with the military considerations involved. The efficiency of the Army in the event of mobilization requires that a War Reserve amounting to at least two-thirds of the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service should be available at short notice, and no more economical method of providing this War Reserve than the existing one has yet been discovered. There is also a large proportion of civil posts, including the highest administrative appointments, amounting to hardly less than one-third of the whole cadre, which it would be most unwise in time of stress to entrust to others than members of a trained and disciplined service. It is also, I believe, generally admitted that the attractiveness of the Indian Medical Service to young doctors is largely dependent on the number and character of the civil posts, and to diminish this number materially or to withdraw even a comparatively small proportion of the higher posts hitherto included in the cadre could not fail to have an unfavourable effect upon recruitment, and consequently upon the efficiency of the whole service, both on the civil and on the military side. Furthermore, in the interests of the western system of medicine generally including those of the unofficial medical practitioners themselves, it is desirable, at least, for the present, to maintain a system by which in every part of the country demonstrations of its practical value will be continuously afforded by medical officers of undoubtedly good qualifications. Moreover, it is impossible to disregard the special needs of European officers and their families. I am thus unable, under existing conditions, to contemplate any substantial reduction of the service.

4. I have read with interest and satisfaction that portion of Lord Minto's despatch (paragraphs 6—8) in which he indicated a variety of methods by which Government can assist, and in some cases are already assisting, the development of the unofficial medical profession. Perhaps the chief of these is the making provision for the registration of medical practitioners qualified to practice according to the western methods. The Government of Bombay have taken the first step in this direction by passing a Registration Act, and I trust that, before long, experience of its working may justify the introduction of similar legislation for other provinces. I may here observe that in my opinion the value of such legislation will to a great extent depend on the maintenance of some fixed minimum standard of attainment for all medical men.

5. I observe, however, that while your Government have come to the conclusion in which I agree, that the constitution of the Indian Medical Service must remain for the present at least substantially unchanged, you, at the same time, indicate certain directions in which it may be possible and desirable to continue the policy of increasing, so far as is permitted by considerations of efficiency, and the reasonable claims of European servants of Government residing in the interior of the country, the number of superior medical appointments open to men recruited in India. I welcome, as did my predecessor, every opportunity of taking a step, however small, in furtherance of this policy. Your despatch mentions that some more professorial appointments might be filled by local candidates provided they are fully qualified, and that it is possible that a few more civil surgeoncies may, without objection, from time to time, be handed over to Civil Assistant-Surgeons. In this connection it is to be remembered that a Royal Commission on the Public Services has been appointed, and that it would be undesirable to make any large change of the kind until the Commission has reported; in the meantime, proposals affecting individual appointments can of course be considered on their merits.

6. I also accept the view of Lord Minto's Government that there is ordinarily no advantage in recruiting a medical man from the United Kingdom, otherwise than through the Indian Medical Service. But I am not prepared to say that this course should never be adopted. Circumstances have arisen in the past in which there was immediate need for men of special experience who were not available in India either from the Indian Medical Service or otherwise, and I know of no reason to suppose that a case of the kind will never occur again. Such a case must be dealt with on its merits, and if a man has to be recruited specially from the United Kingdom for a particular post a special contract should be made with him, the terms of which in each case will require the closest scrutiny.

7. The present appears to me to be a suitable opportunity for considering the case of the Military Assistant-Surgeons employed as Civil Surgeons. It is necessary to have a reserve of Military Assistant-Surgeons; and, as with the Indian Medical Service, it is convenient and economical to employ this reserve in civil duties. Their professional efficiency is also advanced by this means. These men, however, are not recruited with reference to any qualifications for the important duties of a Civil Surgeon, and they are, as a rule, unsuitable for the work. It may therefore be desirable that as far as possible civil surgeoncies not reserved for the Indian Medical Service should be given to Civil Assistant-Surgeons. I leave it to your Government to consider whether effect can usefully be given to this suggestion.

8. I pass now to the request of Lord Minto's Government that the existing orders under which there can be no further increase in the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service may be withdrawn, that in future the case of each new appointment may be considered on its merits, and that if I am satisfied that in existing circumstances it can only be filled from the Indian Medical Service no reduction of another Indian Medical Service appointment may be made when the new appointment is created. The orders in question were based on the belief that the development of the unofficial medical profession would be aided by leaving as many Government appointments as possible to private practitioners whether recruited in India or in England. As I have already said I am persuaded that this view is not supported by the recent investigations. But I still consider that the Indian Medical Service should be restricted to the military needs of the country, and this for two reasons, first, the necessity for economy, and secondly, the desirability of increasing, as far as may be, the number of important posts held by Indians. Whether any important step can be taken towards attaining this latter object is a question with which it will be easier to deal effectively after the Public Service Commission has issued its report. In the meantime it does not appear to me necessary to maintain an order which has served its purpose in causing a searching investigation to be made into the important subjects dealt with in this despatch, and which at the same time has, as you point out, caused some serious administrative inconvenience. I am therefore prepared to consider the case of each new appointment on its merits in accordance with your views, but it must be understood that any proposal for an increase in the civil posts included in the cadre of the Indian Medical Service will, in future, be subjected to the closest scrutiny.

9. I have also decided, on consideration of paragraph 25 of your despatch, to accept the proposal that when sanctioned appointments in the Bacteriological Department are held by Indian Medical Service officers they should be treated for the time being as cadre appointments of that Service.

10. Your Excellency's Government will understand that the conclusions now stated must be regarded as provisional, and that it is possible that the enquiries to be conducted by the new Public Service Commission may necessitate a re-examination of the whole question.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient, humble Servant,

HOME DEPARTMENT.

To

THE MOST HONOURABLE THE MARQUESS OF CREWE, K.G.,

His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

MY LORD MARQUESS,

WE have the honour to refer to Your Lordship's Public despatch no. 243, dated the 22nd November 1912, regarding the unofficial medical profession in India and the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service. We are glad to learn that Your Lordship has accepted the view of Lord Minto's Government that the question of the steps to be taken to promote the growth of the unofficial medical profession must be treated as distinct from that of limiting or reducing the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service. Our predecessors' despatch of the 17th November 1910 suggested a variety of methods by which Government could assist or, in some cases, was already assisting, the development of the unofficial medical profession in India, and we indicate briefly the subsequent developments of some of the questions then raised :—

(i) The questions of the registration of medical practitioners, of the growth of unofficial medical institutions and of penalising bogus medical degrees have been considered further, and we forward for Your Lordship's information a copy of our Home Secretary's letter of the 23rd May 1913, which has been addressed to local Governments and Administrations on the subject. We feel no doubt that reforms on the lines indicated will commend themselves to all those who have the interests of medical education in India at heart, and we trust that before long something effectual will be done in the direction indicated.

(ii) In February 1911 we consulted selected local Governments with regard to the suggestion to employ passed students of medical colleges, whether they enter Government service or not, as house physicians and house surgeons in Government hospitals, a plan which had commended itself to the Government of Bengal, but in view of the generally unfavourable replies received we decided not to proceed further with this specific proposal.

(iii) The suggestion to associate selected private practitioners with the staff of Government hospitals has been received favourably by the majority of local Governments.

(iv) The question referred to at the end of paragraph 6 of the despatch of the 17th November 1910, has been disposed of by the issue of the resolution on the subject of gratuitous medical assistance in charitable hospitals and dispensaries, which Your Lordship had approved in your Public despatch no. 252, dated the 6th December 1912.

2. Your Lordship has left it to our discretion to decide whether effect can usefully be given to the suggestion that, as far as possible, civil surgeoncies not reserved for the Indian Medical Service should be given to civil assistant surgeons instead of to military assistant surgeons. This matter has received our careful consideration, but we are strongly averse from any reduction in the number of civil surgeoncies held by military assistant surgeons or of any redistribution of the proportion of posts held by this class of officer. There are altogether 712 military assistant surgeons in the cadre, of whom 164 are serving under local Governments, but the total number of civil surgeoncies reserved for them is only 51. The question of reducing the proportions of independent to subordinate posts held by military assistant surgeons, by the substitution of civil assistant surgeons in the independent appointments, was considered in 1903, when it was decided that no change was necessary, as it was feared that such a proposal might tend to discourage military assistant surgeons of the best type from becoming candidates for civil employment, and of seriously affecting recruitment for the Service. To that opinion we still hold. All military assistant surgeons in civil employ are liable to recall for active service, and they constitute an important part of the war reserve. Since they already fall short of the number required for complete mobilization, any reduction in their number would, in our opinion, be a grave mistake. Some of them possess exceptional qualifications, and the majority make up in administrative capacity what they may lack in professional ability, and given equal medical attainments, the military assistant surgeon frequently makes a better civil surgeon than a civil assistant surgeon. We have under consideration proposals made by our Director-General of the Indian Medical Service to provide facilities for the better medical education of military assistant surgeons, and when effect is given to these recommendations the professional qualifications of these officers should be greatly improved.

3. There are several proposals pending before us for an increase of the civil cadre of the Indian Medical Service, which we shall hereafter submit separately for Your Lordship's orders. In all these cases we hope that we will be able to show that, looking to the work to be done, the services of Indian Medical Service officers are indispensable. In view of the growing medical needs of the country which necessitate the employment of a larger staff of medical officers, some expansion of the Indian Medical Service is inevitable, and such expansion should not, in our opinion, be regarded from a different standpoint from the enlargement of any other cadre in response to the development of the work to be performed.

We have the honour to be,

MY LORD MARQUESS,

Your Lordship's most obedient, humble Servants,

„ Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces.

„ Chief Commissioner of Coorg.

I am directed to invite the attention of the Governor in Council / the Lieutenant-Governor in Council / His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor / your attention to the question of legislating in order to penalise the use of bogus medical degrees. The Governor General in Council is satisfied that there is a growing opinion in this country in favour of the stricter supervision of persons who practise Western methods of medicine. Evidence of this opinion is to be found in the general acceptance accorded in Bombay to the Medical Registration Act which became law in that Presidency last year, and in the initiation of legislation on similar lines by the Government of Bengal. Both these provincial measures proceed on the principle of conferring privileges upon qualified persons rather than of inflicting penalties on the unqualified. They create representative Medical Councils which will maintain a register of all medical practitioners and of their qualifications; and they restrict the exercise of certain definite functions to those practitioners whom the Medical Council has registered. The Governor General in Council, however, considers that it is now possible to take a step further, and to proceed by means of a general Act to prohibit all institutions not affiliated to any University nor recognised by Government, from granting any medical degrees and titles which bear a colourable resemblance to registrable qualifications and further to prohibit individual practitioners from advertising that they hold such degrees.

2. It is as much in the interest of the independent private practitioner as in that of officers of the Indian Medical Service and of the subordinate medical departments that the field of private practice should not be overrun with untrained or half-trained men, whose titles may convey to the ignorant that they hold degrees or qualifications to which their actual attainments give them no claim whatever. The mischief caused by the unscrupulous assumption of medical degrees by men who had no right to them was observed as long ago as 1882, but it did not assume serious dimensions for another twenty-five years. The same aspect of the general question was again brought to notice by the Government of Bengal in 1908: but the fact that the evil was of comparatively recent development and practically confined to a single city, disposed the Government of India to a policy of caution. They approved the principle of a provincial Medical Registration Act, but while recognizing the evil of bogus degrees they suggested to the local Government that an opportunity of reform should be first afforded to those medical institutions whose privileges would be threatened by the further legislation which the Government of Bengal had in view; and of combining their forces into one improved college which might receive Government recognition. Unfortunately the experience of the past few years has shown that no such spontaneous reform can be expected, and the Government of India feel no longer any hesitation in proposing to undertake general legislation.

3. In putting their suggestions for legislation before local Governments, the Government of India think it well to remove certain possible misapprehensions. In the first place they have no desire to discourage the growth of independent medical institutions. They would rather wish to see such institutions extended; for, in Calcutta and probably elsewhere, the existing Government Medical Colleges are unable to meet the demands for instruction. Private institutions should provide valuable opportunities for professional and clinical work to private practitioners, which cannot fail to raise the standard and promote the development of an independent medical profession; and provided that a minimum standard of efficiency in equipment and training is insisted upon, the Government of India desire that every possible encouragement may be given to them.

4. In the second place the Government of India have no intention of legislating to prevent 'Ayurvedic' Colleges and similar institutions from conferring degrees, nor to penalise Kavirajs, Hakims, Vaids and such practitioners in the exercise of their profession. On the other hand, they consider that the public is clearly entitled to be protected against a practitioner who professes to treat his patients according to the European system of medicine under cover of spurious qualifications, whether conferred by one of the correspondence colleges of America, or by proprietary institutions such as exist in Calcutta or Dacca.

5. The Government of India have considered carefully whether the evil of bogus medical degrees should not be checked rather by provincial than by imperial legislation. They find, however, that private medical institutions in Calcutta are attended by pupils from almost every part of India, and particularly by students whose general educational attainments are inferior to those required for admission to the Government medical colleges of their own provinces, and that students from these institutions return to their homes and there compete with the better equipped candidates who have gone through a recognised course under qualified teachers. In these circumstances the Government of India think that if the evil is to be effectually combated, legislation in the Imperial Council is preferable.

6. The legislation which the Government of India have in view would penalise the conferment of any medical diploma or degree by any unrecognised institution and would permit persons who use such degrees or diplomas or notify that they possess them, to be prosecuted. If legislation were directed only against institutions which confer degrees without proper authority, the mischief caused by the use of bogus degrees issued by institutions outside India would remain untouched; and inasmuch as the object of penalising individuals who assume degrees to which they have no claim or which have been conferred by unrecognised institutions is not to penalise professional inefficiency, but to prevent fraud the Government of India think that the further remedy is justified.

7. Accordingly the Government of India propose that legislation be undertaken.—

(1) to prohibit—

(a) unauthorised persons or bodies from granting any degrees or diplomas or licenses, or colourable imitations thereof, to practise the Western methods of medicine, which are recognised by the Indian Universities and the General Council of Medical Education and Registration in Great Britain; and

(b) the issue by any person of any such degrees, diplomas or licenses or colourable imitations of such documents; and

(2) to penalise—

(a) the granting or issue of such degrees, diplomas or licenses; and

(b) the use of such degrees, diplomas or licenses by medical practitioners.

8. If the principle of this legislation is agreed to the Government of India would ask (the Government of Madras / the Lieutenant-Governor in Council / His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor / you) to consider further whether a bill to effect the registration of medical practitioners should not also be introduced in (Madras / the United Provinces / etc.), with the object of providing that the control of the registration of degrees in each province may be placed in the hands of a Medical Council (such as has already come into existence in Bombay) which will declare what degrees, licenses, and diplomas are registrable and will take disciplinary action against medical practitioners convicted of crime or of misconduct.

9. The Government of India anticipate indeed that before long it may be desirable that the work of these provincial Medical Councils should be co-ordinated by one supreme body, more particularly if the Councils, in addition to performing their ordinary functions under the Registration Act of the province, are given power to confer recognition upon those medical schools and colleges whose training, staff, syllabuses and equipment merit it or to establish, subject to their general supervision, a College of Physicians and Surgeons as at Bombay, on the lines of those in the United Kingdom, to appoint examiners and grant diplomas such as the M.R.C.S. or the L.R.C.P. for persons whose means do not permit them to proceed to the University degree in medicir

10. The Government of India have now indicated the scope of the legislation which they contemplate, and the directions to which, as at present advised, they are disposed to look for a further development of medical policy. They feel little doubt that reforms on such lines will commend themselves to all those who have the interests of medical education in India at heart, but they would be glad to be favoured with any criticisms which the Governor in Council / the Lieutenant-Governor in Council / His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor / you may wish to offer, after consulting associations or persons whose opinions are of value with particular regard to the scope or aims of the proposed bill. I am to request that if possible a reply may be sent to this letter by the 15th October next.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 25th July 1914.

Burma.—The rainfall has been heavy in Arakan and ample elsewhere except in the dry zone where the fall was light. Sowing of winter rice and upland crops is proceeding normally. Cattle are healthy. The price of unhusked rice in Rangoon has risen slightly.

Assam.—Moderate rain has fallen in all the districts but more rain is still wanted in most places. Hoeing, plucking and manufacturing of tea, ploughing for and sowing of winter rice, transplanting of sugarcane and winter rice seedlings and harvesting of early rice and jute continue. Prospects of tea are good. The outturn of early rice is fair and of jute moderate. Some damage has been caused to jute by insects in Darrang and to rice crops by rats in parts of Kamrup. The average price of common rice has fallen slightly. Cattle disease is reported from five districts.

Bengal.— Light to moderate rain fell throughout the Province but more rain is urgently wanted in a number of places for the transplantation of winter rice and for the steeping and washing of jute. Harvesting of autumn paddy and jute continues but the harvesting of jute is being retarded in some places for want of steeping water. Injury by insect pests to jute plants continues to be reported from Nadia, Murshidabad and Jessore. Cattle disease is reported from thirteen districts. The average price of common rice remained almost stationary as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—The rainfall was general over the Province. The fall was generally light in Bihar and Chota Nagpur and moderate to heavy in Orissa. Sowing of autumn crops still continues in some districts. Weeding is going on. Transplantation of winter rice is in progress but more rain is wanted for the purpose in most districts of Bihar. Harvesting of jute has commenced in Purnea where rain is badly wanted for the steeping of the crop. Standing crops are on the whole doing well. The average price of common rice has risen slightly as compared with that of the previous week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from 13 districts. Agricultural prospects in the Feudatory States of Orissa are on the whole good.

United Provinces.—Good rain has fallen throughout the Provinces. But more rain is needed in Bijnor, Farrukhabad and in the Rampur State. Sowing of autumn crops is nearing completion and weeding is in progress. Late rice is being transplanted and land is being prepared for spring crops in places. Standing crops are doing well. Cattle disease continues to be reported from some districts. Green grass which sprung up has almost put an end to scarcity of fodder. Markets are well supplied with food grains. The level of prices remains practically unchanged.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—General rain has fallen throughout the distressed area but more rain is urgently needed in Shahjahanpur. A break is now needed in Bundelkhand. All public works have been closed. Civil works are open in Etawah but those in Moradabad and Jhansi have been closed. Aided works are in progress in all districts except Bareilly, Muttra, Etawah and Allahabad and unaided private works in Agra, Budaun and Bundelkhand. Poor-houses are open in Etawah, Hamirpur and Banda and gratuitous relief is being distributed throughout the distressed area. The number of persons on relief on the last day of the week were :—Public works, Jalaun 371; civil works, Etawah 3,739; aided works, Jalaun 60, Hamirpur 206, Banda 308; total on works 4,684. Dependants, Etawah 1,462. Gratuitous relief, Etawah 5,688, Jalaun 27,432, Hamirpur 15,840, Banda 51,850; total 1,00,810. Poor-houses, Etawah 49, Hamirpur 1, Banda 16, total 66. Grand total 1,07,022. The number of persons on civil works on the last day of the week were :—Moradabad 281; on aided works Agra 36, Budaun 1,062, Shahjahanpur 86, Fatehpur 52, Jhansi 1,315; total on works 2,832. On gratuitous relief, Moradabad 4,012, Bareilly 632, Muttra 2,211, Agra 1,945, Budaun 1,037, Shahjahanpur 2,500, Fatehpur 3,370, Allahabad 5,392, Jhansi 26,105; total 49,204. Grand total 52,036. The numbers of persons on unaided private works were :—Agra 193, Budaun 121, Jalaun 837, Jhansi 2,098, Banda 87; total on works 3,336. On gratuitous relief from charitable funds the numbers were :—Moradabad 690, Budaun 380, Fatehpur 17; total 1,087. Grand total 4,423. Takavi is being distributed for pakka wells and for purchase of seed and cattle. Distress is still acute among the higher castes and among non-workers in parts of Bundelkhand. There is ample employment for people in fields and villages. Crime is generally normal. The health of people is generally good. Little wandering or emaciation is noticed. Cattle are improving generally and disease is reported only from Moradabad and Banda.

Clothing, bhusa and cattle are being provided from charitable funds and cash doles are being given to respectable people. The fodder difficulty should soon cease in Etawah and Jhansi; elsewhere fodder is ample. Markets are sufficiently stocked. The price basis is from 9 to 13 seers per rupee.

Punjab.—Heavy and well distributed rainfall has been reported from all the reporting districts. It is sufficient and sowings of unirrigated crops are making good progress. Heavy rain has retarded sowing operations and damaged standing crops in parts of a few districts. The condition of standing irrigated and unirrigated crops is generally good. Reaping of extra spring crops has been completed and the yield is good. Cattle are generally healthy and fodder is sufficient. Prices of wheat range between normal and warning rates and of other food grains between warning and scarcity rates.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rain fell throughout the Province. The condition of standing crops is good on irrigated areas and normal elsewhere. Sowing of autumn crops is in progress in Dera Ismail Khan. Floods have damaged roads, dams and field embankments. The Paharpur canal is running. The condition of cattle is good. Water and fodder are sufficient. The public health is good. Prices are high but stationary.

Jammu.—Heavy rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat and gram sell from 10½ to 18 and maize from 13 to 21 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is good. There is no cattle disease. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall was good except in Baramula where it was insignificant. Standing crops are in good condition. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are normal. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Rajputana.—The rainfall during the week was general, the minimum fall being 50 cents in the west of Jodhpur. It was heavy in the east of Kotah and Jhalawar. The weather is cloudy and hot. Sowings are in progress but have been retarded in Kotah, Jhalawar and Karauli owing to excessive rain. Standing crops are generally good. Pasturage has improved. Water is sufficient. The condition of cattle is generally fair or is expected to improve. Prices are high and stationary. The numbers on gratuitous relief were :—Ajmer 15 and Merwara 104.

Central India.—The rainfall was general throughout the Agency. More rain is needed in the Gird, Bhind and Tonwarghar districts of Gwalior. A break in the rains is needed in Bundelkhand. Sowing and weeding of autumn crops are in progress everywhere. The sugarcane crop in Gwalior is good. Standing crops are good in Bhopal, Bundelkhand, Malwa and the Southern States. Germination in Indore is hopeful. Cattle disease prevails in parts of Gwalior, Indore, Bhopal, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and the Southern States. Fodder is poor in Baghelkhand and is being imported in the affected districts of Gwalior. Green grass is available everywhere in Bundelkhand. Prices are rising in Bhopal, Baghelkhand and in the Pana State of Bundelkhand and are steady elsewhere. In Bundelkhand the average numbers on test works were :—Panna 586, Chhatarpur 8, Dhurwai 52, Bijna 24, Tori Fatehpur 11, Jigni 164, Lughasi 62, Bihat 3, Beri 52, Bilheri 595, Bijawar 260, Samthar 183, Charkhari 190, Orchha 522, Garrauli 96 and Gaurihar 15. On gratuitous relief the numbers were :—Panna 2,724, Baoni 181, Chhatarpur 380, Sarila 50, Dhurwai 8, Bijna 11, Tori Fatehpur 56, Jigni 13, Lughasi 112, Bihat 25, Beri 22, Naigawan Rebai 22, Bilheri 240, Bijawar 217, Samthar 32, Charkhari 444, Ajaigarh 446, Banka Pahari 4, Orchha 312, Garrauli 52 and Gaurihar 73.

The famine report for the Alampur pergana of Indore has not been received.

Central Provinces.—Light to moderate rain fell all over the Provinces, varying from 54 cents in Wardha to 10 inches in Balaghat. Sowing of autumn crops is approaching completion and germination is satisfactory. Transplantation and thinning of rice continued but weeding was retarded in places owing to continuous rain and a break would be welcomed. The supply of water and fodder is adequate and cattle are doing well. There are slight variations in prices with a tendency to fall.

Feudatory States :—There was good rain and crops are flourishing. The price of wheat fell by 2 seers per rupee in Jashpur.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows :—The numbers on relief were :—Works nil, gratuitous 12,969. Distress is slight. Prices of grain show a tendency to fall in Jubbulpore and Damoh. Reports are favourable from all three districts.

Bombay.—General and sufficient rain fell during the week throughout the Presidency. It was heavy in South Gujarat, West Khandesh, Nasik and Belgaum where a break is necessary. More rain is still needed in Cutch and the eastern parts of Poona, Sholapur and Satara. Sowing is retarded in Surat, Nasik and Belgaum owing to excessive rain and generally continues elsewhere. Transplantation is in progress generally and is flourishing except for damage done by floods in three talukas of Karachi and by excessive rain in Nasik and Belgaum. The fodder supply is inadequate in Poona, Sholapur and Satara. Cattle are generally good. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in Ahmednagar and Poona. Drinking water is generally sufficient. Irrigation water is deficient in Poona, Sholapur and Satara. Prices have slightly risen in the Karnatak and are generally steady elsewhere. The numbers on gratuitous relief during the week ending 25th July were:—Sholapur, Satara and Bijapur 3,728.

Hyderabad.—No report was received from the Karimnagar district probably owing to heavy rain. Very heavy rain has fallen in parts of the Parbhani, Nander, Nizamabad and Warangal districts and was general and even elsewhere. The average for the Dominions was 3 inches 33 cents. Autumn crops and early rice are being sown. Crops are being weeded and growth is excellent though they have been damaged by heavy and continuous rain in parts. Water scarcity prevails in two and cattle disease in four talukas. Prices of grains are high and stationary. The highest price in districts is 9½ seers in Raichur and the lowest 22 seers in Bidar.

Mysore.—The rainfall was heavy in Kadur, Shimoga and Hassan and light to fair elsewhere. Prices of food grains are generally steady. Markets are well supplied. Ploughing, sowing and transplanting operations are in progress in parts. Standing crops are generally fair. Prospects of the season are improving but more rain is needed in parts. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available in the greater part of the State while elsewhere fodder scarcity prevails.

Coorg.—The rainfall was general throughout the Province. Ploughing for and transplanting of rice continue. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was very heavy in the Nilgiris and the West Coast except Travancore, good to heavy in the Deccan, Nellore, Travancore and the Circars except in the Vizagapatam littoral, nil in Ramnad and light to fair elsewhere. The river Kistna has been flooded and its embankment has been breached in one place in Gunter. Standing crops are fair to good generally. Dry crops have been improved by the recent rains in Bellary but are withering in parts of Madura and require rain in parts of four other districts. Harvesting of paddy and dry crops are over in eight districts and are proceeding or ending in others. The outturn is fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding normally in parts. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water-supply is insufficient for irrigation in parts of some districts. Pasture is scanty in parts of some districts but fodder is generally sufficient. Prices are stationary.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

CIVIL WORKS.
Irrigation.

Simla, the 28th July 1914.

Review of Irrigation in India in 1912-13.

Classification of Irrigation Works.

Irrigation Works in India are divided into two main classes, viz., major and minor works. Major Works are sub-divided into :—

(a) Productive public works, the capital of which is usually provided from borrowed money.

(b) Protective works, designed as a protection against famine, the capital of which is provided from current revenues, and is usually met from the annual grant under Famine Relief and Insurance.

Capital and revenue accounts are kept for all major works.

Minor works are constructed from funds provided from the current revenues of India, and, broadly speaking, consist of irrigation systems which are not sufficiently important to treat as major works. Some of them are old works constructed by the former rulers of this country, and extended or restored by the British Government; some are works which have been constructed by the British Government; others, again, are village works originally provided by private or communal effort, the control of which the State has been obliged to assume owing to disputes between the parties interested or their inability to maintain the efficiency of the works.

Capital and revenue accounts are maintained for the more important minor works, but for those on which the capital outlay has not exceeded half a lakh of rupees, revenue accounts only are, as a rule, maintained. There is a third class of minor works, consisting for the most part of small tanks, for which neither capital nor revenue accounts are kept. These exist principally in the Madras Presidency.

Productive Public Works.

2. Productive public works are expected within 10 years after the probable date of their completion to yield sufficient revenue to pay their working expenses and the annual interest calculated at 4 per cent on the capital invested. No project is now sanctioned as a productive public work unless it can be shown beyond reasonable doubt that when fully developed it will fulfil these conditions. This standard was not attained in the case of the earlier irrigation projects and thus it has happened that several large irrigation works which were financed from borrowed capital, are not remunerative. There are 13 such works, viz., two in Bihar and Orissa and two in Bengal, seven in the Deccan and Gujarat and two in Madras. They are still retained on the list of productive works, but expenditure against their capital account is now charged against the current revenues of India. The total accumulated losses on these 13 works have slightly exceeded the sum of 11 crores. But though they have proved financial failures in the ordinary commercial sense, they have been indirectly of great value in securing large areas of cultivation against the vicissitudes of the seasons.

3. The remaining works in operation, 43 in number, satisfy productive conditions. These works collectively paid during the year 11·76 per cent on their capital outlay; while after paying interest charges, the surplus revenue, which they had contributed to the general revenues of the country up to the end of 1912-13, amounted to over 43 crores of rupees against 35 crores, the capital invested on them. The financial results, the area irrigated, and the mileage in operation fc.- -" productive public works in operation are shown separately by provinces in Statement I.

Areas irrigated, and return realised by productive works.

4. During the year under review the total area irrigated by all the productive public works, including branches in Native States of the Punjab, amounted to 16,147,799 acres. Towards this total the Punjab canals contributed nearly 7½ million acres, Madras 3⅓, the United Provinces 2⅓ and Sind 1 million acres. In Bihar and Orissa an area of 930,000 acres was attained. The return on capital is highest in the Punjab, where the canals yielded 16·48 per cent. The next province in this respect is Madras, where a return of 14·05 per cent was realised, excluding the Karnool and Barur systems referred to in paragraph 2, expenditure on which is charged to Revenue. In the United Provinces and Sind the returns realised were 6·83 per cent and 4·50 per cent, respectively. Details regarding other provinces and administrations will be found in Statement I. The return on productive works as a whole was 9·53 per cent on the capital outlay.

5. The importance of productive works may be gauged roughly by the value of the crops which are produced by their agency. In the year under review the estimated value of the crops irrigated by works of this class amounted to 67 crores of rupees, or about 20 crores more than the capital expenditure incurred on them.

Protective Works.

6. There were in operation in the year under review 30 protective works which together irrigated a total of 403,200 acres. The most important works are the Ramtek reservoir in the Central Provinces, the Betwa and Ken canals in the United Provinces, the Rushikulya in Madras, and the Nira and Godavari systems in the Bombay Presidency. A number of small but interesting tank works are to be found in the Central Provinces. They were sanctioned as experimental works, in accordance with the recommendations of the Irrigation Commission, in order to test how far the people were willing to resort to irrigation for the maturing of their crops and what water rates they were prepared to pay. The results obtained are gratifying and show that the people are beginning to realise the great advantages of irrigation.

Minor Works. Works for which capital and revenue accounts are kept.

7. There were 109 works so classed in 1912-13, the majority of which are in Bombay and Madras. Ten are purely navigation works. The net revenue paid by works of this category amounted to Rs. 30,01,539 (excluding navigation canals) or a return of 7·61 per cent on the capital outlay, against 7·71 per cent in the previous year. Nearly all the minor works in Sind return exceptionally high percentages; but as some large projects with which it is intended to amalgamate many existing works are under consideration, their transfer to the major works class has been postponed for the present.

Excluding the area shown under Burma, viz., 480,923 acres, which is not under actual irrigation, but represents the area of cultivation on lands reclaimed by river flood embankments, the area irrigated by minor irrigation works during 1912-13 was 1,521,029 acres against 1,344,675 acres in the previous year.

Statement III gives particulars of individual works.

8. There are numerous works which maintain only revenue accounts. They are credited with a share of the land revenue depending on their maintenance and are debited with all expenditure incurred on construction, extension, improvements and maintenance. During the year reviewed these works irrigated an area of 2½ million acres and returned a net revenue of Rs. 34,89,458.

Works for which only revenue accounts are kept.

9. As explained in the opening paragraph of this review, practically all the works of the class which have neither capital nor revenue accounts are situated in the Madras Presidency. They consist of some 37,000 tanks and irrigation channels mainly the former, the improvements and repairs of which are executed by the Public Works Department, or, in the case of the smaller works, by civil officers. The areas irrigated by works of this class in 1912-13 aggregated 3,421,917 acres. The area irrigated in 1911-12 was 3,230,191 acres.

Works for which neither capital nor Revenue Accounts are kept.

10. In the Punjab practically no rain fell during the early months of both kharif and rabi crops. The canal supplies were adequate during the kharif, but the absence of rainfall combined with the very low river supplies from October to February resulted in a smaller area being irrigated on several canals during the rabi than in the previous year. There was, however, satisfactory rainfall during the latter months of each season, and this was of considerable benefit to the crops. The absence of insect pests, frosts, floods and other adverse conditions during the year was marked, and enabled an unusually high proportion of the crops sown to mature satisfactorily. The total area irrigated by works of all classes including those of Native States was 8,429,381 acres, of which 8,052,910 acres matured, as against 7,548,515 and 6,971,556 acres, respectively, the average of the triennium ending 1911-12.

Irrigation results in the various provinces.

The increase is due mainly to the extra area brought under irrigation by the Upper Chenab canal and to sufficient volumes being available in the rivers for the inundation canals during the hot weather. The results are very satisfactory, and the area irrigated would have been even larger had not the very low river supplies during the early months of the rabi resulted in a reduced area being sown in that harvest.

The Lower Chenab canal continues to show a record of remarkable progress. It served 2,240,203 acres and earned a gross revenue of Rs. 146¾ lakhs. The net revenue realised from this canal was equivalent to 39·18 per cent on the capital outlay.

There is a noticeable improvement in the return realised from the Lower Jhelum Canal, the net revenue on which system has gone up by almost 90 per cent. This is due principally to an enhancement of land revenue and malikana.

During the year excellent progress was made with the triple project. The Upper Chenab canal which was opened at the beginning of the year gave most satisfactory results during the first year of its working, the area irrigated being 116,162 acres against 40,000 anticipated in the project forecast. The Lower Bari Doab was opened just after the close of the year reviewed and does not therefore appear among the works in operation. Neither the Upper Chenab canal nor the Lower Bari Doab canal can work to full advantage until the Upper Jhelum canal has been completed, as they cannot get a cold weather supply until the surplus water of the Jhelum river can be made available to augment the supplies of the Chenab river on which the Upper Chenab and Lower Bari Doab systems are dependent. Every effort is therefore being made to complete the Upper Jhelum canal as soon as possible. It was hoped to open the canal during October 1914, but owing to serious damage from floods suffered by the head works at Mangla in April last this hope will not be realised, and it is feared that the system will not be in operation before the beginning of 1915. Further surveys in connection with the Sutlej valley project for the utilisation of the surplus water of the Sutlej river were found necessary and were completed during the year.

11. In the United Provinces both seasons of the year were unusually dry and the demand for canal irrigation was intense.

The monsoon set in late, about the middle of July, but the rainfall which was plentiful was unevenly distributed, most of it having been received in the latter half of July and August. Heavy rain at the end of September kept the early rabi demand low and enabled a very large area to be sown without canal irrigation. The winter rains failed and the demand from December till the middle of February was everywhere intense till it was reduced by rain in mid-February. In both seasons the supply was inadequate when demand ruled high. On the Ganges canal during kharif though maximum gauges were run on the Solani aqueduct it was impossible to allot supplies according to requirements. The supply in the Jumna at Delhi was exceptionally low throughout and in July it fell to 64 cusecs which is the minimum discharge ever recorded.

The total area irrigated was 290,000 acres above the average of the three preceding years: the increase was due to the dry nature of the seasons. This area would have been much greater had it been possible to open the Ganges canal earlier. Work on the temporary bunds at Bhimgoda which train the river into the supply channel could not, on account of meteorological conditions, be started till the first week in October and thus the canal was opened much later than usual.

The total assessments of the year amounted to nearly 113 lakhs of rupees or 12 lakhs more than in 1911-12.

12. In Madras the rainfall of both monsoons was above the average and the net cropped area in the Presidency during the year under review was 39 million acres which exceeded the previous year's figures by 1¾ millions. Owing to the favourable character of the season, the area irrigated under nearly every system showed an increase on that of the previous year and on the average of the previous triennium.

13. In Sind the rainfall is usually negligible and cultivators are therefore obliged to depend almost entirely upon canal irrigation. The canals, being of the inundation class, are in turn dependent upon the height and duration of the floods in the Indus during the irrigating season. The inundation of 1912 was unfavourable, being late in arrival and ending earlier than usual. The fair irrigating level of 13 feet at Bukkur was recorded for 31 days as compared with an average of 40 days in the previous 10 years. The fair inundation level at Kotri was maintained for 59 days which is the average period in the previous 10 years. This year the rainfall was about the average, but as it was well distributed it did much good to the crops. The rabi water-supply in the great Jamrao canal was sufficient to allow of extensive rabi sowings and to give the final waterings to the kharif cotton crop. Taking Sind as a whole, the area under irrigation and gross assessed revenue during the year show an increase of 299,803 acres and 5,25,728 rupees, respectively, as compared with the figures for the previous year.

14. In Bombay (Deccan and Gujarat) the irrigation works in operation are limited in scope compared with those of other Provinces. The rainfall in Gujarat during the year was better than the average of the past 30 years and there was a good supply of water from the Hathmati river. The surplus from the canal served to fill the Bokh reservoir, and by very careful management a large area of rice which was threatened by the early cessation of rain in the Khari tract was saved. The four new tanks in Kaira filled, and irrigated over 7,000 acres against only about 600 acres of the previous year.

There was a considerable rise in the area under irrigation and gross revenue assessed on works in the Central Division mostly due to the extension of irrigation on the Godavari and Pravara canals, but partly also to the greater demand for water owing to scanty monsoon rainfall. Some eastern tanks received a welcome late supply of water in November which helped for the rabi irrigation. There was copious rainfall in the Southern Division and the irrigation was, on the whole, good though slightly less than the average.

Good progress was made during the period reviewed with the Godavari and Pravara canals, two large works of the protective class. A good start was also made with the Nira Right Bank canal project, which on completion will be the largest protective irrigation system in India.

15. The canal systems in Bengal, the most important of which are the Midnapore, the Hijili Tidal canal, the Circular and Eastern and the Madaripur Bhil systems are used principally for navigation purposes. The Midnapore canal is also utilised for irrigation.

The total area irrigated by the latter was 80,958 acres, a result which is practically the same as that attained during the previous year. The financial results of this work do not fulfil productive conditions, the revenues being just sufficient to meet the working expenses. The estimated value of crops raised on the area irrigated by it amounted to Rs. 34½ lakhs.

16. In Bihar and Orissa the Sone and Orissa canals of the productive class are used both for irrigation and navigation. The area irrigated during the year was 930,014 acres showing an increase of 145,456 acres compared with the area irrigated during the preceding year. The increase occurred on the Sone canals and was partly due to scanty rainfall of the year and the premature cessation of the monsoon. The financial results of these works do not fulfil productive conditions, but the estimated value of crops raised on the area irrigated by them amounted to over 3¼ crores of rupees, a sum which is a little less than two-thirds of the total capital cost of the works.

17. In Burma the rainfall of the year was on the whole sufficient and well distributed, the exceptions being in the Shwebo and Yamethin districts where minor works in consequence showed poor results. No floods of any magnitude occurred during the year and there was therefore no serious damage to works or destruction of crops. The year was also free from outbreaks of cattle disease. Under these conditions, to which should be added the high prices obtaining for paddy, the expansion of the cultivated area followed as a matter of course and the year was a prosperous one for irrigation generally. The area irrigated by productive works amounted to 257,749 acres as compared with 205,843 acres in the previous year.

18. In the Central Provinces the rainfall was normal and well distributed in Chhatisgarh, but scanty in the western districts, where in consequence the demand for canal supplies was keen, the area under irrigation being double that of the year previous. In these Provinces the development of canal irrigated rabi crops, other than sugarcane and garden crops, is proceeding but slowly.

19. The rainfall in the North-West Frontier Province, though only about half the normal, exceeded that of the previous year. During the early rabi, September to end of January, there was practically no rainfall, and the demand for canal water was very keen. The supplies in the rivers at the same time were low, and the rainfall in February and March was consequently of great benefit to the crops. The agricultural and other conditions of the year were favourable. The irrigated area was slightly in excess of the average of previous years.

Summary of irrigation results.

20. The following table summarises the results of irrigation works for all India during 1912-13 in comparison with those of the two previous years :—

SURVEY OF INDIA;
Calcutta, 1st July 1914.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations, and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

It will be published early in September next by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and will be procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There will be two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited and considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Official History of the Durbar, Foreign Department, Simla.

Calcutta, July 28, 1914

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

SELECTED IMPORTS, MAY 1914 AND APRIL TO MAY 1914.

The following statements showing (in cwt.) the imports of certain selected articles into Calcutta, City of Bombay, Karachi and Madras ports have been compiled* in this Department from figures furnished by Collectors of Customs, Steamer Companies, Railway Audit Officers, Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, etc. They include foreign seaborne trade, coasting trade and inland (rail and riverborne) trade statistics. The object is to show the quantities of the principal staples of agricultural produce consigned to the exporting ports for comparison with the quantities exported out of India by sea from those ports as shown in the Seaborne Trade Accounts.

TABLE I.—Summary table.

The following table shows the imports of the articles specified therein into Calcutta, City of Bombay, Karachi and Madras ports during May 1914 and their ratio with the figures for the corresponding month of the preceding year. The fluctuations in the two months ending 31st May 1914 as compared with the corresponding two months of the preceding year have also been shown:—

(1) Articles.	(2) May 1914.	(3) April to May 1914.	(4) Increase (+) or decrease (—) of col. (2) as compared with May 1913.	(5) Increase (+) or decrease (—) of column (3) as compared with two months, April to May 1913.

The following announcement is published for general information :—

In the announcement of the 3rd August on the subject of the measures contemplated by the Government of India for the support of exchange, it was stated that in view of the necessity for conserving their available resources for that object the Government of India found it necessary to place restrictions upon the issue of gold in India, and it was accordingly directed that no gold should be issued, whether from currency offices or treasuries, in amounts of less than £ 10,000 to any individual applicant.

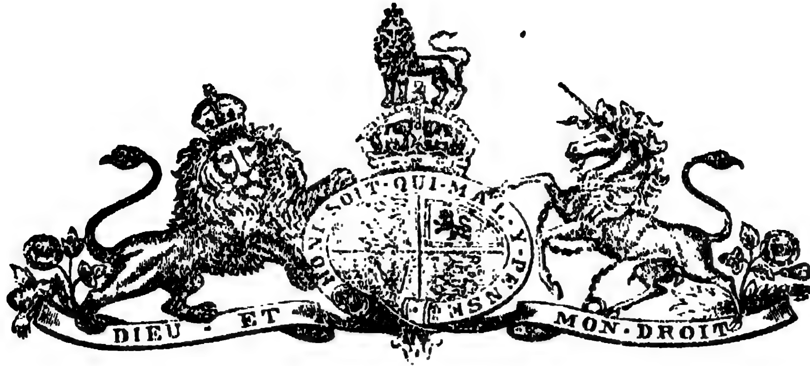

The situation in which those orders were passed has now been changed by the declaration of war between England and Germany, and a more prolonged period of weakness of exchange, accompanied by the sale of sterling bills on London, must now be anticipated : it has thus become necessary to reserve the entire gold resources of the Government of India absolutely for their primary function of supporting exchange and contributing to the Secretary of State's requirements.

For these reasons, the Government of India have now directed, with the approval of the Secretary of State for India, that no further issues of gold, whether from currency offices or from treasuries, shall be made.

The following Order of HIS MAJESTY THE KING IN COUNCIL which is to take effect from the 4th August, 1914, is published for general information and guidance.

At the Court of Buckingham Palace, the 4th day of August, 1914.

PRESENT:

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

His Majesty being mindful, now that a state of war exists between this country and Germany, of the recognition accorded to the practice of granting "days of grace" to enemy merchant ships by the Convention relative to the Status of Enemy Merchant Ships at the Outbreak of Hostilities, signed at the Hague on the 18th October, 1907, and being desirous of lessening, so far as may be practicable, the injury caused by war to peaceful and unsuspecting commerce, is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:—

1. From and after the publication of this Order no enemy merchant ship shall be allowed to depart, except in accordance with the provisions of this Order, from any British port or from any ports in any Native State in India, or in any of His Majesty's Protectorates, or in any State under His Majesty's protection or in Cyprus.

2. In the event of one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State being satisfied by information reaching him not later than midnight on Friday the 7th day of August, that the treatment accorded to British merchant ships and their cargoes, which at the date of the outbreak of hostilities were in the ports of the enemy, or which subsequently entered them, is not less favourable than the treatment accorded to enemy merchant ships by Articles 3 to 7 of this Order, he shall notify the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty accordingly, and public notice thereof shall forthwith be given in the "London Gazette", and Articles 3 to 8 of this Order shall thereupon come into full force and effect.

3. Subject to the provisions of this Order, enemy merchant ships which—

(i) at the date of the outbreak of hostilities were in any port in which this Order applies; or shall be allowed up till midnight (Greenwich Mean Time), on Friday the 14th day of August for loading or unloading their cargoes and for departing from such port:

(ii) cleared from their last port before the declaration of war, and, after the outbreak of hostilities, enter a port to which this Order applies, with no knowledge of the war:

Provided that such vessels shall not be allowed to ship any contraband of war, and any contraband of war already shipped on such vessels must be discharged.

4. Enemy merchant ships which cleared from their last port before the declaration of war, and which with no knowledge of the war arrive at a port to which this Order applies after the expiry of the time allowed by Article 3 for loading or unloading cargo and for departing, and are permitted to enter, may be required to depart either immediately, or within such time as may be considered necessary by the Customs Officer of the port for the unloading of such cargo as they may be required or specially permitted to discharge.

Provided that such vessels may, as a condition of being allowed to discharge cargo, be required to proceed to any other specified British port, and shall there be allowed such time for discharge as the Customs Officer of that port may consider to be necessary.

Provided also that, if any cargo on board such vessel is contraband of war or is requisitioned under Article 5 of this Order, she may be required before departure to discharge such cargo within such time as the Customs Officer of the port may consider to be necessary; or she may be required to proceed, if necessary under escort, to any other of the ports specified in Article 1 of this Order, and shall there discharge the contraband under the like conditions.

5. His Majesty reserves the right recognised by the said Convention to requisition at any time subject to payment of compensation enemy cargo on board any vessel to which Articles 3 and 4 of this Order apply.

6. The privileges accorded by Articles 3 and 4 are not to extend to cable ships, or to sea-going ships designed to carry oil fuel, or to ships whose tonnage exceeds 5,000 tons gross, or whose speed is 14 knots or over, regarding which the entries in Lloyd's Register shall be conclusive for the purposes of this Article. Such vessels will remain liable on adjudication by the Prize Court to detention during the period of the war, or to requisition, in accordance, in either case, with the Convention aforesaid. The said privileges will also not extend to merchant ships which show by their build that they are intended for conversion into warships, as such vessels are outside the scope of the said Convention, and are liable on adjudication by the Prize Court to condemnation as prize.

7. Enemy merchant ships allowed to depart under Articles 3 and 4 will be provided with a pass indicating the port to which they are to proceed, and the route they are to follow.

8. A merchant ship which, after receipt of such a pass, does not follow the course indicated therein will be liable to capture.

9. If no information reaches one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State by the day and hour aforementioned to the effect that the treatment accorded to British merchant ships and their cargoes which were in the ports of the enemy at the date of the outbreak of hostilities, or which subsequently entered them, is, in his opinion, not less favourable than that accorded to enemy merchant ships by Articles 3 to 8 of this Order, every enemy merchant ship which, on the outbreak of hostilities, was in any port to which this Order applies, and also every enemy merchant ship which cleared from its last port before the declaration of war, but which, with no knowledge of the war, enters a port to which this Order applies, shall, together with the cargo on board thereof, be liable to capture, and shall be brought before the Prize Court forthwith for adjudication.

10. In the event of information reaching one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State that British merchant ships which cleared from their last port before the declaration of war, but are met with by the enemy at sea after the outbreak of hostilities, are allowed to continue their voyage without interference with either the ship or the cargo, or after capture are released with or without proceedings for adjudication in the Prize Court, or are to be detained during the war or requisitioned in lieu of condemnation as prize, he shall notify the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty accordingly, and shall publish a notification thereof in the "London Gazette," and in that event, but not otherwise, enemy merchant ships which cleared from their last port before the declaration of war, and are captured after the outbreak of hostilities and brought before the Prize Courts for adjudication, shall be released or detained or requisitioned in such cases and upon such terms as may be directed in the said notification in the "London Gazette."

11. Neutral cargo, other than contraband of war, on board an enemy merchant ship which is not allowed to depart from a port to which this Order applies, shall be released.

12. In accordance with the provisions of Chapter III of the Convention relative to certain Restrictions on the Exercise of the Right of Capture in Maritime War, signed at the Hague on the 18th October 1907, an undertaking must, whether the merchant ship is allowed to depart or not, be given in writing by each of the officers and members of the crew of such vessel, who is of enemy nationality, that he will not, after the conclusion of the voyage for which the pass is issued, engage while hostilities last in any service connected with the operation of the war. If any such officer is of neutral nationality, an undertaking must be given in writing that he will not serve, after the conclusion of the voyage for which the pass is issued, on any enemy ship while hostilities last. No undertaking is to be required from members of the crew who are of neutral nationality.

Officers or members of the crew declining to give the undertakings required by this Article will be detained as prisoners of war.

And the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, and each of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and all Governors, Officers, and Authorities whom it may concern are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain.

And whereas by an Order in Council made on the 7th day of May, 1907, and cited as "The Persian Coast and Islands Order in Council 1907," provision was made for the exercise of such jurisdiction by a Court held by the person for the time being holding the office of His Majesty's Consul-General for Fars and the Coasts and Islands of the Persian Gulf, and of Political Resident in the Persian Gulf, or by the Judicial Assistant;

And whereas by an Act passed in the 37th year of the reign of Her late Majesty Queen Victoria, intituled "The Slave Trade (East African Courts) Act, 1873", it was, amongst other things, provided that:—

"Where any Treaty in relation to the Slave Trade is made after the passing of this Act, by or on behalf of Her Majesty, with any foreign State in Arabia, or on the East Coast of Africa, or on the shores of the Persian Gulf, or in any Island lying off Arabia or off such coast or shores, including the islands of Zanzibar and Madagascar, and the Comoro Islands, Her Majesty may, by Order in Council, direct that as from such date, not being earlier than the date of the Treaty, as may be specified in the Order, such Treaty shall be deemed, and thereupon (as from the said date, or if no date is specified, as from the date of such Order) such Treaty shall be deemed to be an existing East African Slave Trade Treaty within the meaning of this Act, and the provisions of this Act shall apply and be construed accordingly."

And it was further provided that:—

"Her Majesty may by such Order, or any subsequent Order referring to the same Treaty, direct that any Court, Consul, or person authorized by or in pursuance of an Order in Council to exercise within the dominions of the foreign State with whom the Treaty is made jurisdiction in matters relating to the Slave Trade shall, subject to the conditions, exceptions, and limitations, if any, contained in the Order, exercise all the jurisdiction conferred by this Act on the East African Courts; and such Court, Consul, or person, when exercising such jurisdiction, shall be deemed to be one of the East African Courts within the meaning of this Act;"

And whereas on the 2nd day of March, 1882, a Treaty or Convention was concluded between Her late Majesty and His Majesty the Shah of Persia for the suppression of the Slave Trade, in the following terms, that is to say:—

"In the Name of God, the Almighty, all Merciful.

"Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Empress of India, and His Majesty the Shah of Persia, being mutually animated by a sincere desire to co-operate for the extinction of the barbarous Traffic in Slaves, have resolved to conclude a Convention for the purpose of attaining this object, and have named as their Plenipotentiaries, that is to say:—

"Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Empress of India, Ronald Ferguson Thomson, Esquire, Her Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary at the Court of Persia;

"And His Majesty the Shah of Persia, His Excellency Mirza Saeed Khan, his Minister for Foreign Affairs;

"Who after having communicated to each other their full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed upon and concluded the following Articles:—

"ARTICLE I.

"In order to prevent the chance of negro slaves, male and female, being imported into Persia, British cruisers shall be permitted to visit and detain merchant-vessels under the Persian flag, or belonging to Persian subjects, which may be engaged in or which there may be reasonable grounds for suspecting to be or to have been engaged, during the voyage on which they are met, in carrying slaves; and if any such slaves are found on board such merchant-vessels, the vessel, with all on board, shall be taken before the nearest Persian authorities for trial. But no person whatsoever who, being furnished with a Government passport, countersigned by a British resident or consul, may have gone from Persia to visit the places of pilgrimage shall, when returning, be interfered with, provided such person be not accompanied by more negroes, either male or female, than the number mentioned in his original pass. The presence of any such additional negro or negroes shall be primâ facie evidence of an attempted Traffic in Slaves.

"ARTICLE II.

"If any merchant-vessel under the Persian flag be captured by a British cruiser and taken into a Persian port for adjudication, it shall be the officer of the British cruiser making the capture, or some duly authorized officer of the British Government, who shall be present at such adjudication.

In the event of the captured merchant-vessel being condemned and sold the proceeds of such sale shall go to the Persian Government, and all slaves found on board such vessel shall he handed over to the British authorities.

"ARTICLE III.

"His Majesty the Shah of Persia agrees to punish severely all Persian subjects or foreigners amenable to Persian jurisdiction who may be found engaging in Slave Traffic by sea, and to manumit and guarantee the safety and proper treatment of all slaves illegally imported, that is to say, imported by sea, into His Majesty's dominions after the signature of the present Convention.

"ARTICLE IV.

"The present Convention shall come into operation on the first of May, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two. After the Convention shall so have been brought into operation Article XIII of the Treaty between Great Britain and Persia, signed at Paris on the fourth of March, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-seven, by which the agreement entered into by Great Britain and Persia in August, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-one, was renewed, shall be considered as cancelled except as to any proceeding that may have already been taken or commenced in virtue thereof.

"ARTICLE V.

"The ratifications of the present Convention shall be exchanged at Tehran within five months or sooner, if practicable.

"Done at Tehran in quadruplicate, this second day of the month of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

NOW, THEREFORE, His Majesty, by virtue and in exercise of the powers in this behalf as aforesaid, and by virtue and in exercise of the powers in this behalf by 'The Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890", or otherwise, in His Majesty vested, is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:—

1. The said Treaty or Convention hereinbefore recited shall from the 1st day of August, 1914, be deemed to be an existing East African Slave Trade Treaty within the meaning of "The Slave Trade (East African Courts) Act, 1873".

2. Subject to the provisions of this Order, it shall be lawful for the Court established under "The Persian Coast and Islands Order in Council, 1907", to exercise jurisdiction in matters relating to the Slave Trade.

3. Subject to the provisions of this Order, the Court established under "The Persian Coast and Islands Order in Council, 1907", shall exercise all the jurisdiction conferred by "The Slave Trade (East African Courts) Act, 1873", on the East African Courts, and the said Court, when exercising such jurisdiction, shall be deemed to be one of the East African Courts within the meaning of the said Act.

4. This Order shall be published in the Gazette of India within such time after the passing thereof as the Secretary of State may prescribe, and shall come into force on the 1st day of August, 1914.

5. This Order may be cited as "The Persian Coast and Islands (Slave Trade Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1914", and shall be read as one with "The Persian Coast and Islands Order in Council, 1907".

And the Most Honourable the Marquess of Crewe, K.G., and the Right Honourable Sir Edward Grey, Baronet, K.G., two of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain.

P. Z. COX,

Secretary to the Government of India.

Simla, the 5th August, 1914.

No. 9-W.—The following Order of HIS MAJESTY THE KING IN COUNCIL which is to take effect from the 4th August, 1914, is published for general information and guidance.

At the Court of Buckingham Palace, the 4th day of August, 1914.

PRESENT:

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

His Majesty being mindful, now that a state of war exists between this country and Germany, of the recognition accorded to the practice of granting "days of grace" to enemy merchant ships by the Convention relative to the Status of Enemy Merchant Ships at the Outbreak of Hostilities, signed at the Hague on the 18th October, 1907, and being desirous of lessening, so far as may be practicable, the injury caused by war to peaceful and unsuspecting commerce, is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:—

1. From and after the publication of this Order no enemy merchant ship shall be allowed to depart, except in accordance with the provisions of this Order, from any British port or from any ports in any Native State in India, or in any of His Majesty's Protectorates, or in any State under His Majesty's protection or in Cyprus.

2. In the event of one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State being satisfied by information reaching him not later than midnight on Friday the 7th day of August, that the treatment accorded to British merchant ships and their cargoes, which at the date of the outbreak of hostilities were in the ports of the enemy, or which subsequently entered them, is not less favourable than the treatment accorded to enemy merchant ships by Articles 3 to 7 of this Order, he shall notify the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty accordingly, and public notice thereof shall forthwith be given in the "London Gazette", and Articles 3 to 8 of this Order shall thereupon come into full force and effect.

3 Subject to the provisions of this Order, enemy merchant ships which—

(i) at the date of the outbreak of hostilities were in any port in which this Order applies; or shall be allowed up till midnight (Greenwich Mean Time), on Friday the 14th day of August for loading or unloading their cargoes and for departing from such port:

(ii) cleared from their last port before the declaration of war, and, after the outbreak of hostilities, enter a port to which this Order applies, with no knowledge of the war:

Provided that such vessels shall not be allowed to ship any contraband of war, and any contraband of war already shipped on such vessels must be discharged.

4. Enemy merchant ships which cleared from their last port before the declaration of war, and which with no knowledge of the war arrive at a port to which this Order applies after the expiry of the time allowed by Article 3 for loading or unloading cargo and for departing, and are permitted to enter, may be required to depart either immediately, or within such time as may be considered necessary by the Customs Officer of the port for the unloading of such cargo as they may be required or specially permitted to discharge.

Provided that such vessels may, as a condition of being allowed to discharge cargo, be required to proceed to any other specified British port, and shall there be allowed such time for discharge as the Customs Officer of that port may consider to be necessary.

Provided also that, if any cargo on board such vessel is contraband of war or is requisitioned under Article 5 of this Order, she may be required before departure to discharge such cargo within such time as the Customs Officer of the port may consider to be necessary; or she may be required to proceed, if necessary under escort, to any other of the ports specified in Article 1 of this Order, and shall there discharge the contraband under the like conditions.

5. His Majesty reserves the right recognised by the said Convention to requisition at any time subject to payment of compensation enemy cargo on board any vessel to which Articles 3 and 4 of this Order apply.

6. The privileges accorded by Articles 3 and 4 are not to extend to cable ships, or to sea-going ships designed to carry oil fuel, or to ships whose tonnage exceeds 5,000 tons gross, or whose speed is 14 knots or over, regarding which the entries in Lloyd's Register shall be conclusive for the purposes of this Article. Such vessels will remain liable on adjudication by the Prize Court to detention during the period of the war, or to requisition, in accordance, in either case, with the Convention aforesaid. The said privileges will also not extend to merchant ships which show by their build that they are intended for conversion into warships, as such vessels are outside the scope of the said Convention, and are liable on adjudication by the Prize Court to condemnation as prize.

7. Enemy merchant ships allowed to depart under Articles 3 and 4 will be provided with a pass indicating the port to which they are to proceed, and the route they are to follow.

8. A merchant ship which, after receipt of such a pass, does not follow the course indicated therein will be liable to capture.

9. If no information reaches one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State by the day and hour aforementioned to the effect that the treatment accorded to British merchant ships and their cargoes which were in the ports of the enemy at the date of the outbreak of hostilities, or which subsequently entered them, is, in his opinion, not less favourable than that accorded to enemy merchant ships by Articles 3 to 8 of this Order, every enemy merchant ship which, on the outbreak of hostilities, was in any port to which this Order applies, and also every enemy merchant ship which cleared from its last port before the declaration of war, but which, with no knowledge of the war, enters a port to which this Order applies, shall, together with the cargo on board thereof, be liable to capture, and shall be brought before the Prize Court forthwith for adjudication.

10. In the event of information reaching one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State that British merchant ships which cleared from their last port before the declaration of war, but are met with by the enemy at sea after the outbreak of hostilities, are allowed to continue their voyage without interference with either the ship or the cargo, or after capture are released with or without proceedings for adjudication in the Prize Court, or are to be detained during the war or requisitioned in lieu of condemnation as prize, he shall notify the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty accordingly, and shall publish a notification thereof in the "London Gazette," and in that event, but not otherwise, enemy merchant ships which cleared from their last port before the declaration of war, and are captured after the outbreak of hostilities and brought before the Prize Courts for adjudication, shall be released or detained or requisitioned in such cases and upon such terms as may be directed in the said notification in the "London Gazette."

11. Neutral cargo, other than contraband of war, on board an enemy merchant ship which is not allowed to depart from a port to which this Order applies, shall be released.

12. In accordance with the provisions of Chapter III of the Convention relative to certain Restrictions on the Exercise of the Right of Capture in Maritime War, signed at the Hague on the 18th October 1907, an undertaking must, whether the merchant ship is allowed to depart or not, be given in writing by each of the officers and members of the crew of such vessel, who is of enemy nationality, that he will not, after the conclusion of the voyage for which the pass is issued, engage while hostilities last in any service connected with the operation of the war. If any such officer is of neutral nationality, an undertaking must be given in writing that he will not serve, after the conclusion of the voyage for which the pass is issued, on any enemy ship while hostilities last. No undertaking is to be required from members of the crew who are of neutral nationality.

Officers or members of the crew declining to give the undertakings required by this Article will be detained as prisoners of war.

And the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, and each of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and all Governors, Officers, and Authorities whom it may concern are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain.

Almeric FitzRoy,

P. Z. COX,

Secretary to the Government of India.

Note to Article 3.—Railway Standard Time for all ports in India and Burma will be adopted, viz :—

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.

BILLS AND REMITTANCES.

The 3rd August, 1914.

No. 1064-F.—The following announcement is published for general information :—

The Government of India announce, with the approval of the Secretary of State, that they will support exchange by all the means in their power.

(1) In pursuance of this policy they will sell sterling bills on London, from this week onwards and until further notice, up to a maximum limit of £ 1 million a week, at the rate of 1*s.* $3\frac{29}{32}$d. the rupee.

Any applicant to whom an allotment is made can, at his option, instead of bills, receive telegraphic transfers, at a rate which is fixed for the present at 1*s* $3\frac{15}{16}$ d. the rupee for the amount allotted to him or any portion thereof, provided that the intention to exercise such option has been intimated in his original application.

The amount of bills issued will be in multiples of £1,000 and no single bill will be issued for a smaller amount than £10,000.

Bills will be issued at Calcutta, Bombay and Madras.

All applications should be addressed to the Controller of Currency at Calcutta, and should reach him not later than 12 noon (standard time) on Thursday in each week, beginning from the current week. Applications may be made by telegram. Supplementary detailed instructions will be issued by the Controller of Currency.

(2) Secondly, in view of the necessity for conserving all available resources for the support of exchange, the Government of India direct that for the present no gold shall be issued, whether from the currency offices or treasuries, in amounts of less than £10,000 for any individual applicant. This condition will have effect from Tuesday, August 4th.

The 6th August, 1914.

No. 1083-F.—The following announcement is published for general information :—

In the announcement of the 3rd August on the subject of the measures contemplated by the Government of India for the support of exchange, it was stated that in view of the necessity for conserving their available resources for that object the Government of India found it necessary to place restrictions upon the issue of gold in India, and it was accordingly directed that no gold should be issued, whether from currency offices or treasuries, in amounts of less than £ 10,000 to any individual applicant.

The situation in which those orders were passed has now been changed by the declaration of war between England and Germany, and a more prolonged period of weakness of exchange, accompanied by the sale of sterling bills on London, must now be anticipated: it has thus become necessary to reserve the entire gold resources of the Government of India absolutely for their primary function of supporting exchange and contributing to the Secretary of State's requirements.

For these reasons, the Government of India have now directed, with the approval of the Secretary of State for India, that no further issues of gold, whether from currency offices or from treasuries, shall be made.

Secretary to the Government of India.

EMIGRATION.

No. 6809—6825—108.

The 6th August 1914.

RESOLUTION.—By the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

Intimation has been received from His Britannic Majesty's Consul at Pernambuco that Indian immigrants run a great risk in proceeding to Brazil with no knowledge of the Portuguese language, without assured employment, or with insufficient money to reach their destination should they have work assured to them, and that the wages for unskilled labourers in Pernambuco are insufficient to provide for the wants of Indian immigrants owing to the dearness of the necessaries of life.

The Governor-General in Council accordingly requests all Local Governments and Administrations to give the above intimation wide publicity, particularly in places from which emigration to Brazil is believed to be most common. Intending emigrants should also be warned at the port of embarkation of the risks they run in proceeding to Brazil.

Ordered, that a copy of the above resolution be forwarded for information and guidance to the Local Governments and Administrations noted in the margin and to the Home and Foreign Departments for information.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 6th August 1914, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. The monsoon weakened in northwest India and the Peninsula, but was very active in Burma, northeast India, the east of the United Provinces and Central India. A depression formed over Bihar and Chota Nagpur on the 3rd, and moved very slowly westnorthwestwards into the east of Central India. It caused a concentration of rainfall in its neighbourhood, but the rainfall of the week was on the whole well distributed, and was below the average in only a few divisions, chiefly in northwest India.

2. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general on every day of the week in Lower Burma, and on the 2nd and 3rd August in Upper Burma.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Nearly general rain fell in Assam on the 31st July and 1st, 3rd, 4th and 5th August, in Bengal and Orissa on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th August, in Chota Nagpur on the 31st July and the 2nd, 3rd and 5th August, and in Bihar on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd August.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—There was nearly general rain on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th August in the east of the United Provinces, on the 30th July and 4th and 5th August in the west of the United Provinces, on the 31st July and 2nd August in Central India West, on the 31st July and 3rd and 5th August in Central India East, on every day of the week except the 31st July in the east of the Central Provinces, and on the 30th July and 2nd August in the west of the Central Provinces.

Northwest India.—Rainfall was nearly general in the southwest Punjab on the 1st August, and in Rajputana on the 30th July. Only local falls occurred in other parts of northwest India.

The Peninsula.—There was nearly general rain every day in the Konkan, on the 30th and 31st July and 1st and 3rd August in Malabar, on every day except the 3rd and 5th August in North Hyderabad, on the 31st July and 4th August in south Hyderabad, and on the 31st July in Mysore. Rain fell locally elsewhere.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 1st August 1914.

Burma.—Ample rain fell in Lower Burma. In the dry zone the fall was light. The cultivation of winter rice and upland crops is proceeding normally. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Cattle are healthy. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon has again risen.

Assam.—Rain has fallen in all districts and facilitated agricultural operations and growth of standing crops. Plucking and manufacture of tea, ploughing for and transplanting of winter rice seedlings and sugarcane and harvesting of early rice and jute are in progress. Prospects of tea are good and the outturn of early rice and jute is fair. Some damage by insects to jute crops has been reported from Darrang and Nowgong. The average price of common rice has fallen by nearly 2½ per cent. Cattle disease is reported from four districts.

Bengal.—During the week under review light to moderate rain fell throughout the Province except in Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Bakarganj, Chittagong, Noakhali and the Chittagong Hill Tracts where the rainfall was seasonable. More rain is urgently wanted in a number of places. Harvesting of autumn rice is progressing favourably but that of jute is being delayed for want of steeping water. Transplantation of winter rice is also being retarded owing to deficient rainfall. Further reports of damage to jute by insect pests have been received from parts of Nadia, Murshidabad, Jessore and Midnapore. Cattle disease is reported from fourteen districts. The average price of common rice has risen by about 0·3 per cent as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—Generally light to moderate rain fell throughout the Province. Transplantation of winter rice is going on but more rain is urgently wanted for this operation and also for the standing crops in most districts of Bihar and in Angul and Hazaribagh. Harvesting of jute has commenced in Purnea and Cuttack but more rain is badly required in the former district for steeping of the crop. Standing crops are on the whole doing well. The average price of common rice has risen slightly as compared with that of the previous week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from 15 districts. Agricultural prospects in the Feudatory States of Orissa are on the whole good.

United Provinces.—General rain has fallen throughout the Provinces but more rain is needed in Sitapur, Ballia and in the Rampur State. Sowing of autumn crops are nearing completion and weeding continues. Transplantation of late rice and preparation of land for spring crops are in progress. Standing crops are in good condition. Cattle disease is reported to have increased during the week. Fodder is dear in Bulandshahr, Aligarh and Sitapur but is ample elsewhere. Water is sufficient. Markets are well stocked. Prices are generally stationary with a slight upward tendency.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows :—Good rain has fallen throughout the distressed area but more rain is needed in parts of Shahjahanpur. A break is now needed in parts of Bundelkhand. Civil works are only open in Etawah. Aided works are in progress in Moradabad, Agra, Budaun, Shahjahanpur, Fatehpur and Bundelkhand and unaided private works in Agra, Budaun and in Bundelkhand. A poorhouse is open in Banda and those in Etawah and Hamirpur have been closed. Gratuitous relief is being distributed throughout the distressed area. Valedictory doles are being given to 509 persons in Bareilly from the 27th July and gratuitous relief has been discontinued in Moradabad. The number of persons on relief on the last day of the week were :—Civil works, Etawah 3,052; Aided works, Jalaun 193, Hamirpur 172, Banda 8, total on works 3,425. Dependants, Etawah 1,480. Gratuitous relief, Etawah 5,698, Jalaun 26,444, Hamirpur 14,543, Banda 58,307; total 104,992. Poorhouses, Banda 23. Grand total 109,920. The number of persons on aided works on the last day of the week were :—Moradabad 125, Agra 36, Budaun 939, Shahjahanpur 132, Fatehpur 63, Jhansi 1,147, total on works 2,442. The number of persons on unaided private works were :—Agra 150, Budaun 104, Jalaun 859, Jhansi 2,073, Hamirpur 43, Banda 5; total on works 3,234. On gratuitous relief from charitable funds the numbers were :—Moradabad 707, Budaun 434, Fatehpur 28; total 1,169. Grand total 4,403. Advances are being made for the purchase of seed and of cattle and for pakka wells. There is still some distress among non-workers in Jhansi and among higher castes in Banda. Crime has increased slightly in Etawah and in Bundelkhand but is normal elsewhere. The public health is generally good. Cattle are improving generally and disease is only prevalent in Jalaun. Clothing and cash doles are being provided from charitable funds and grants are also being made to cultivators for purchase of cattle and of seed. Fodder and water are ample everywhere. Market supplies are sufficient. The price basis is from 9 to 13 seers per rupee

Punjab.—Heavy rain fell in the Southeast and in parts of the Submontane and Western Districts and moderate in the rest of the reporting districts. It is more than sufficient and a break is wanted. Excessive rains have damaged crops on low lands in parts of the Submontane and Central Districts. Katra is also damaging crops in parts of the Southeast. The condition of standing crops is otherwise generally good. Unirrigated sowings of autumn crops and ploughing for spring crops in parts continue. Sowings are normal. Cattle are generally healthy and fodder is sufficient. Prices of wheat range between normal and warning rates and of other food grains between warning and scarcity rates.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rainfall was reported from all parts of the Province to be weak. The weather is wet and cloudy but cool and temperate. The condition of crops is good. The Paharpur Canal has been damaged by rains and is not running. Cattle are in good condition. In certain villages of Bannu there is some scarcity of water. The public health is good Prices are stationary in Peshawar and are rising slightly in Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan.

Jammu—The rainfall was good. Prices are fluctuating Wheat sells from 10½ to 18 seers and maize from 13 to 21 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is good. Cattle disease of a mild type prevails in one tahsil of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall was insignificant. Standing crops are in good condition. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are normal. Fodder and water are sufficient.

Rajputana.—The rainfall was general, the maximum fall being 783 cents in the Tonk District and the minimum 83 cents in Merwara. The weather is cloudy. Fresh sowings have been necessitated in parts of Kotah and Karauli owing to excessive rain. Weeding is in progress. Standing crops are fair to good. Prospects are favourable at present. Pasturage and water are sufficient. The condition of cattle is generally satisfactory. Prices are generally high and stationary. The numbers on gratuitous relief were :—Ajmer 6 and Merwara 104.

Central India.—The rainfall was general throughout the Agency. Rain is sufficient for present requirements. A break in the rains is needed in Bundelkhand and parts of Gwalior. Sowing and weeding of autumn crops are in progress throughout except in parts of Gwalior and Bundelkhand where operations have been retarded owing to excessive rain Standing crops are good throughout except in Makla and have been damaged in parts of Sitamau. Cattle disease prevails in parts of Gwalior, Indore and Bundelkhand. Fodder is sufficient throughout. Central Provinces.—Good rain was received throughout the Province. The heaviest falls being 8½ inches at Bilaspur, 6¾ inches at Jubbulpore and 5¾ inches at Raipur; elsewhere the quantity registered at headquarters did not exceed 4½ inches. A break would be beneficial generally. Transplantation and thinning of rice were in progress. The condition of the crops is generally good and prospects are favourable. Fodder and water are sufficient. Agricultural stock is in good condition. Juar fell by 2½ seers per rupee in Yeotmal. Elsewhere prices remained steady or fluctuated slightly, exhibiting a downward tendency.

Feudatory States :—Eleven States received good rain during the week. Weeding, thinning and transplantation continued. Rice rose by 2 seers per rupee in Sarangarh.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows :—The numbers on relief were :—Wokrs nil, gratuitous 13,080. Distress is slight and is decreasing. Contraction of relief will now be possible. Prices show a continued tendency to fall. The condition of people and cattle is satisfactory. Reports are satisfactory from all districts.

Bombay.—General and sufficient rain fell during the week throughout the Presidency. It was excessive in Gujarat, Nasik, Satara and Belgaum where a break is necessary. More rain is still needed in Cutch and the eastern parts of Poona and Sholapur. Sowing continues except in Surat and Nasik where it has been retarded owing to excessive rain. Transplantation is nearly over. Seedlings are flourishing except for damage done by hill torrents in three talukas of the Upper Sind Frontier; by floods in three talukas of Karachi and by excessive rain in Nasik and Satara and in four talukas of Larkana. The fodder supply is inadequate in three talukas of Karachi and two talukas of Larkana owing to floods and in two talukas of Poona, five talukas of Sholapur and two talukas of Satara. Cattle are generally in good condition. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in Ahmedabad Drinking water is generally sufficient. Irrigation water is deficient in Poona, Sholapur, Satara and Bijapur. Prices are generally steady. The numbers on gratuitous relief during the week ending 1st August were :—Sholapur, Satara and Bijapur 3,399.

Hyderabad.—Excessive rain fell in parts of the Parbhani, Nander, Nizamabad and Karimnagar Districts and copious elsewhere. The average for the dominions was 3 inches 43 cents. Autumn crops and early rice sowings are progressing but they have been suspended in parts owing to heavy and continuous rain. Crops are being weeded and are generally fair to good but have been somewhat damaged by excessive rain. Autumn crops in parts of Nizamabad have been damaged by insects. Land is being prepared for sowing of spring crops. Water scarcity prevails in two and cattle disease in six talukas. Prices of grains are almost stationary. The highest price in districts is 8¼ seers per rupee in Mahbubnagar and the lowest 23 seers per rupee in Nander.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good in Kadur and Shimoga and light elsewhere. Prices of food grains are generally steady. Markets are well supplied. Ploughing, sowing and transplanting operations are in progress in parts. Standing crops are in fair condition Prospects of the season are generally fair but more rain is needed. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are generally available except in Bangalore and Kolar where fodder scarcity prevails.

Coorg.—The rainfall has been general throughout the Province. Ploughing for and transplanting of rice continue. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was very heavy in the West Coast except Travancore, good to heavy in the Circars, Kurnool, Banganapalle, Nellore, the Nilgiris and light to fair elsewhere. Standing crops are fair to good generally but have been affected by floods in parts of Kistna and Guntur, they are withering in parts of Madura and require rain in parts of Chittoor and Salem. No harvesting is being carried out in nine districts but paddy and dry crops are being harvested in others. The outturn is fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding normally in parts. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water supply is insufficient for irrigation in parts except in the Circars and Chingleput, the West Coast and the Nilgiris. Pasture has improved and fodder is generally sufficient. Prices are stationary.

APPLICATION FOR AMENDMENT UNDER SECTION 17.

Notice is hereby given that all persons interested in opposing the following application to amend may at any time within three months of the date of this Gazette of India, give notice at the Patent Office in the prescribed form No. 5 of such opposition.

121 of 1908. Kendell and Company, Limited, of Bank Street, Bombay, seek leave to amend the specification of their application for a patent numbered as above. The proposed amendments as shown in the specification are as follows:—

On page 2, line 7, by inserting the words "of the paper" after the word "manufacture".

On page 2, line 7, by substituting the words "being mixed with the paper" for the words "distributed upon the raw".

On page 2, line 8, by substituting the words "itself and the paper is then" for the words "which is".

On page 2, line 11, by inserting the words "parallel to the paper surface;" after the word "lie".

On page 2, line 12, by substituting the words "they do not lie" for the word "not".

On page 2, line 13, by substituting the word "protruding" for the words "they lie at the surface of the roller."

On page 2, by adding the following two paras. before the preamble to the claim.

"We are aware of moulded discs for Gin Roller washers being made from a mixture of pulp and coir; but in this case the fibres form an entangled mass and the surface of the roller does not present the same uniform rough surface necessary for a Gin Roller as in the case of our invention.

In our invention the unpulped coir or other fibre is cut into suitable lengths and is added to the paper in the paper making process, and is incorporated with the paper so as to lie parallel to its surface. From this compound or combination of paper and coir suitable discs or washers are cut with holes in the centre and then jammed or screwed tight on a shaft. The discs being placed edgewise on the shaft present innumerable spiked edges evenly distributed on the roller's surface, after the roller is turned. The spikes protrude just above the surface of the roller and a rough surface which is always uniform continues to be presented as the roller wears down."

On page 2, by adding the following claim.

"2. The combination of coir and paper during the process of manufacture of the paper for the purpose of a gin roller substantially as described."

TORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations, and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

It will be published early in September next by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and will be procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There will be two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited and considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Official History of the Durbar, Foreign Department, Simla.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 13th August 1914, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. The depression which was in the east of the United Provinces at the close of the previous week remained almost stationary and continued to determine rainfall to the central parts of the country until it disappeared on the 8th. A disturbance of the winter type appeared in Kashmir on the 9th, and with its assistance the monsoon gave fairly heavy general rain in the belt of country extending from the North-West Frontier Province to Bihar and Chota Nagpur. As this disturbance passed away, the monsoon weakened considerably, and although the Bay current continued to give rain in Burma and parts of northeast India, the Arabian Sea current at the close of the week was giving very little rain, except in south India, where it is usual for rainfall to increase during a break in the rains. On the 13th there were indications of a depression forming in the Bay off the north Madras coast.

2. Burma.—The 7th was the only day on which rainfall was not nearly general in Lower Burma. Local falls occurred in Upper Burma, chiefly in the northern districts, except on the 12th when rainfall was nearly general.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Nearly general rain fell in Assam on the 6th, 9th, 10th and 11th; in Bengal on the 7th; in Orissa on the 6th; in Chota Nagpur on the 6th, 9th and 11th; and in Bihar on the 10th, 11th and 12th.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—There was nearly general rain in the east of the United Provinces on the 9th and 11th; in the west of the United Provinces on the 6th, 8th, 9th and 10th; in Central India on the 6th, 7th and 8th; and in the Central Provinces on the 6th and 7th.

Northwest India.—Rainfall was nearly general in the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province on the 9th, in east Rajputana on the 7th and 8th, and in Gujarat on the 12th. There were local falls in Kashmir, northeast Baluchistan, upper Sind and west Rajputana.

The Peninsula.—Nearly general rain fell every day on the west coast, on the 6th, 7th and 8th in Hyderabad, on the 11th in Mysore, and on the 8th and 12th in the Madras Deccan. There was local rain in the Bombay Deccan, southeast Madras and on the north Madras coast.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 8th August 1914.

Burma.—The rainfall in Lower Burma was heavy and in the dry zone satisfactory but unevenly distributed. The cultivation of winter rice continues and that of upland winter crops has commenced. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Cattle are healthy. Prices are normal.

Assam.—The rainfall was general and sufficient for transplantation of winter rice seedlings. Hoeing, plucking and manufacture of tea, ploughing for and transplanting of winter rice and harvesting of early rice and jute are in progress. Prospects of tea are good and the outturn of early rice and jute is fair. Some damage to jute crops by insects is still reported from Darrang. The average price of common rice has risen by more than 2 per cent. Cattle disease is reported from five districts.

Bengal.—During the week under review seasonable rain fell in the Chittagong Division and in the Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling districts. Light to moderate rain fell in the rest of the Province. More rain is wanted in most of the Eastern Bengal districts for steeping and washing of jute and for transplantation of winter paddy. Harvesting of autumn paddy and jute is in progress everywhere. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are fairly good. Cattle disease is reported from fourteen districts. The average price of common rice has risen by about 1·2 per cent as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—The rainfall was general over the Province. The fall was heavy in Gaya, Champaran and Sambalpur and generally light to moderate in the rest of the Province. Transplantation of winter rice is going on but more rain is wanted for the operation in Patna, Saran, Dharbhanga, Purnea and parts of Muzaffarpur and Hazaribagh. Harvesting of jute continues in Purnea and Cuttack but more rain is still badly required in the former district for steeping the crop. Autumn crops are generally doing well but some damage has been done by floods in parts of Bhagalpur and Cuttack. Floods are also reported from Puri. The average price of common rice has remained almost stationary as compared with that of the previous week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient Cattle disease is reported from ten districts. Agricultural prospects in the Feudatory States of Orissa are on the whole good.

United Provinces.—Good rain has fallen throughout the Province. Sowing of autumn crops is nearing completion and weeding is in progress. Transplantation of late rice and preparation of land for spring crops continue. Standing crops are in good condition. Cattle disease is still reported from many districts. Fodder and water are ample. Markets are well supplied. Prices are rising slightly.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—General and well distributed rain has fallen throughout the distressed area and a break is now needed in Fatehpur, Allahabad and Bundelkhand. All civil works have been closed in the Etawah district and valedictory doles are being given to all workers and dependents. Aided works are in progress in all districts except in Muttra, Etawah, Fatehpur, Allahabad and Banda and unaided private works in Agra, Jalaun, Jhansi and Hamirpur. Gratuitous relief is being distributed throughout the distressed area except in Moradabad where valedictory doles have been given. Grants are being made to needy cultivators from charitable funds for the purchase of cattle and of seed and clothing and cash doles are also being distributed. Fodder and water are ample. Markets are well supplied. The prices basis is from 9 to 13 seers per rupee.

Punjab.—Heavy rain fell in parts of the southeast and of the Submontane and Western Districts and light or moderate rain in the rest of the reporting districts. The rainfall to date is more than sufficient and a break is wanted. Excessive rain has damaged crops on low lands in parts of the Submontane and Central Districts. Damage to crops by katra is also reported in parts of the southeast. The condition of standing crops is otherwise generally good. Unirrigated sowings of autumn crops and ploughing for spring crops continue. Sowings are normal. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices of wheat range bet ween normal and warning rates and of other food grains between warning and scarcity rates.

North West Frontier Province.—Rain fell throughout the Province. The weather is cool and cloudy. The condition of standing crops is good on both irrigated and unirrigated areas. Sowing of maize, jowar, bajra, moth and moong continues. The Paharpur Canal is badly breached and is not running. Cattle are generally healthy and in good condition. Fodder and water are sufficient. The public health is good Prices are high and slightly rising in Peshawar and Bannu but are stationary in Dera Ismail Khan.

Jammu.—The rainfall was good. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 10½ to 16 seers and maize from 14 to 20 seers per rupee. Standing crops have been damaged by rain in some tehsils. There is no cattle disease. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall was good in Anantnag and Baramula and heavy in Muzaffarabad. Standing crops are in good condition. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are normal. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Rajputana.—The rainfall was general in the south and east and partial in west and Central Rajputana, the maximum fall being 411 cents in Karauli and the minimum 25 cents in Ajmer. The weather is cloudy. Standing crops are doing well but the rainfall has been excessive in parts of Kotah, Jhalawar and Karauli causing a standstill of agricultural operations and damaging crops in Kotah. Weeding is in progress. Pasturage and water are sufficient. The condition of cattle is generally good. Prices are high but are falling in some of the States. The numbers on gratuitous relief were Ajmer 6 and Merwara 104.

Central India.—The rainfall was general throughout the Agency. A break is needed in Bundelkhand and parts of Gwalior. Sowing and weeding of autumn crops are in progress except in parts of Gwalior and Bundelkhand where operations have been retarded owing to excessive rain. Standing crops are good throughout. Cattle disease prevails in parts of Gwalior, Indore, Bundelkhand and the Southern States. The condition of cattle is improving in the affected districts of Gwalior and is fair in Bundelkhand. Fodder is sufficient throughout. Prices are rising in Bhopal, Baghelkhand and the Tori Fatehpur state of Bundelkhand, falling in Baoni and the Jigni state of Bundelkhand, fluctuating in Datia and are steady elsewhere. In Bundelkhand the average number on test works were :—Panna 307, Dhurwai 38, Jigni 10, Lughasi 11, Bilheri 84, Samthar 205, Charkhari 217, Datia 195 and Garrauli 43. On gratuitous relief the numbers were :—Panna 2,520, Baoni 181, Chhatarpur 481, Tori Fatehpur 49, Jigni 13, Lughasi 112, Naigawan Rebai 4, Bilheri 51, Samthar 22, Charkhari 353, Ajaigarh 367, Banka Pahari 5, Alipura 72, Datia 1,860, Garrauli 50 and Gaurihar 72.

Central Provinces.—Light to moderate rain fell all over the Province. The heaviest quantity registered at headquarters being 7½ inches in Balaghat. Continuous rain has impeded weeding operations in places but an opportune break seems to be setting in. Transplantation and thinning of rice were in full swing. The condition of standing crops is generally good. The supply of fodder and water is adequate everywhere and cattle are faring well. Variations in price were few and unimportant.

Feudatory States :—Raigarh had 25 inches of rain during the week. Nine other States also received moderate to heavy rain. Prospects of autumn crops are generally favourable. The price of wheat rose by two seer per rupee in Sarangarh.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows :—The numbers on relief were :—Works nil, gratuitous 12,126. Reports are satisfactory. Prices are stationary. Relief operations will be closed down next month if favourable prospects continue.

Bombay.—Sufficient and good rain fell during week throughout the Presidency except in Sind. It was excessive in the western portions of Poona, Satara, Belgaum and Dharwar where a break is necessary. More rain is still needed in Cutch and in two eastern talukas of Poona and Sholapur. Sowing operations are nearing completion except in Poona and Belgaum where they have been retarded by excessive rain. Transplantation is nearly over. Crops are flourishing except for damage done by floods in three talukas of Karachi and Nawabshah, six talukas of Sukkur, and two talukas of Hyderabad and by excessive rain in two talukas of Poona, Satara and Belgaum. The fodder supply is inadequate in three talukas of Karachi and six talukas of Sukkur owing floods and in two talukas of Poona, and Satara and five talukas of Sholapur. Cattle are generally in good condition. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in Ahmednagar and Poona. Drinking water is generally sufficient. Inundation in Sind is satisfactory. Irrigation water is deficient in Poona and Sholapur. Prices have fallen in Sind, risen in the Deccan and are generally steady elsewhere. The numbers on gratuitous relief during the week ending 6th August were :—Sholapur, Satara and Bijapur 3,760.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall was general and widespread, the highest fall being 4·52 inches in Nizamabad. The average for the Dominions was 1·87 cent inches. Autumn and early rice crops are fair to good but have been damaged in parts by rain. Autumn crops have also been damaged by insects in parts of Nizamabad. Land is being prepared for the sowing of spring crops. Water scarcity prevails in two and cattle disease in four talukas. Prices of grain are almost stationary. The highest price in districts being 9 seers per rupee in Mahbubnagar and the lowest 24 seers in Bir.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good in Kadur and Shimoga and light to fair elsewhere. Prices of food grains are generally steady. Markets are well supplied. Sowing and transplanting operations are in progress in parts. Standing crops are generally good. Prospects of the season are generally fair but more rain is needed in all districts except in Shimoga and Chitaldrug. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are generally available except in Bangalore and Kolar where fodder scarcity prevails.

There is no harvesting in seven districts. Harvesting of paddy and dry crops is beginning or proceeding in parts of other districts. The outturn is fair to normal generally. Sowing of paddy and dry crops is proceeding normally in parts. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water supply is insufficient for irrigation in parts of some districts. Pasture is improving and fodder is generally sufficient. Prices are stationary.

Memorandum on the monsoon conditions prevailing during June and July, with a forecast for August and September 1914.

WEATHER IN INDIA DURING JUNE AND JULY.

1. The Arabian Sea monsoon appeared on the west coast of the Peninsula on the 4th June but did not penetrate freely inland until about the 23rd. In northeast India a strong burst of rainfall occurred about the middle of June, but it was not till the end of the month that the Bay current established itself there. Accordingly the total rainfall of June was deficient in all the provinces with the exception of Bombay, Hyderabad, Burma, Sind, Rajputana and the North-West Frontier Province; in the last two areas the fall was in part at least caused by unseasonal disturbances of the cold weather type.

During nearly the whole of July the monsoon was very active, particularly during the fourth week, and almost all parts of the country received abundant rain.

The aggregate rainfall of June and July in the plains of India exceeded the normal by 2.7" or 14 per cent. The excess was very widespread, the only divisions where it did not occur being Assam, Bengal, Chota Nagpur, Bihar, the United Provinces West, Kashmir, Berar, the Central Provinces, Mysore, Madras Southeast and the Madras Deccan.

2. The following tables give for June, July and the total period the actual rainfall, the departure from normal and the percentage departure from normal for the fifteen chief political divisions and thirty-three sub-divisions.

CONDITIONS AFFECTING THE RAINS OF AUGUST AND SEPTEMBER 1914.

3. The recent data regarding the conditions most likely to have influence on the rains of August and September 1914 are:—

The Argentine Republic and Chili.

4. At Buenos Ayres pressure was below normal in June by ·142″ and in July by ·110″. In Santiago it was below normal in June by ·012″ and in July by ·063″.

The Indian Ocean.

5. Mauritius.—Pressure conditions were much less stable than usual but on the whole pressure was below the normal by amounts averaging ·01″ in June and ·05″ in July.

Zanzibar.—Pressure was in defect by ·02″ in June and ·01″ in July. Winds were above their normal strength and more westerly than usual. During the last week of July variable winds had appeared.

Seychelles.—Pressure was low by about ·01″. Winds were not quite as strong as usual, and in June contained an unusually strong easterly component.

Logs of vessels.—In the west of the equatorial belt, according to the scanty information available, winds were very unsteady during the first half of June and remarkably steady and strong thereafter.

Snowfall in the Mountain Regions to the north and west of India.

6. (a) No snow fell in the region around Kabul during June and the first three weeks of July, and on July 22nd almost all the neighbouring hills were bare of snow.

(b) According to the available information light falls were recorded during the period June and July in the Kagan Valley (Hazara district) on elevations above 12,700 feet, but in the rest of the mountain zone of the North-West Frontier Province no snowfall occurred. The unmelted residue of the winter accumulations, on the higher hills was of about the usual thickness.

(c) In Kashmir about a foot of snow fell altogether during the period June and July on the mountains near Skardu and a light fall was observed on June 10th on the Affarwata hills. The accumulations are reported to have melted more quickly than usual with the result that at the present time the snow covering is of less than the normal depth.

(d) For the Punjab Himalayas the only information forthcoming relates to Chamba and Simla. In Chamba the snow fall was insignificant, but the accumulations existing there are still above the average owing mainly to the heavy fall in April and May. On the ranges near Kilba (Simla Hills) there were four falls in June above 10,000 feet, and on the last day of the month about four feet of snow still remained unmelted on elevations of about 15,500 feet. No information is available for July.

(e) In Garhwal there were snowstorms on June 2nd and 27th and July 11th on heights above 19,000 feet. A rapid melting of snow from the lower levels occurred in the beginning of June and the accumulations now existing are almost certainly not above the normal. In Almora there were occasional falls both in June and July, but they were by no means unusual and the accumulations there at the present time do not exceed the normal.

India.

7. The pressure of July, which averaged over the country ·051″ in defect, was practically normal in its geographical distribution.

Inferences from the data.

8. (a) The pressure conditions most favourable for Indian monsoon rainfall are that pressure shall be low in the Indian Ocean and high in the Argentine Republic and Chili; and in June while pressure at Mauritius was roughly normal that in South America was in phenomenally large defect. The outlook for July was thus very disquieting; but happily though pressure in the Argentine and Chili remained phenomenally low in July that at Mauritius, which is usually opposite in character to pressure at the South American stations, also became extremely low. This enabled the Indian rainfall of July to be abundant; and as regards our August and September rainfall the pressure distribution is decidedly favourable at Mauritius while decidedly unfavourable in South America. The effect of the low pressure in India in July is negligible.

(b) The conditions regarding snowfall may now be considered. The excess in the Punjab alone that was noted in the June forecast would in the early part of the monsoon season probably exert most influence on the rainfall of the north and east Punjab, and the west of the United Provinces; and if rainfall be reckoned from the 12th June, prior to which the monsoon had not reached these areas, the rainfall in the former area was in defect until the 16th July, while that in the west of the United Provinces was still 2·2" in defect on the 6th August. The latter appears to have been partially due to other causes and from the summary in paragraph 6 above it may be concluded that the prejudicial effect of snowfall may now be regarded as inappreciable.

(c) The instability of pressure in the Indian Ocean in May, to which attention was drawn in the June forecast, showed itself to an increasing extent in June and July. At its weakest however in July the monsoon was not much weaker than the average.

(d) In the absence of an excess of snowfall the best indications, as far as is known at present, regarding the geographical distribution of rainfall are derived from the Indian pressure distribution of July; and as this was practically normal no marked abnormalities can be forecasted.

Summary.

9. (a) The indications regarding the total monsoon rainfall of August and September are decidedly conflicting. On the whole it appears probable that the rainfall will be roughly normal in amount.

(b) There are signs of greater variability than usual in the strength of the monsoon.

(c) There are no reasons for anticipating any marked abnormalities in the geographical distribution of rainfall.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations, and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

It will be published early in September next by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and will be procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There will be two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited and considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Official History of the Durbar, Foreign Department, Simla.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 20th August 1914, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. No storm appeared during the week and consequently no marked concentration of rainfall occurred over any particular tract of country to the detriment of others. The Arabian Sea current failed to carry rainfall freely into northern India, and as the Bay current was deflected chiefly to Burma, the rainfall of the week was below the average in northern India, while it was heavier than usual in the Peninsula and Burma.

2. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general over the whole province from the 15th to the 18th, and in Lower Burma on the 19th.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—There was nearly general rain in Assam on the 15th, in Orissa on the 13th and 14th, and in Chota Nagpur on the 19th, but on the whole rainfall was comparatively light and local.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Nearly general rain fell in the east of the United Provinces on the 13th, 14th and 18th, and in Central India and the Central Provinces on the 16th and 17th.

Northwest India.—Weather was dry in Sind, and only a few falls of rain occurred in the rest of northwest India.

The Peninsula.—There was nearly general rain on the west coast every day, except the 16th, in the Bombay Deccan on the 14th, in Hyderabad on the 13th, 14th and 16th, in Mysore on the 17th and 19th, and in the Madras Deccan on the 14th, 18th and 19th. Rain fell locally elsewhere.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 15th August 1914.

Burma.—The rainfall in Lower Burma was moderate and in Upper Burma it was satisfactory but somewhat insufficient in the dry zone districts. The cultivation of winter crops is proceeding normally. Standing crops are doing well. Cattle are generally healthy. The price of unhusked rice in Rangoon has fallen slightly.

Assam.—Light to moderate rain has fallen in all districts facilitating agricultural operations. More rain is wanted in the Surma Valley, Kamrup and Darrang for winter rice. Ploughing for and transplanting of winter rice, hoeing, plucking and manufacture of tea and harvesting of early rice and jute are in progress. Prospects of tea are good. The outturn of early rice is fair but that of jute is not good. The average price of common rice is stationary. Cattle disease is reported from four districts.

Bengal.—Light to moderate rain fell throughout the Province. More rain is wanted in some districts for the growth of the standing crops and also for steeping of jute. Transplantation of winter paddy is nearly finished. The harvesting of autumn paddy and jute is going on though progress in the case of jute is somewhat retarded in some places by the deficiency of steeping water. Standing crops are doing fairly well. Damage to jute by insect pests has been reported from parts of Burdwan and Murshidabad. The jute pests in Jessore are reported to have disappeared. Cattle disease is reported from 15 districts. The average price of common rice has risen by about 0·5 per cent as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—During the week under report the rainfall was general over the Province. The fall was heavy in Patna, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Purnea and the Sonthal Parganas and generally light in the rest of the Province. Transplantation of winter rice is in progress but more rain is wanted for the operation in some districts of Bihar and in Palamau and parts of Hazaribagh. Harvesting of jute is going on but more rain is still wanted in Purnea for steeping. Autumn crops and sugarcane are generally doing well. The average price of common rice has remained almost stationary as compared with that of the previous week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from 13 districts. Agricultural prospects in the Feudatory States of Orissa are on the whole good.

United Provinces.—General rain has fallen throughout the Provinces except in the Rampur and Tehri States and a break is needed in Barabanki. Floods have slightly damaged crops in Sitapur and Unao. Weeding of autumn crops and of early rice, transplantation of late rice and preparation of land for spring crops continue. Standing crops are in good condition. Cattle disease is reported to have increased during the week. Fodder and water are sufficient. Markets are well supplied. Prices show a slight upward tendency.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Good rain fallen throughout the distressed area and a break is needed in the Fatehpur and Jhansi districts. Aided works are still being carried on in the Moradabad, Agra, Shahjahanpore, Jhansi and Hamirpur districts and unaided private works are in progress in Agra and in the Bundelkhand districts. All relief measures have been closed in Budaun and valedictory doles are being given to people in Shahjahanpore. Gratuitous relief continues to be distributed. The numbers of persons on relief on the last day of the week were:— Aided works Hamirpur 145. Gratuitous relief: Etawah 4,417, Jalaun 20,148, Hamirpur 12,003, Banda 56,650; total 93,218. Poorhouses, Banda 11. Grand total 93,374. The numbers of persons on aided works on the last day of the week were:—Moradabad 210, Agra 25, Shahjahanpur 54, Jhansi 938; total on works 1,227. On gratuitous relief: Muttra 1,667, Agra 1,507, Shahjahanpore 2,269, Fatehpur 3,329, Jhansi 28,215; total 37,087. Grand total 38,314. The numbers of persons on unaided private works were:—Agra 85, Jhansi 1,618, Hamirpur 28, Banda 779; total on works 2,510. On gratuitous relief from charitable funds the numbers were Fatehpur 43. Grand total 2,553. Advances are being made for pakka wells in Muttra and for purchase of seed and of cattle in Banda. Distress still continues among non-workers in Jhansi and among the higher castes in Jhlaun and Banda. The condition of cattle is reported to be generally good. Clothing, cash doles and grants for purchase of cattle and of seed are being provided from charitable funds in some districts. Fodder and water are sufficient. Markets are well supplied except in villages beyond the Jumna and Chambal rivers in Etawah. The price basis is from 9 to 13 seers per rupee.

Punjab.—Heavy rain fell in parts of the south-east and light or moderate rain generally in the other reporting districts. The rainfall to date is more than sufficient everywhere and a break is wanted. Excessive rains have damaged crops on low lands in parts of the Central and Western districts. The condition of standing crops is otherwise generally good. Unirrigated sowing of autumn crops and ploughings for spring crops continue in many districts. Sowings are normal. Cattle are generally healthy and fodder is sufficient. Prices of wheat range between normal and warning rates and of other food grains between warning and scarcity rates.

North-West Frontier Province.—The rainfall was general throughout the Province. The weather is cool and cloudy. The condition of crops is good everywhere. Autumn crops are being sown. Cattle are generally healthy. Fodder and water are sufficient. The Paharpur Canal is not running owing to bad breaches. The public health is good. Prices are high with a tendency to rise in Marwat but are stationary elsewhere.

Jammu.—The rainfall was good. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 12 to 18 seers and maize from 13 to 21 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is good. Cattle disease of a mild type prevails in one tahsil of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall was generally good. Standing crops are in good condition. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are sufficient. Prices are normal.

Rajputana.—The rainfall was slight and partial in West Rajputana but general elsewhere, varying from 58 cents in Banswara to 3 inches in Bharatpur. The weather was hot and cloudy. Weeding is in progress. Prospects are good at present. Standing crops are doing well. Pasturage and water are sufficient. Cattle are in good condition. Prices are generally high and stationary. The numbers on gratuitous relief were 6 in Ajmere. The figures for Merwara were not reported.

Central India.—The rainfall was general throughout the Agency. A break is needed in Gwalior. Sowing and weeding of autumn crops are in progress. Land is being prepared for spring crops in Bhopal and Bundelkhand. Cattle disease prevails in parts of Indore, Bundelkhand and the Southern States. The condition of cattle is improving in Gwalior and is fair in Bundelkhand. Fodder is sufficient throughout. Prices are rising in Bhopal, Baghelkhand, Banka Pahari and Gaurihar of Bundelkhand, are fluctuating in Datia and Bijawar of Bundelkhand and are steady elsewhere. In Bundelkhand the average numbers on test works were :—Panna 173, Dhurwai 37, Jigni 9, Lughasi 13, Datia 199 and Garrauli 40. On gratuitous relief the numbers were :—Panna 2,257, Baoni 179, Chhatarpur 424, Tori Fatehpur 49, Jigni 13, Lughasi 112, Bihat 5, Naigawan Rebai 4, Bilheri 24, Ajaigarh 283, Banka Pahari 5, Alipura 72, Orchha 170, Datia 1,843, Garrauli 47 and Gaurihar 73.

Central Provinces.—Light to moderate rainfall has been general over the Province, ranging from 33 cents in Jubbulpore to 5 inches in Hoshangabad. Occasional breaks have greatly benefitted the crops and facilitated weeding operations. Transplantation and thinning of rice continued. Prospects are generally favourable. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Agricultural stock is in good condition. Prices have fluctuated slightly indicating a tendency to rise.

Feudatory States.—There was sufficient rain. The condition of crops is generally good. Prices are steady.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Works nil, gratuitous relief 12,819. Conditions are most favourable and distress is rapidly abating. Final dole of gratuitous relief is being distributed in all districts.

Bombay.—Good rain fell during the week throughout the Presidency but more rain is still needed in Cutch and two eastern talukas of Sholapur. Sowing and transplantation are nearing completion. Crops are generally flourishing. Preparation of lands for spring crops has commenced in the Deccan. The fodder supply is inadequate in three talukas of Karachi and in two talukas of Larkana owing to floods and in two talukas of Poona. Cattle are generally in good condition. Agricultural stock is sufficient. Inundation in Sind is satisfactory. Irrigation water is generally adequate. Prices have fallen in the Konkan and the Deccan and are steady elsewhere. The numbers on gratuitous relief during the week ending 15th August were :—Sholapur, Satara and Bijapur 3,713.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall was general but heavy in the Nander, Gulbarga, Bidar, Nizamabad and Warangal districts, the highest fall being 7 inches 73 cents in Yadgir. The average for the Dominions was 2 inches 42 cents. Autumn crops are being weeded but have been damaged by continuous rain and in parts of Nizamabad by insects. The early rice crop is being weeded and is fair to good, but damage is anticipated in parts by excessive rain. Lands are being prepared for sowing of spring crops. Cattle disease prevails in two and water scarcity in one taluka. Prices of grains are almost stationary. White jawar sells at 12 and coarse rice at 7 seers per rupee in Hyderabad City. The highest price in districts is jawar 9 seers per rupee in Raichur and Mahbubnagar and the lowest 24 seers in Bir.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good except in the Mysore, Hassan and Chitaldrug districts. The price of rice has risen in Tumkur and Chitaldrug and of ragi in Hassan. Markets are well supplied. Sowing and transplanting operations are in progress. Standing crops are generally good. The prospects of the season are improving but more rain is needed throughout the State. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available except in the Bangalore, Kolar, Tumkur and Mysore districts where fodder scarcity prevails.

Coorg.—The rainfall was good. Ploughing for and transplanting of rice continue. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was heavy or very heavy in the West Coast, the Vizagapatam Agency, North Arcot, the Carnatic except in Nellore, light in Tinnevelly and fair to good elsewhere. Standing crops are fair to good generally but are withering in parts of Madura, they have been affected by floods in parts of Kistna and Guntur and require rain in Chittoor and Salem. There is no harvesting in seven districts. Harvesting of paddy and dry crops is proceeding in parts of other districts. The outturn is fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding normally in parts. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water supply is sufficient for irrigation in the Circars, Chingleput, Tanjore, the West Coast and the Nilgiris. Pasture is improving and fodder is generally sufficient. Prices show a slight tendency to rise.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations, and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

It will be published early in September next by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and will be procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There will be two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited and considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Official History of the Durbar, Foreign Department, Simla.

27. The first returning officer shall be supplied with a copy of the electoral roll and with a copy of the list of valid nominations of candidates for election referred to in rule 20.

28. All votes must be given in person at the polling station and no voting by proxy will be allowed.

29. Votes shall be by ballot and the ballot of each voter shall consist of a piece of paper (hereinafter called the ballot paper) in form shown in Schedule E attached. The list of candidates contained in this form shall be printed in the same order as in the Schedule prescribed by rule 20.

If a voter is unable to read or write the second returning officer shall cause the vote of such voter to be marked on a ballot paper in the manner directed by such voter and the ballot paper to be placed in the ballot box.

(2) The ballot box shall be so constructed that the ballot papers can be introduced therein but cannot be withdrawn therefrom without the box being unlocked.

(3) Just before the commencement of the poll the second returning officer shall show the ballot box empty to such persons as may be present at the polling station and shall then lock it and place his seal upon it in such manner as to prevent its being opened without breaking such seal and shall keep it so locked and sealed.

32. Any ballot paper which is not duly marked or on which votes are given to more than one candidate or on which any mark has been made by which the voter may be identified shall be invalid.

33. If a person representing himself to be a particular elector named on the electoral roll, applies for a ballot paper after another person has voted as such elector, the applicant shall, after duly answering such questions as the returning officer may ask, be entitled to mark a ballot paper in the same manner as any other voter, but the ballot paper (in these rules called a tendered ballot paper) shall be of a colour differing from the other ballot papers, and, instead of being put into the ballot box, shall be given to the first returning officer and endorsed by him with the name of the voter and his number on the electoral roll, and set aside in a separate packet, and shall not be counted by the returning officer. The signature or thumb impression of the voter shall not be made in the electoral roll as described in rule 30 (3) but shall be made in a separate list containing a copy of corresponding entry in the electoral roll and bearing the heading "Tendered votes list."

34. At the close of the poll in the presence of the persons nominated to assist the returning officer and of such candidates or their agents, if any, as may be in attendance, the returning officers shall—

(a) open the ballot box and separate the ballot papers which they admit as valid from those which they deem invalid, endorsing on the latter the word "rejected" and the ground of rejection;

(b) count the valid votes given to each candidate;

(c) prepare and certify a return setting forth (i) the number of persons who presented themselves to vote, (ii) the number of valid votes given for each candidate, (iii) the name of the candidate for whom most valid votes were given, (iv) the number of ballot papers declared invalid and (v) the number of tendered ballot papers;

(d) seal up in separate packets the tendered ballot papers, the ballot papers which they have admitted as valid and those which they have rejected as invalid, the electoral roll referred to in rule 30 (3) and the tendered votes list prescribed by rule 33 and record on each packet a description of its contents and the date of the election to which it relates; and

(e) permit any candidate or his agent to take a copy of or an extract from the return mentioned in sub-section (c) above.

35. The first returning officer shall then forward the return and the packets of ballot papers and lists referred to in the preceding rule to the Deputy Commissioner, who shall cause to be posted at the Town Hall for general information a copy of the return prescribed in rule 34 (c) ante.

36. (1) The Deputy Commissioner shall retain for 3 months the packets of the ballot papers and lists forwarded to him by the returning officers, and shall then, unless there appear to him to be reason for retaining them for a further period, cause them to be destroyed.

(2) While the packets are in the custody of the Deputy Commissioner they shall not be opened and their contents shall not be inspected except under his written order or under the order of a court enquiring into an election petition in accordance with the provisions of rules 41 to 51.

37. The Deputy Commissioner shall report to the Chief Commissioner the name of the candidate receiving the largest number of votes in the election, not disqualified from holding office by these or any other rules for the time being in force, for the purpose of notification of his election as member of the Committee.

38. Where it is found that two or more candidates have polled an equal number of valid votes a new election shall be held in which such persons shall be the only candidates.

39. (1) No person shall obstruct, or in any way interfere with, the examination and counting of votes by the returning officers.

(2) No person shall deface, injure, alter, disturb, or remove any copy, notice or other document posted up under these rules at the Town Hall or elsewhere.

(g) Corrupt practices and other irregularities at elections.

40. (a) No election shall be valid if any corrupt practice is committed in connection therewith by the candidate elected.

(b) A person shall be deemed to commit a corrupt practice within the meaning of these rules—

(i) Who, with a view to inducing any voter to give or to refrain from giving a vote in favour of any candidate, offers or gives any money or valuable consideration, or holds out any promise of individual profit, or holds out any threat of injury, to any person, or

(ii) Who gives or procures, or abets the giving of, a vote in the name of a voter who is not the person giving such vote.

And a corrupt practice shall be deemed to be committed by a candidate if the said corrupt practice is committed with his knowledge and consent.

Explanation:—A "Promise of individual profit" includes a promise for the benefit of the person himself, or of any one in whom he is interested.

41. Every petition against the return of any candidate at a Municipal election on the ground of corrupt practice or on any other ground shall be made in writing signed by a person who was a candidate at the election or by not less than five electors, and the petition shall be presented to the Deputy Commissioner within eight days of the publication by posting of the return at the Town Hall as prescribed in rule 35 ante. The petition shall specify the acts which the objectors allege to amount to corrupt practice or other material irregularity as affecting the result of the election, and which he or they are prepared to establish and shall on presentation be supported by a statement made on oath by each objector:

Provided that on sufficient cause being shown the limit of eight days prescribed by this rule may be extended by the Deputy Commissioner.

42. (1) At the time of presenting an election petition or within three days afterwards the objector shall give security for all costs, charges, and expenses which may become payable by him to any witness summoned on his behalf, or to any respondent.

(2) The security shall be to such amount as the Deputy Commissioner may direct, and shall be given, either by a deposit of money or by recognizance entered into by not more than three sureties, or partly in one way and partly in the other.

The Deputy Commissioner may either immediately or after a summary enquiry reject the application after recording his reasons in writing for so doing if he is not satisfied that there are grounds for further action on the petition.

43. If the Deputy Commissioner believes, after examining the objectors and making such enquiry as he deems fit, that any corrupt practice or other material irregularity has been committed in connection with the election of the respondent, he shall serve on the respondent a notice of the presentation of the petition, together with a copy of the petition, and shall summon him and in his presence make an enquiry regarding the corrupt practice or material irregularity alleged. The Deputy Commissioner shall, if necessary, make an enquiry into the validity of the votes recorded in the circumstances described in rule 33.

44. (1) The enquiry shall be held in a place to which the public have free access, and notice of the time and place of enquiry shall be given to the parties not less than 7 days before the first day of the enquiry

(2) The place of enquiry shall be within the Municipality, except that the Deputy Commissioner may, on being satisfied that special circumstances exist rendering it desirable that the enquiry should be held elsewhere, appoint some other convenient place for the enquiry.

45. When the respondent does not appear when the enquiry is instituted, then :—

(1) If it is proved that the summons was duly served, the officer holding the enquiry may proceed with the enquiry ex parte;

(2) If it is not proved that the summons was duly served, the Deputy Commissioner shall direct a second summons to be issued and served on the respondent.

46. For the purpose of compelling the appearance of witnesses or the production of documents or other moveable property and of recording evidence, the officer holding the enquiry shall exercise the same powers as are exercisable by a District Magistrate under Chapters VI and VII of the Criminal Procedure Code of 1898.

47. The Deputy Commissioner shall make a record of all relevant evidence tendered and shall, at the conclusion of the proceedings, draw up a report of what he believes to be the facts of the case, supported by the recorded evidence, and state his opinion whether the alleged corrupt practice or material irregularity has been committed in connection with the election of the respondent. If the Deputy Commissioner be satisfied that no case has been established against the return of the candidate whose election has been the subject of enquiry he shall record an order to this effect and declare his election valid. If, on the other hand, he believes that the allegation of corrupt practice or material irregularity has been established, he shall forward the proceedings with his report to the Chief Commissioner.

48. All costs, charges, and expenses of, and incidental to the presentation of the petition and the subsequent enquiry, shall be defrayed, by the parties concerned, in such manner and proportions as the Deputy Commissioner determines; and in particular any costs, charges, or expenses which, in the opinion of the Deputy Commissioner, have been caused by vexatious conduct, unfounded allegations, or unfounded objections, on the part either of any objector or of the respondent, and any needless expenses incurred or caused on the part of any objector or the respondent, may be ordered to be defrayed by the parties by whom they have been incurred or caused.

49. Any costs awarded under these rules may be recovered from the security given under rule 42 or on application to a magistrate having jurisdiction within the limits of the Municipality, or in any other place where the person from whom the money is claimable may for the time being be resident, by the distress and sale of any moveable property within the limits of his jurisdiction belonging to such person.

50. If the Chief Commissioner, after a perusal of the proceedings, is of opinion that the charge of corrupt practice or allegation of a material irregularity has not been established, he may pass an order declaring the candidate duly elected. If, on the other hand, he finds that the charge or allegation has been established, he may declare the election void, and may further in the case of corrupt practice by a candidate order that the candidate shall be incapable of holding a Municipal office for a period which may extend to ten years.

51. The Chief Commissioner may remand the proceedings to the Deputy Commissioner for further enquiry, if this be thought necessary, before passing a final order. Any party to the proceedings may claim, to be present in person or by counsel before the Chief Commissioner.

52. The Deputy Commissioner may, of his own motion, make an quiry regarding the conduct of any candidate whom he has reason to suspect of having committed any corrupt practice, in connection with his election, and the case shall be investigated and disposed of in the manner prescribed in these rules.

53. When under rule 50 the election of a candidate is declared void, the Chief Commissioner shall direct either that the unsuccessful candidate next following on the list be declared duly elected, or that a new election be held.

54. The validity of any election shall not be questioned on the ground that the name of any person qualified to vote has been omitted from, or the name of any person not qualified to vote has been inserted in, the electoral roll or rolls made and revised under the preceding rules.

55. If the election be declared void under rule 50 the person whose election was questioned shall, as from the date of the decision of the Chief Commissioner under that rule, vacate his office as a member of the Committee.

TARIFF VALUATION OF SUGAR.

The following statement shows in respect of each of the descriptions of sugar distinguished in the Tariff Schedule IV (excepting molasses and all other kinds of sugar), firstly, the total imports into India in the month of July, 1914, and the average value per cwt. as calculated on the returns received from the Customs Houses; and, secondly, a running total showing the total imports into India since the beginning of the year (1st October to 30th September) and the average net value per cwt so far established. It is published in conformity with the procedure laid down in Customs Circular No. V of 1911, in order to enable merchants to compute the probable rate of duty for the year 1915:—

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

SELECTED IMPORTS, JUNE 1914 AND APRIL TO JUNE 1914

The following statements showing (in cwts.) the imports of certain selected articles into Calcutta, City of Bombay, Karachi and Madras ports have been compiled* in this Department from figures furnished by Collectors of Customs, Steamer Companies, Railway Audit Officers, Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, etc. They include foreign seaborne trade, coasting trade and inland (rail and riverborne) trade statistics. The object is to show the quantities of the principal staples of agricultural produce consigned to the exporting ports for comparison with the quantities exported out of India by sea from those ports as shown in the Seaborne Trade Accounts.

TABLE I.—Summary table.

The following table shows the imports of the articles specified therein into Calcutta, City of Bombay, Karachi and Madras ports during June 1914 and their ratio with the figures for the corresponding month of the preceding year. The fluctuations in the three months ending 30th June 1914 as compared with the corresponding three months of the preceding year have also been shown :—

(1) Articles.	(2) June 1914.	(3) April to June 1914	(4) Increase (+) or decrease (−) of col (2) as compared with June 1913	(5) Increase (+) or decrease (—) of column (3) as compared with three months, April to June 1913

Rice (including paddy) . .	2,970,432	6,886,106	+20·2	+20·2

Rape and Mustard seed . .	361,516	1,165,372	− ·3	−21·2
Jute	301,042	1,490,076	+97·9	+40·1
Tea	188,612	261,281	+55·7	+50·9

It will be seen from the above table that there was an increase in the imports of jute (97·9 per cent.), Cotton raw (59·1 per cent.), tea (55·7 per cent), and rice including paddy (20·2 per cent.), while there was a decrease in the case of wheat (38·7 per cent), gram and pulse (35·6 per cent), and linseed (21·9 per cent.). The increase in the imports of cotton raw and jute may be attributed to larger shipments, but the fall in the case of wheat is due principally to the absence of demand for shipment.

* Under the orders of the Government of India, in the Department of Revenue and Agriculture, dated the 26th July 1889.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations, and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

It will be published early in September next by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and will be procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There will be two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited and considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Official History of the Durbar, Foreign Department, Simla.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

It will be published early in September next by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and will be procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There will be two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited and considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Official History of the Durbar, Foreign Department, Simla.

6. An officer, on first appointment to the Political Department, will, as a general rule, be attached to a district in the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh for a period of not less than eighteen months, to undergo a course of training in revenue and judicial work similar to that prescribed for Assistant Collectors in that Province, and to acquire proficiency in Urdu During this period he will be required to pass a departmental test, which will be identical with that prescribed for members of the Indian Civil Service in the United Provinces, except that (1) the use of books will be allowed in all subjects, except in Urdu, (2) probationers will not be expected to pass the local examination in Hindi. At the close of the week a depression was forming in the north of the Bay, and was the cause of a reappearance of rainfall in the northeast of the Peninsula.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 29th August 1914.

Burma.—The rainfall was heavy in Lower Burma and light in the dry zone and Upper Burma. Transplanting of winter rice is progressing except where it has been retarded by floods in the Pegu, Amherst and Thaton districts. The area damaged may be replanted. In the dry zone winter rice and late sesamum are being sown and early sesamum and cotton are being harvested. The standing crops are doing well. The condition of live stock is satisfactory. The price of unhusked rice in Rangoon is below normal.

Assam.—The rainfall has been sufficient in all districts and has facilitated agricultural operations generally. Ploughing for and transplanting of winter rice, plucking and manufacture of tea and harvesting of early rice and jute are in progress. The outturn of early rice and of jute is fair. The prospects of tea are good and of paddy crops fair. The average price of common rice is almost stationary. Cattle disease is reported from four districts.

Bengal.—During the week under report general rain fell throughout the Province facilitating agricultural operations and doing immense good to the standing crops. Harvesting of jute is going on. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are fairly good. Damage to jute from insect pests continues to be reported from Murshidabad. Cattle disease is reported from thirteen districts. The average price of common rice has fallen by about 0·8 per cent as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—Heavy rain fell in Bihar and generally light rain in Orissa and Chota Nagpur. Transplanting of winter rice is in progress in Bihar. The recent rainfall has done good to the standing crops and has also facilitated transplanting operations. Harvesting of jute is going on but more rain is still wanted in the less important parts of Purnea for steeping. More rain is also wanted in parts of Hazaribagh and Singhbhum for winter rice. Standing crops are generally doing well. The average price of common rice has remained almost stationary as compared with that of the previous week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from 13 districts. Agricultural prospects in the Feudatory States of Orissa are on the whole good.

United Provinces.—Heavy rain has fallen in the south and east and light rain in the north and west of the Provinces. More rain is needed in Saharanpur, Bijnor, Moradabad, Aligarh, Agra, Etah and Etawah and a break is needed in Garhwal. Heavy rain has slightly damaged the crops in Benares and floods have damaged them in Sitapur and Bahraich. Insects have attacked cotton and juar in Etawah. Standing crops are doing well. Weeding and irrigation of autumn crops, harvesting of early rice and of millets and preparation of land for spring crops continue. Transplantation of late rice is in progress and has been completed in places. Cattle disease still continues to be reported from many districts in the Provinces. Fodder and water are sufficient. Markets are well stocked. The level of prices remains practically unchanged.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Light rain has fallen throughout the distressed area except in Etawah and more rain is needed in parts of Muttra, Agra, Jalaun and Jhansi. Aided works are still in progress in Agra, Jalaun, Jhansi and Hamirpur and unaided private works are being carried on in Agra, Jhansi and Hamirpur. Valedictory doles are being given to people on gratuitous relief in the Muttra, Etawah and Allahabad districts. Two poor-houses remain open in Banda and gratuitous relief continues to be distributed. The number of persons on relief on the last day of the week were :—Aided works: Jalaun 62, Hamirpur 92; total on works 154. On gratuitous relief: Etawah 2,876, Jalaun 11,499, Hamirpur 8,532, Banda 28,254; total 51,161. Poor-houses: Banda 13. Grand total 51,328. The numbers of persons on aided works on the last day of the week were :—Agra 10, Jhansi 795; total on works 805. On gratuitous relief: Muttra 1,325, Agra 1,278, Allahabad 4,548, Jhansi 25,349; total 32,500. Grand total 33,305. The numbers of persons on unaided private works were :—Agra 40, Jhansi 225, Hamirpur 8; total on works 273. Advances are being made for pakka wells in Muttra and for the purchase of seed and of cattle in Banda. The higher castes are still suffering from distress in Jalaun, Hamirpur and Banda. The public health continues to be good. Cattle are doing well. Clothing, cash doles and grants for the purchase of cattle and of seed are being provided from charitable funds in some districts. Fodder and water are sufficient. The market supplies are ample. The price basis is from 9 to 13 seers per rupee.

Punjab.—Except for slight showers in parts of a few submontane districts the weather remained dry. Rain is urgently wanted for unirrigated crops which are withering in parts of the south east and of a few central and submontane districts. The condition of standing irrigated crops is generally good. Sowings of autumn crops have been nearly completed and are normal. Ploughings for spring crops are well in hand. Sowings of toria have commenced in a few districts and are normal. Cattle are generally healthy and fodder and water are sufficient. Prices of wheat range between normal and warning rates and of other food grains between warning and scarcity rates.

North-West Frontier Province.—The week was rainless and the weather hot. The condition of crops on irrigated areas is average. The Paharpur Canal is running. Rice is being reaped and cotton picked in the Charsadda tahsil of the Peshawar District and the outturn is average. Sowing of autumn crops has been completed in Bannu but is still in progress in some other places. The condition of cattle is generally good. Water and fodder are sufficient. The public health is good. Prices are high and stationary with a slight tendency to rise in the Bannu tahsil.

Jammu.—The rainfall was slight. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 12 to 18 seers and maize from 14 to 24 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is good. Cattle disease of a mild type prevails in two tahsils. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall was slight in Anantnag and Baramula and heavy in Muzaffarabad. The standing crops are in good condition. Cattle disease is reported in Uttarmachipura. Prices are rising in Baramula and are normal elsewhere. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Rajputana.—The rainfall was generally light but 452 cents of rain were received in Nimbahera. Rain is wanted in the Eastern States of the Agency. The weather is hot and cloudy. Weeding is in progress. Standing crops are doing well. The condition of cattle is satisfactory. General prospects are good. Pasturage and water are sufficient. Prices are high but steady. The numbers on gratuitous relief were 6 in Ajmer.

Central India.—The rainfall was partial in Bhopal, general in some places of Gwalior, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and the Southern States and slight in Indore and Malwa. The fall was sufficient throughout. Weeding of autumn crops and preparation of land for spring crops are in progress everywhere. The growth of juar has been retarded in Orchha owing to excessive rain. Crops have been damaged in Dewas (junior) Jaora, Ratlam and Piploda of the Malwa Agency. Cattle disease prevails in parts of Gwalior, Indore, Malwa and the Southern States. Prices are rising in Gwalior, Bhopal, Baghelkhand, the Rampura Bhanpura district of Indore and in parts of Bundelkhand, are fluctuating in Datia and Charkhari of Bundelkhand and are steady elsewhere. In Bundelkhand the average numbers on gratuitous relief were :—Panna 2,194, Baoni 178, Chhatarpur 474, Sarila 13, Dhurwai 8, Bijna 11, Tori Fatehpur 49, Jigni 11, Lughasi 21, Bihat 5, Naigawan Rebai 4, Bilheri 24, Charkhari 350, Ajaigarh 188, Orchha 179, Datia 1,649, Garrauli 45 and Gaurihar 73.

Central Provinces.—With one exception no district received more than 75 cents of rain and thirteen districts received no rain at all. The break has been beneficial to standing crops and the condition of autumn crops is excellent. Weeding continues and preparation of land for spring sowing has begun. Fodder and water are sufficient. Agricultural stock is in good condition. There are no marked fluctuations in prices.

Feudatory States.—There was good rain varying from 8 inches to 45 cents. Standing crops are flourishing. Prices are steady.

Bombay.—Moderate rain fell during the week generally throughout the Presidency. More rain would be useful in parts for maturing autumn crops which are flourishing except for slight damage by floods in two talukas of Nawabshah. Crops are withering in Cutch. Autumn sowings are almost completed. Transplantation is nearly over. Preparation of lands for spring crops continues in Sind, the Deccan and Bijapur and sowings have begun in Ahmedabad, the Panch Mahals, Ratnagri, Ahmadnagar, Sholapur, the Karnatak, Savantvadi, Palampur, Kolhapur and Rewa Kantha. The fodder supply is generally sufficient. Cattle are generally in good condition. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in Ahmednagar. Drinking water is generally sufficient. Inundation in Sind is fair. Irrigation water is adequate except in four talukas of Larkana, two talukas of Sholapur and one taluka of Satara. Prices are generally steady. The numbers on gratuitous relief during the week ending 29th August were :—Sholapur, Satara and Bijapur 3,325.

Hyderabad.—The average rainfall was 77 cents. The break in the rains has been beneficial to standing crops. Autumn crops are fair to good but have been damaged by insects in parts of Nizamabad. The early rice crop is being weeded and is fair to good. Lands are under preparation for spring crops. Sowings have commenced in a few places. Cattle disease prevails in two talukas and water scarcity in one. Prices of grains are almost constant. White juar sells at 12 and coarse rice at 7 seers per rupee in the Hyderabad City. The highest price in districts is juar 9 seers per rupee in Mahbubnagar and the lowest 22 seers in Bidar.

Mysore.—Good rain fell in the Kadur and Shimoga districts and slight elsewhere. The price of rice and ragi has risen in the Bangalore and Tumkur districts and has fallen in the Kolar district. Markets are well supplied. Sowing and transplanting operations are in progress. The prospects of the season are fair but more rain is needed in the Bangalore, Kolar and Tumkur districts. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available except in parts of the Bangalore, Kolar, Tumkur and Mysore districts where fodder scarcity is felt.

Coorg.—The rainfall was slight but general. Transplanting of rice has been completed in parts. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was very heavy in the Vizagapatam Agency and South Canara, heavy in Cochin and fair to good in Chingleput, South Arcot, Salem, Tanjore Malabar, the Nilgiris and the Circars except in Guntur and the Deccan, light in Banganapalle and nil elsewhere. Standing crops are fair to good generally but require rain in Chittoor and Salem and are withering in parts of Madura. Harvesting of paddy and dry crops is proceeding in parts and the outturn is fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy and dry crops are proceeding normally. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water supply is sufficient for irrigation in the Circars, Chingleput, Tanjore, the West Coast and the Nilgiris. Pasture is insufficient in a few districts but fodder is generally sufficient. Prices are stationary.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations, and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

It will be published early in September next by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and will be procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There will be two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited and considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Official History of the Durbar, Foreign Department, Simla.

PART V.

Bills introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for making Laws and Regulations, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 8th September, 1914:—

No. 4 of 1914.

A Bill further to amend the Sea Customs Act, 1878.

VIII of 1878.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Sea Customs Act, 1878; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Sea Customs (Amendment) Act, 1914.

VIII of 1878.

Amendment of section 19, Act VIII, 1878.

2. In section 19 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878 (hereinafter called the said Act), for the words "or any specified part of British India" the following shall be substituted, namely, "or any specified part thereof, either generally or from or to any specified country, region, port or place beyond the limits of British India".

Amendment of section 38, Act VIII, 1878.

3. To section 38 of the said Act the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided that where the shipment of any goods is permitted without a shipping bill, or in anticipation of the delivery of a shipping bill, the rate of duty and tariff valuation, if any, applicable shall be the rate and valuation in force at the time when shipment of the goods commences."

Amendment of section 49, Act VIII, 1878.

4. In clause (b) of section 49 of the said Act after the word "goods" the words "or any specified goods or class of goods" shall be inserted; and the words "in India" are repealed.

Amendment of section 137, Act VIII, 1878.

5. (1) In section 137 of the said Act the following words are repealed, namely:—

"Unless the Chief Customs-officer shall, in the case of any customs-port or wharf, or of any class of goods, otherwise direct by notification in the local official Gazette."

(2) To the same section the following proviso shall be added, namely:—

"Provided that the Chief Customs-officer may, in the case of any customs-port or wharf, by notification in the local official Gazette, and subject to such restrictions and conditions, if any, as he thinks fit, exempt goods or any specified goods or class of goods or any specified person or class of persons, from all or any of the provisions of this section."

Amendment of section 155, Act VIII, 1878.

6. In section 155 of the said Act, for the first paragraph shall be substituted the following, namely:—

"When by any law for the time being in force, a special duty is imposed on denatured spirit, the Local Government may make rules for ascertaining and determining what spirit imported into British India shall be deemed to be denatured spirit for the purposes of such law, and for causing such spirit to be denatured, if necessary, by its own officers, at the expense of the person importing the same, before the customs duties leviable thereon are levied."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN April, 1913, it was represented to the Government of India that it would be desirable on administrative grounds to amend section 137 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, so as to permit the adoption of a more convenient procedure for the shipment of goods. Under that section a shipping bill must ordinarily be presented to and passed by the Customs Collector, and all duties leviable must be paid, before goods can be shipped. As this procedure frequently causes delay and inconvenience to shippers, it has been decided to empower the Chief Customs Officer to permit the shipment of goods in such cases, and subject to such conditions, as he considers desirable, in anticipation of the delivery of the bill and the payment of any customs duty and other charges that may be due. The adoption of this procedure involves the amendment of section 38 of the Act which prescribes the rate of duty or tariff valuation that shall apply in cases in which the rate or valuation is altered prior to shipment. It is proposed to enact in that section that in the case of goods allowed to be shipped without a shipping bill, or in anticipation of the delivery of a shipping bill, the rate of duty and valuation shall be the rate and valuation in force when the goods are shipped.

2. Section 19 of the Act empowers the Governor General in Council to prohibit the importation or exportation of goods of a specified description from or to all countries, but it does not authorise the Government of India to prohibit or restrict the importation or exportation of goods of a specified description from or to one country and no other. The limited scope of the section has been found in practice to cause inconvenience. It is therefore proposed to amend it so as to authorise the Government of India to prohibit the importation or exportation of any specified description of goods either generally or from or to any country, region, port or place beyond the limits of British India.

3. Similarly, under section 49 (b) of the Act, the payment of drawback may be prohibited only in the case of all goods exported to a specified foreign port in India; the power cannot be exercised in respect of any particular class of goods. It is proposed to take power to prohibit the payment of drawback on any specified goods or class of goods exported to any specified foreign port whether in India or not.

4. It is also proposed to make formal amendments to the first paragraph of section 155 of the Act which confers on Local Governments the power to make rules for the denaturation of imported spirits. As the section stands at present, it provides for the treatment of spirit with a view to render it effectually and permanently unfit for human consumption. As, however, no denaturing agent is known the effects of which it would not be possible partly or wholly to remove by skilled treatment, it is proposed to refer in the section to 'denatured spirit' only without prescribing that such spirit shall have been effectually and permanently denatured.

Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 8th September, 1914:—

No. 5 OF 1914.

A Bill to amend the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912; It is hereby enacted as follows:— (VI of 1912.)

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Indian Life Assurance Companies (Amendment) Act, 1914.

Amendment of section 4(1) and Third Schedule, Act VI, 1912. 2. In section 4 (1) of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912, and in the forms of Balance Sheet (A) and (B) set forth in the Third Schedule to the Act, for the words "Comptroller General" the words "Controller of Currency" shall be substituted. (VI of 1912.)

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

UNDER section 4(1) of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912, (VI of 1912) the Comptroller General has the custody of Government Securities deposited by Life Assurance Companies. It has been decided that the Controller of Currency shall perform all work, in connection with Government Securities, previously entrusted to the Comptroller General, and it is necessary, therefore, to substitute the words "Controller of Currency" for the words "Comptroller General" in this section and in the forms of Balance Sheet (A) and (B) set forth in the Third Schedule.

2. The object of the Bill is to make the necessary change.

No. 6 OF 1914.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, and the Indian Post Office Act, 1898.

WHEREAS in view of the amalgamation of the offices of Director-General of Telegraphs and of Director-General of the Post Office of India, it is expedient further to amend the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, and the Indian Post Office Act, 1898; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Post Office and Telegraph (Amendment) Act, 1914.

Amendment of sections 3 and 29A of Act XIII of 1885.

2. In clause (6) of section 3 and in section 29A of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, for the word "Telegraphs", wherever it occurs, the words "Posts and Telegraphs" shall be substituted.

XIII of 1885.

Amendment of section 2 of Act VI of 1898.

3. In section 2 of the Indian Post Office Act, 1898,—

VI of 1898.

(i) in clause (a), for the words "the Post Office of India" the words "Posts and Telegraphs" shall be substituted; and

(ii) in clause (k), after the word "department", the words "established for the purpose of carrying the provisions of this Act into effect and" shall be inserted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN section 3 (6) of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885 (XIII of 1885), the words "telegraph authority" are defined as meaning the Director-General of Telegraphs, and in section 2 (a) of the Indian Post Office Act, 1898 (VI of 1898), the expression "Director-General" means the Director-General of the Post Office of India. With effect from the 1st April, 1914, the Postal and Telegraph Services in India have been amalgamated and placed under one head, who is designated the Director-General of Posts and Telegraphs, and the separate appointments of Director-General of Telegraphs and Director-General of the Post Office of India have ceased to exist. The Bill accordingly provides for the modification of the definitions of "telegraph authority" and "Director-General" as at present given in the Acts, so as to indicate that both the expressions apply to the head of the combined services. For the same reason it is necessary to alter the title "Director-General of Telegraphs", wherever it occurs in section 29A of the Indian Telegraph Act of 1885, as amended by the Indian Telegraph (Amendment) Act, 1914; and this has been provided for in the Bill.

The fact that the Post Office and the Telegraph Department are now under the administrative control of a single officer has also necessitated the amplification of the definition of the expression "the Post Office" given in section 2 (k) of the Indian Post Office Act, 1898; and clause 3 (ii) of the Bill provides for this.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 8th September, 1914:—

No. 7 OF 1914.

A Bill to amend the Indian Army Act, 1911.

VIII of 1911.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Army Act, 1911; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Army (Amendent) Act, 1914.

VIII of 1911.

Substitution of new section 114, Act VIII of 1911.

2. For section 114 of the Indian Army Act, 1911, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

Property of deceased persons and deserters.

"114. The following rules are enacted respecting the disposal of the property of every person subject to this Act who dies or deserts:—

(1) The commanding officer of the corps, detachment or department to which the deceased person or deserter belonged shall secure all the moveable property belonging to the deceased or deserter that is in camp or quarters, and cause an inventory thereof to be made, and draw any pay and allowances due to such person.

(2) In the case of a deceased person who has left in a Government savings bank (including any post office savings bank, however named) a deposit not exceeding one thousand rupees, the commanding officer may, if he thinks fit, require the secretary or other proper officer of the bank to pay the deposit to him forthwith, notwithstanding anything in any departmental rules; and, after the payment thereof in accordance with such requisition, no person shall have any right in respect of the deposit except as hereinafter provided.

(3) In the case of a deceased person whose representative is on the spot and has given security for the payment of the regimental or other debts in camp or quarters (if any) of the deceased, the commanding officer shall deliver over any property received under clauses (1) and (2) to that representative.

(4) In the case of a deceased person whose estate is not dealt with under clause (3), and in the case of any deserter, the commanding officer shall cause the moveable property to be sold by public auction, and shall pay the regimental and other debts in camp or quarters (if any), and, in the case of a deceased person, the expenses of his funeral ceremonies, from the proceeds of the sale and from any pay and allowances drawn under clause (1) and from the amount of the deposit (if any) received under clause (2).

(5) The surplus, if any, shall, in the case of a deceased person, be paid to his representative (if any), or in the event of no claim to such surplus being established within twelve months after the death, then the same shall be remitted to the prescribed person.

(6) In the case of a deserter, the surplus (if any) shall be forthwith remitted to the prescribed person and shall, on the expiry of three years from the date of his desertion, be forfeited to His Majesty, unless the deserter shall in the meantime have surrendered or been apprehended.

Meaning of desertion.

Explanation.—A person shall be deemed to be a deserter within the meaning of this section who has without authority been absent from duty for a period of sixty days and has not subsequently surrendered or been apprehended."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

WHEN the Indian Army Bill was drafted, Articles 176 and 178 of the Indian Articles of War were transferred bodily to it as clause 114 with a few verbal alterations only and were passed into law.

The provisions of section 114 of the Indian Army Act have been found to be defective, in that, while providing for the drawing by the Commanding Officer of any pay and allowances due to a deceased person or deserter, they do not fully and specifically provide for the disposal of the sum so drawn.

The present draft remedies the defect and further provides, on the lines of the English law on the subject, for the forfeiture to His Majesty of the balance of a deserter's effects on the expiration of three years from the date of desertion unless the man has in the meantime surrendered or been apprehended.

No special provisions is required for the disposal of the effects of a man who is convicted of desertion, for, if on conviction he is removed from the service his estate is settled up like that of any other man who is discharged; while, if he is retained in the service, his estate does not need to be settled up at all. The opportunity is therefore taken to amend the "Explanation" to section 114 accordingly.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations of the 8th September, 1914:—

No. 8 OF 1914.

A Bill to amend the Indian Airships Act, 1911.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Airships Act, 1911; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

XVII of 1911.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Aircraft (Amendment) Act, 1914.

XVII of 1911.

Substitution of the word "aircraft" for the words "airship" and "airships" in Act XVII, 1911.

2. In the Indian Airships Act, 1911 (hereinafter called the said Act), for the words "airship" and "airships", wherever they occur, there shall be substituted the word "aircraft".

Amendment of section 7, Act XVII, 1911.

3. For section 7 of the said Act, the following sections shall be substituted, namely:—

Prohibition and regulation of navigation of aircraft.

"7. (1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, prohibit or regulate the navigation of aircraft over, or the entry of aircraft by flight into, British India or any part thereof, including the territorial waters adjacent thereto.

(2) Subject to the control of the Governor General in Council the Local Government of a province may, by notification in the local official Gazette, exercise in respect of the province the like powers of prohibiting or regulating navigation as are conferred by sub-section (1) on the Governor General in Council.

(3) Any notification issued under sub-section (1) or (2) may apply either to all aircraft or to any specified class or description of aircraft, and may prohibit navigation or entry as aforesaid, as the case may be, either at all times or at specified times or on specified occasions, and either absolutely or subject to specified exceptions or conditions, and such conditions may, without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provision, require any aircraft—

(a) to display specified signals or marks,

(b) to comply with specified signals in a specified manner,

(c) to land within a specified area or at a specified place, and

(d) in the case of aircraft entering British India by flight, also to enter at a specified place.

Compliance with signals.

"7A. (1) Whenever an aircraft contravenes the conditions of a notification issued under section 7 requiring it to comply with specified signals in a specified manner, any person appointed in this behalf by the Governor General in Council may fire at or into such aircraft, and use any and every other means necessary to compel compliance.

(2) The Governor General in Council may delegate to any authority the power of making appointments under sub-section (1)."

Amendment of section 8 (5), Act XVII, 1911.

4. For clause 5 of section 8 of the said Act, the following clause shall be substituted, namely:—

"(5) a notification issued under section 7, does or abstains from doing any act, unless, in the case of contravening a condition relating to navigation or landing, he proves that he was compelled thereto by stress of weather or other circumstances over which he had no control."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Bill proposes to amend the Indian Airships Act, 1911 (XVII of 1911), so as to bring it into conformity with certain provisions of the English Aerial Navigation Act, 1913. The Indian Airships Act, 1911, which confers certain powers for ensuring the safety of the realm, aims mainly at controlling the use of airships once they have been imported in the first place as freight. It contains no direct provisions regulating the entry of aircraft into British India by flight over-land or over-sea, since the possibility of such flights was not contemplated when it was passed. In view, however, of the rapid developments of the science of flying, it is now considered necessary, on military grounds, to take power to prohibit the passage by flight of any aircraft into this country, except subject to conditions to be imposed by the Governor General in Council, which may cover directions to enter or land at a particular point, and to observe and display specified signals or marks. The Bill follows generally the lines of sections 1 and 2 of the English Aerial Navigation Act, 1913. The opportunity has also been taken to substitute the term "aircraft" for "airship".

Certain bail bonds are exempted from payment of fee by section 19, clause xv. The amendment is purely formal.
1893	III	The Government Tenants (Punjab) Act, 1893.	1. In the title and preamble, for the word "Punjab" the words "North-West Frontier Province" shall be substituted. 2. For section 1, the following section shall be substituted :— "1 (1) This Act may be called the Government Tenants (North-West Frontier Province) Act, 1893. [Short title and extent.] (2) It extends to the territories for the time being administered by the Chief Commissioner of the North-West Frontier Province."	The Act has been repealed in the Punjab by Punjab Act V of 1912. Sub-section (3) of section 1 provides for the commencement of the Act and is omitted as unnecessary.
1894	VIII	The Indian Tariff Act, 1894	In Schedule III, for the words "Spirit which has been rendered effectually and permanently unfit for human consumption" the words "Denatured spirit" shall be substituted.	Consequential on the amendment of section 155 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, which it is proposed to make by the Sea Customs (Amendment) Bill.
1897	X	The General Clauses Act, 1897.	1. In section 3, after clause 8 (a), the following shall be inserted, namely :— "8 (b) 'Central Provinces Act' shall mean an Act made by the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces in Council under the Indian Councils Acts, 1861 to 1909." Year.	No.	Short title.	Amendments.	Explanations.
1897	X	The General Clauses Act, 1897—contd.	2. To section 24, the following shall be added, namely :— "and when any Act of the Governor General in Council or Regulation, which, by a notification under section 5 or 5-A, of the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874, (XIV of 1874) or any like law, has been extended to any local area, has, by a subsequent notification, been withdrawn from and re-extended to such area or any part thereof, the provisions of such Act or Regulation shall be deemed to have been repealed and re-enacted in such area or part within the meaning of this section."	The principle on which the section is based includes such cases.
			3. After section 29, the following section shall be added, namely :— "30. (Application of Act to Ordinances.) In this Act the expression "Act of the Governor General in Council", wherever it occurs, except in section 5, and the word "Act" in clauses (9), (12), (38), (48) and (50) of section 3 and in section 25 shall be deemed to include an Ordinance made and promulgated by the Governor General under section 23 of the Indian Councils Act, 1861." (24 & 25 Vict., c. 67.)	It is desirable that the General Clauses Act should apply to Ordinances.

It has been pointed out that the clause as worded may lead to the inference that the Governor General in Council may, under this section, issue a declaration authorizing a Native State Court to serve summonses issued under the Code. The amendment is purely verbal.

1	2	3	4	5
Year.	No.	Short title.	Amendments.	Explanations.
1911	II	The Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911.	In sub-section (5) of section 16, after the word "conditions" the words "and restrictions" shall be inserted.	Some difficulty has recently been felt as to the power of the Controller to insert provisions for the protection of persons who may have availed themselves of the subject-matter of the patent after it had ceased.
1914	IV	The Decentralization Act, 1914.	In Part I of the Schedule, in No. 1 of the amendments made in Act XX of 1863, for the word "Commissioner" the words "the Commissioner" shall be substituted.	To correct a verbal error.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

It is intended shortly to issue revised editions of the Madras Code and the Punjab and North-West Frontier Province Code. Following the usual practice it is proposed to make some formal amendments in, and to remove obsolete matters from, certain Acts of the Governor General in Council which are included in those Codes, respectively. These proposals are formulated in the Bill.

The opportunity has been taken to include in the Bill certain formal amendments and repeals in some Acts of the Governor General in Council of general application.

The reasons for the proposed amendments and repeals are sufficiently explained in the fifth column of the schedules annexed to the Bill.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 8th September, 1914:—

No. 10 OF 1914.

A Bill to amend the Foreigners Act, 1864.

III of 1864.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Foreigners Act, 1864; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Foreigners (Amendment) Act, 1914.

III of 1864.

Insertion of new section 3A, Act III, 1864.

2. After section 3 of the Foreigners Act, 1864, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

Foreigner may be apprehended and detained pending order of removal.

"3A (1). Whenever in a Presidency town or in the town of Rangoon the Commissioner of Police, or elsewhere the Magistrate of the District considers that the Local Government should be moved to issue an order under section 3 in respect of any foreigner within the limits of his jurisdiction, he may report the case to the Local Government, and at the same time issue a warrant for the apprehension of such foreigner.

(2) Any officer issuing a warrant under sub-section (1) may, in his discretion, direct by endorsement on the warrant that if such foreigner executes a bond with or without sureties for his attendance at a specified place and time, the officer to whom the warrant is directed shall take such security and release such foreigner from custody.

(3) An officer executing a warrant under sub-section (1) may search for and apprehend the foreigner named in such warrant; and, subject to any direction issued under sub-section (2), shall forthwith cause such foreigner when apprehended to be produced before the officer issuing the warrant.

(4) When a foreigner apprehended in pursuance of a warrant issued under sub-section (1) is produced or appears before the officer issuing such warrant, such officer may direct him to be detained in custody pending the orders of the Local Government, or may release him on his executing a bond with or without sureties to appear at a specified place and time and thereafter until the orders of the Local Government are obtained.

(5) Whenever a foreigner is apprehended under this section the officer issuing the warrant shall forthwith report the case to the Local Government, and on receipt of the orders of the Local Government, shall cause such foreigner to be discharged or otherwise dealt with in accordance with such orders."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Bill is intended to remedy a defect in the machinery of the Foreigners Act. Preliminary action towards obtaining an order of removal from Government is necessarily taken by local officers. Under the Act as it stands, however, there is no provision by which a foreigner can be placed under restraint during the interval which must elapse before the order of removal can be obtained, and the provisions of the Act may thus be evaded.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 10th September 1914, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. The rainfall of the week was largely determined by a shallow depression from the Bay which crossed the north Madras coast on the 6th and travelled in a north-westerly direction; it gave rain in Hyderabad, the Bombay Deccan, the Central Provinces, Central India West and Gujarat. Immediately on its disappearance another depression began to form over the north of the Bay, and had the effect of increasing rainfall in the Peninsula. At the close of the week a disturbance, probably from the west, gave widespread and moderately heavy rain in the east and north Punjab and west Rajputana, and local rain in the hills of the extreme north.

2. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general in Lower Burma on most days of the week, and was local in Upper Burma.

Northeast India, including Orissa.— Nearly general rain fell in Assam on the 5th, in Orissa on the 4th and 5th, in Chota Nagpur on 3rd, 5th and 7th, and in Bihar on the 3rd.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—There was nearly general rain in the Central Provinces on the 4th, 5th and 7th, but only local rain fell in Central India and the United Provinces.

Northwest India.—Up to the 8th rainfall was practically confined to Gujarat, where it was nearly general on the 7th and 8th, but on the 9th widespread rain fell in the east and north Punjab and Rajputana (excluding the southern districts), and rainfall also occurred in Kashmir and the hills of the North-West Frontier Province.

The Peninsula.—There was nearly general rain on the west coast on the 3rd, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th, in the Bombay Deccan on the 5th, in Hyderabad on the 5th and 9th, in Mysore on the 6th, and in the Madras Deccan on the 9th.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 5th September 1914.

Burma.—The rainfall was moderate in Lower Burma. Fair falls are reported from the dry zone and Upper Burma. Transplanting of winter rice is progressing and has been almost completed in Lower Burma. Replanting of damaged areas has commenced in the dry zone. Ploughing for juar and late sesamum has been retarded in two districts. Harvesting of early sesamum and cotton is progressing. Standing crops are satisfactory. The condition of live stock is good. The price of unhusked rice and rice in Rangoon is below normal.

Assam.—The weather was seasonable and favourable to standing crops. Ploughing for and transplanting of winter rice, harvesting of autumn rice and jute and manufacture of tea continue. The outturn of autumn rice and jute is fair and the prospects of tea, winter rice and sugarcane are fair to good. Damage to tea to a small extent by mosquito blight and to paddy by rats and locusts is reported from Sylhet, the Lushai Hills and Kamrup. The average price of common rice has fallen slightly. Cattle disease is reported from three districts.

Bengal.—During the week under review slight to moderate rain fell throughout the Province but more rain is wanted in places for agricultural operations and for standing crops. Transplantation of winter rice is nearly finished. Weeding continues. Harvesting of autumn rice and jute is proceeding. The condition and prospects of the standing crops are fairly good. Cattle disease is reported from eleven districts. The average price of common rice has fallen by about 1 per cent as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—Light rain was general over the Province. Transplantation of winter rice still continues. Harvesting of autumn crops has commenced in some districts and that of jute is going on but more rain is still badly wanted in Purnea for steeping. Standing crops are generally doing well. The average price of common rice has fallen slightly as compared with that of the previous week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from fifteen districts. Agricultural prospects in the Feudatory State of Orissa are on the whole good.

United Provinces.—Showers were received in most parts of the Provinces but more rain is generally wanted except in the central, submontane and eastern districts. Standing crops have suffered slightly from lack of rain in the Meerut, Muttra, Etawah, Budaun and Fatehpur districts while floods have slightly damaged crops in riparian tracts in the Sitapur, Ballia, Basti and Gorakhpur districts. Weeding and irrigation of autumn crops, harvesting of early rice, millets and sawan and preparation of land for spring crops are in progress. Transplantation of late rice is almost complete. Cattle disease still continues to be reported from many districts in the Provinces. Fodder and water are ample. Markets are full Prices are generally stationary with a slight upward tendency.

The weekly report on the famine and scarcity is as follows:—Light showers were received in Bundelkhand but more rain is needed in parts of the Agra and Bundelkhand districts. Aided works are still being carried on in the Agra, Jhansi and Hamirpur districts and unaided private works are in progress in the Jhansi district. Poor-houses are open in Banda and gratuitous relief continues to be distributed in Bundelkhand. Valedictory doles are being given to people in receipt of gratuitous relief in Agra. The number of persons on relief on the last day of the week were :—Aided works: Agra 15, Jhansi 641, Hamirpur 53; total on works 709. The numbers of persons on unaided private works were :—Jhansi 1,863. Distress still continues among the higher castes in Jalaun and Banda. The public health continues to be good. Cattle are in good condition but disease exists in Hamirpur. Clothing, cash doles and grants are being distributed out of charitable funds in all affected districts whilst in Banda takavi is also being given for the purchase of cattle and of seed. Fodder and water are adequate. Markets are full. The price basis is from 9 to 12 seers per rupee.

Punjab.—Except for slight showers in parts of some of the south-eastern and submontane districts the weather remained dry. Rain is urgently wanted for unirrigated crops which are suffering from drought in nearly all the reporting districts. The condition of cotton, sugarcane and other irrigated crops is generally good. Sowing of autumn crops have been completed and are normal. Ploughings for spring crops are well in hand toria, taramira and gram being sown in the central and western tracts. Sowings are normal. Cattle are generally healthy and fodder and water are sufficient. Prices of wheat range between normal and warning rates and of other food grains between warning and scarcity rates. Prices are generally rising.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rain fell in some places. The weather is hot in Peshawar. The condition of standing crops is good on irrigated areas, average on unirrigated areas but below normal in certain circles. Sowing of spring crops is in progress. Rice has been reaped and cotton picked in Peshawar and the outturn is average. The Paharpur Canal is running. The condition of cattle is generally good. Water and fodder are sufficient. The public health is good. Prices are high and stationary with a slight tendency to rise in the Bannu tahsil.

Jammu.—The rainfall was slight. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 10 to 14 and maize from 12 to 20 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is good. There is no cattle disease. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—Good rain fell in Muzuffarabad and none elsewhere. Autumn crops are being reaped and prospects are good. Cattle disease is reported in Uttarmachipura and Sripartabsinghpura. Prices are normal. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Rajputana.—There was no rain. The weather is generally hot and clear. More rain is needed in Ajmer-Merwara and in the eastern and western Rajputana States. General prospects are good at present. The condition of cattle is satisfactory. Pasturage and water are sufficient. Prices are high and fluctuating. The numbers on gratuitous relief were 8 in Ajmer.

Central India.—The rainfall was general in Bhopal and Baghelkhand, and slight in Indore, Bundelkhand and the southern States. More rain is required in the northern districts of Gwalior and in the Dewas and Piploda States of the Malwa Agency, elsewhere it was sufficient. Weeding of autumn crops and preparation of land for spring crops are in progress everywhere. The crops are withering on the high lands of Gwalior and are damaged in the Jaora and Piploda States of the Malwa Agency for want of rain. Cattle disease prevails in parts of Indore, Bhopal and the southern States. The condition of cattle is good elsewhere. The fodder supply is sufficient throughout. Prices are rising in Gwalior and Baghelkhand and in parts of Indore and Bundelkhand, are fluctuating in Panna and the Bijawar State of Bundelkhand and are steady elsewhere. More rain is required for autumn crops in some districts of the Deccan and the Karnatak and in one prant of Kathiawar and the Palanpur Agency. The crops are generally in good condition except for slight damage by rats in Rewa Kantha. Transplantation is nearly over. Preparation of lands for spring crops continues in Sind and the Deccan, and sowings are progressing in Larkana, Ahmedabad, Broach, the West Khandesh, Sholapur, Ahmednagar, the Karnatak, Baroda, Palanpur, Rewa Kantha, and Kolhapur. The fodder supply is generally sufficient. Cattle are in good condition. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in Ahmednagar. Drinking water is adequate. Inundation in Sind is satisfactory. Irrigation water is adequate except in three talukas of Larkana, two talukas of Sholapur and one taluka of Satara. Prices have risen in the Karnatak and are generally steady elsewhere. The numbers on gratuitous relief during the week ending 5th September were :—Sholapur, Satara and Bijapur 3,327.

Sowing, weeding and transplanting operations are in progress in parts. Sugarcane and gingelly have been harvested in parts. Standing crops are generally in fair condition. The prospects of the season are fair but more rain is needed in all districts except Shimoga. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available except in parts of Bangalore, Kolar, Tumkur and Mysore where fodder is insufficient.

Coorg.—The rainfall was general. Transplanting of rice is approaching completion. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was heavy in Pudukkottai, good in the Circars, Kurnool, Sandur, South Arcot, South Canara, Cochin, the central Nilgiris (except Chittoor) and south Coimbatore (except Pudukkottai and Tinnevelly), fair in Madras and light to fair elsewhere. No. 1936-I. A.

Simla, the 16th September, 1914.

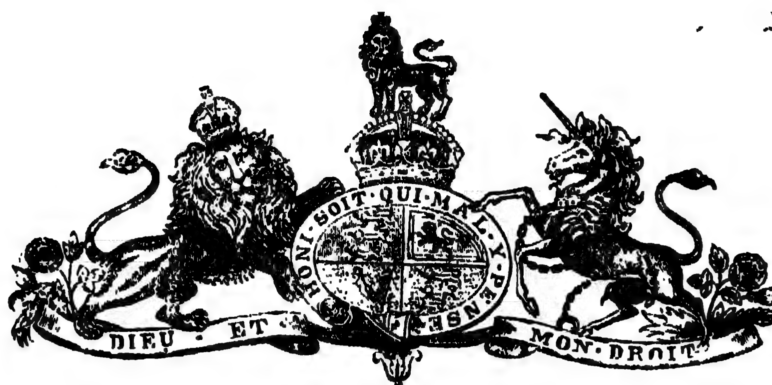

The following gracious message from His Majesty the King-Emperor to the Princes and peoples of the Indian Empire is published for general information:—

During the past few weeks the peoples of my whole Empire at home and overseas have moved with one mind and purpose to confront and overthrow an unparalleled assault upon the continuity, civilisation and peace of mankind. The calamitous conflict is not of my seeking. My voice has been cast throughout on the side of peace. My Ministers earnestly strove to allay the causes of strife and to appease differences with which my Empire was not concerned Had I stood aside when, in defiance of pledges to which my Kingdom was a party, the soil of Belgium was violated and her cities laid desolate, when the very life of the French nation was threatened with extinction, I should have sacrificed my honour and given to destruction the liberties of my Empire and of mankind. I rejoice that every part of the Empire is with me in this decision. Paramount regard for treaty faith and pledged word of Rulers and peoples is the common heritage of England and India. Amongst the many incidents that have marked the unanimous uprising of the populations of my Empire in defence of its unity and integrity, nothing has moved me more than the passionate devotion to my Throne expressed both by my Indian subjects and by Feudatory Princes and Ruling Chiefs of India and their prodigal offers of their lives and their resources in the cause of the realm. Their one-voiced demand to be foremost in conflict has touched my heart and has inspired to highest issues the love and devotion which, as I well know, have ever linked my Indian subjects and myself. I recall to mind India's gracious message to the British nation of good will and fellowship which greeted my return in February 1912 after the solemn ceremony of my Coronation Durbar at Delhi, and I find in this hour of trial a full harvest and a noble fulfilment of the assurance given by you that the destinies of Great Britain and India are indissolubly linked.

NOW THEREFORE WE have thought fit by and with the advice of OUR Privy Council to issue this OUR Royal Proclamation declaring and it is hereby declared as follows:—

1. The Proclamation warning all OUR subjects and all persons resident or being in OUR Dominions from contributing to, or participating in or assisting in the floating of, any loan raised on behalf of the German Government, or from advancing money to or entering into any contract or dealings whatsoever with the said Government, or otherwise aiding, abetting, or assisting the said Government, shall be deemed as from this date to apply to all loans raised on behalf of, or contracts or dealings entered into with, or to aiding, abetting, or assisting the Austro-Hungarian Government.

His Excellency the President :—" I gladly and warmly welcome Hon'ble Members of my Legislative Council to the new Council Chamber, and trust that they will find it much more comfortable and convenient than the arrangements hitherto made for meetings of Council in Simla.

VICEROY'S SPEECH AT THE OPENING OF THE SESSION.

[The President.] [8TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.]

" Since we met last in Delhi we have to deplore the loss of one of our Members in the death of Rai Bahadur the Hon'ble Mr. Sri Ram. A member of a well-known family, Mr. Sri Ram as a public servant rendered great services to his country and the Government of India. After being for some time a Member of the Legislative Council of the United Provinces, he was twice a Member of this Council and received in 190 ; the C.I.E. as a mark of appreciation by Government of his services. His activities extended to various educational, charitable and religious works, and his loss will be as deeply regretted by his province as it is by this Council. I am sure that I may be permitted to say that this Council sympathises deeply with his family in their sad bereavement.

" Before we pass to the ordinary business of Council, I will ask Hon'ble Members to stand up while I read to Council a gracious message addressed to the Princes and Peoples of India by His Majesty the King-Emperor :

' During the past few weeks the peoples of my whole Empire at home and overseas have moved with one mind and purpose to confront and overthrow an unparalleled assault upon the continuity, civilisation and peace of mankind.

' The calamitous conflict is not of my seeking My voice has been cast throughout on the side of peace. My Ministers earnestly strove to allay the causes of strife and to appease differences with which my Empire was not concerned. Had I stood aside when, in defiance of pledges to which my Kingdom was a party, the soil of Belgium was violated and her cities laid desolate, when the very life of the French nation was threatened with extinction, I should have sacrificed my honour and given to destruction the liberties of my Empire and of mankind. I rejoice that every part of the Empire is with me in this decision.

' Paramount regard for treaty faith and pledged word of Rulers and peoples is the common heritage of England and India.

' Amongst the many incidents that have marked the unanimous uprising of the populations of my Empire in defence of its unity and integrity, nothing has moved me more than the passionate devotion to my Throne expressed both by my Indian subjects and by Feudatory Princes and Ruling Chiefs of India and their prodigal offers of their lives and their resources in the cause of the realm. Their one-voiced demand to be foremost in conflict has touched my heart and has inspired to highest issues the love and devotion which, as I well know, have ever linked my Indian subjects and myself. " I think that I am voicing the views of my Council and of the whole of India when I say that we are profoundly grateful to His Majesty for his gracious and stirring message, and that we can only assure His Majesty of our unflinching loyalty and devotion in this time of crisis and emergency.

" I propose now to add a few words explaining in greater detail the situation described by His Majesty in the first few sentences of his message.

" It is now five weeks ago that the British Empire was plunged into war with the two great military nations, Germany and Austria. As has been said by His Majesty the war was none of our seeking, but it has been thrust on us in what one can only describe as a wicked and wanton manner. Although we all deeply deplored the horrible assassination at Serajevo of the Austrian heir to the throne and his consort, we cannot but feel regret that this was made the pretext for a conflict in which it was well known that there was every probability that most of the great Powers of Europe would be involved. It was not however until Germany, with a callous disregard for international obligations to which she herself was a party, refused to respect the neutrality of Belgium guaranteed in the Treaties of 1831 and 1839 by Austria, Russia, Great Britain and Prussia, that the intervention of Great Britain became inevitable. It is hardly necessary for me to describe steps taken by the King-Emperor to ensure peace, and the patient, genuine and whole-hearted efforts of that great statesman, Sir Edward Grey, to induce Germany to take a reasonable attitude, nor need I relate in detail what Mr. Asquith has described as the infamous proposals of Germany to buy our neutrality while giving her a free

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations, and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

It will be published early in September next by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and will be procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There will be two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited and considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Official History of the Durbar, Foreign Department, Simla.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Number of Eurasians, Hindus and Mussalmans employed in the Postal and Telegraph Departments in Bengal, on salary of Rs 50 and upwards.

1. "(a) Is it a fact that the total number of appointments in all grades of the service from Rs. 50 and upwards in the Postal Department throughout the Presidency of Bengal is 1,483, out of which (i) 1,307 are held by Hindus, (ii) 87 by Eurasians and others and (iii) 89 by Mussalmans?

(b) Is it a fact that the total number of appointments in all grades of the service from Rs. 50 and upwards in the Telegraph Department throughout the Presidency of Bengal is 703, out of which (i) 200 are held by Hindus, (ii) 494 by Eurasians and others and (iii) 9 by Mussalmans?

(c) If so, will the Government be pleased to state whether they propose to consider the desirability of taking steps so that Mussalmans may get a larger share of appointments in the Postal Department and that both Mussalmans and Hindus may get a larger share of appointments in the Telegraph Department in Bengal?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table two lists, one for Postal, and the other for the Telegraph Department giving details of all the appointments held by Hindus, Mussalmans, Eurasians and others in all grades of the service from Rs. 50 and upwards in the Presidency of Bengal?"

The Hon'ble Mr. Maxwell replied :—

"(a) and (b) The distribution given by the Honourable Member shows the number of appointments held by Hindus, Muhammadans and others, respectively, when he asked a question on this subject on the 9th September last. The present distribution is shown in the statements* now laid on the table.

(c) (i) In the case of the Post Office all officials who are empowered to make appointments have been instructed to encourage applications for employment as clerks and sub-postmasters from suitable Muhammadan candidates, but the number of such applications is at present comparatively small. There are, relatively speaking, a considerable number of suitable Muhammadan candidates for appointment as Superintendent of Post Offices and every effort is made to give them a due proportion of these higher posts.

(ii) In the case of the Telegraph Department the Honourable Member is referred, as regards appointments to the superior grades, to the debate in this Council on the resolution moved by the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale on the 8th March, 1911. Owing to the suspension of recruitment, in view of the amalgamation of Posts and Telegraphs, no appointments to the superior establishment have been made since that date.

In the upper subordinate and subordinate establishments, all appointments on salaries ranging between Rs. 50 and Rs 500, with the exception of a comparatively small number of clerkships, must be held by men who join the Department as telegraphists after a course of training as paid probationers in the training classes. In the Post Office practically all the signalling appointments are held by Indians, while in the Telegraph Department twenty-five per cent of the vacancies for telegraphists throughout India and Burma are reserved for Indians, and Muhammadans and Hindus are afforded equal opportunities of securing these appointments.

(d) I beg to lay on the table statements* showing separately the number of appointments now held in the Presidency of Bengal by Hindus, Muhammadans and others in all grades from Rs. 50 and upwards in the Post Office and the Telegraph Department, respectively. I may explain that the statements include the head-quarters' staff of both departments and also the appointmentson Rs. 50 and upwards in the office of the Director-General."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.] [Mr. Ghuznavi; Sir Harcourt Butler.]

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Accrued interest on the money deposited by Mussalman depositors in the Savings Banks and utilization of the same for Mussalman education.

2. " (a) Will the Government be pleased to state what is the total amount of money which has accrued as interest up to date from the time of the creation of the Savings Banks on the money deposited in the said Banks throughout the whole of India by Mussalman depositors, if any, who have not drawn and have expressed an intention not to draw any money as interest owing to their religious susceptibilities?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether they will take steps to devote that amount for the purpose of Mussalman education?"

The Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler replied :—

(a) " A statement* giving such information as is available is laid on the table. The Hon'ble Member's attention is invited to the explanation which accompanies it.

(b) The Government of India consider that the course suggested would be inconvenient in practice. Large grants have recently been given for education from general revenues, and special Muhammadan institutions have had their share of these grants The Hon'ble Member is referred to the communiqué on the subject of grants to Muhammadan Educational institutions issued on the 22nd August, 1914."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Religious training for Hindus and Muhammadans.

3. " With reference to the question put by me at the meeting of the Imperial Legislative Council held on the 17th September, 1913, with regard to religious training for Mussalmans as well as for Hindus and the answer by the Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler to the effect that 'The Government of India are sensible of the importance of religious instruction and also of the difficulties which attended it. They have addressed the Local Governments on the subject and await their replies,'

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the said replies have now been received? If so, do the Government propose to lay the same on the table?

(b) With reference to the same question and answer as given by the Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler, will the Government be pleased to give details of the 'large number of alienations of State revenues which existed before British Rule and which have been confirmed by the Government of India for the purpose of Hindu and Muhammadan religious endowments' and state what sum they amount to?

(c) What is the amount of the sum that is given annually to meet the cost of religious teachers for non-Christian troops?"

The Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler replied :—

" (a) All Governments have not yet given final replies to the letter addressed to them by the Government of India on the subject of religious and moral instruction. When the correspondence is complete the Government of India will consider the question of its publication.

(b) The Government of India are not in possession of figures for the whole of India. In the Madras Presidency, the net assessment on land alienated for the support of temples, mosques and other religious buildings and for the maintenance of the services therein as settled by the Inam Commission of 1859-60 amounted to Rs. 22,62,262. In the Bombay Presidency, land bearing an assessment of Rs. 3,96,377 was alienated for the support of religious institutions and cash grants to the value of Rs. 2,22,668 annually were confirmed in perpetuity for the same object as the result of the work of the Inam Commission of 1852. These figures, however, do not represent the total grants made for all religious purposes even in these Presidencies.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[Mr. Ghuznavi ; Sir Harcourt Butler Sir Reginald Craddock.] [16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.]

(c) The maximum sum admissible on account of the cost of religious teachers for non-Christian troops is Rs. 48,960 per annum. This amount however has not yet been fully worked up to, owing to the fact that certain units of the Indian Army, which are entitled to religious teachers, have not applied for sanction to their establishment, such sanction being necessary before the cost can be borne by the State."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Dacca University Scheme.

4. "(a) Have orders of the Secretary of State been received regarding the detailed features of the Dacca University Scheme? If so, do the Government propose to lay the same on the table?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state when they propose to introduce legislation for the establishment of the Dacca University?"

The Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler replied :—

"(a) The orders of the Secretary of State regarding the detailed features of the Dacca University Scheme have not been received.

(b) Government are not yet in a position to state when legislation for the establishment of the Dacca University will be introduced."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Total number of pilgrims that left for the Hedjaz during the last 10 years.

5. "Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the total number of pilgrims that have left for the Hedjaz from the different Presidencies and Provinces of India during the last 10 years?"

The Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler replied :—

"In reply to the Hon'ble Member's question, a statement * is placed on the table giving the figures required for the 10 years ending with the year 1912. Figures for 1913 have not yet been received by the Government of India."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Distribution of Judicial branch of Provincial Civil Service between Bengal, Bihar and Orissa and Assam.

6. "Have orders of the Secretary of State been received with regard to the proposals relative to the distribution of the Judicial branch of the Provincial Civil Service between the three provinces of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa and Assam, and in the matter of promotion and prospects of Subordinate Judges and Munsiffs in the Presidency of Bengal? If so, will the Government be pleased to state in detail what they are?"

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied :—

"I lay on the table a statement† which will, I think, give the information desired."

Proposed Usury Bill.

7. "With reference to my question and the answer given by the Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock at the meeting of the Imperial Legislative Council on the 17th September, 1913, with regard to my proposal that Government should bring in a Usury Bill and the recent resolution issued by Government anent thereto, will the Government now be pleased to state—

(1) whether Government have decided to undertake such legislation ?

(2) If the answer to the above question be in the affirmative, when such legislation will be undertaken ? and

(3) what lines such legislation is likely to take ? "

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied :—

"The Hon'ble Member is referred to the Home Department letter, No. 1052-1063, dated the 6th July, 1914, which was communicated to the press but of which I can give him a copy if desired. Pending the receipt of the replies to that reference, the points raised by him remain undecided."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Excise revenue in different Presidencies and Provinces of India during last 15 years.

8. "Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table, when ready, a statement showing the Excise revenue in the different Presidencies and Provinces of India during the last 15 years ? "

The Hon'ble Mr. Gillan replied :—

"A statement* is laid on the table giving the information desired by the Hon'ble Member."

The Hon'ble Mr. Sitanath Ray asked :—

Projected railway line connecting Calcutta with Barisal.

9. "In continuation of my question regarding a railway line connecting Calcutta with Barisal, put about this time last year in this Council, and in view of the resolution on this subject moved in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 5th August last having been accepted by the Local Government, will the Government be pleased to make a detailed and definite statement regarding this projected railway line with special reference to the following points :—

(a) the alignment of the projected line ;

(c) the estimated earnings ;

(d) the gauge to be used in the construction of the intended lines ; and

(e) the time when it would be taken in hand ?"

The Hon'ble Sir. H. P. Burt replied :—

"(a), (b) and (c) The information asked for cannot be furnished as the detailed survey of the line has not yet been completed.

(d) The line will be located as for the 5′ 6″ gauge, and it is probable that this gauge will be adopted, if and when construction takes place.

(e) Government are not in a position to supply this information at present."

The Hon'ble Mr. Sitanath Ray asked :—

Importation of white oil as kerosine oil and introduction of a legislative measure for prevention of adulteration of food-stuffs.

10. "(a) Is it a fact that several kinds of kerosine oil, called white oil, are imported into this country from America and sold here, not as kerosine oil but as white oil ?

(b) Is the above oil much cheaper than mustard oil and ghee, and is it being largely utilised for adulterating mustard oil and ghee by traders and shop-keepers ?

* Vide Appendix K (p. 1190).

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[Sir Harcourt Butler; Mr. Huda.] [16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.]

(d) Is mustard oil or ghee when adulterated with white oil injurious to human health ?

(e) Is it a fact that the adulteration of the various articles of daily consumption such as ghee, mustard oil and specially milk has created feelings of alarm and uneasiness in the minds of the people ?

(f) If the answers to the above questions are in the affirmative, will the Government be pleased to state whether it would take any legislative action in this matter in the way of passing an All India Food Act on the lines of the English and American Acts for the prevention of such adulteration ? If so, when ?

(g) Is it a fact that the Government of Burma has, at the instance of the Burma Chamber of Commerce, recommended to the Government of India the introduction of a legislative measure for prevention of adulteration of food-stuffs ?"

The Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler replied :—

"(a) So far as the Government of India are aware white oil is not imported into India from America. The following quantities of the oil were imported from other countries, mainly Germany, during the last three years :—

1912-13	2,266,238 „
1913-14	2,568,153 „

(b) The answer is in the affirmative. The average wholesale market prices in Calcutta of white oil, mustard oil and ghee are as follows :—

White oil Rs. 11-8-0 to Rs. 13-4-0 per maund.
Mustard oil Rs. 16-3-0 per maund.
Ghee Rs. 48-0-0 to Rs. 49-13-0 per maund.

It is understood that the white oil imported is used mainly as an adulterant of ghee and vegetable oils.

(c) The Government of India are aware that ghee and mustard oil are extensively used by Indians in the preparation of many articles of food.

(d) The extent to which such adulteration is noxious depends entirely on the nature and amount of adulteration.

(e) The Government of India are not aware that the adulteration of food-stuffs has created alarm in the minds of the generality of people in India.

(f) The Government of India have had under consideration for some time the subject of the prevention of the adulteration of foods and drugs and have inquired from Local Governments and Administrations as to the desirability of legislation and as to the form which such legislation, if approved, will yet take. All replies have not been received.

(g) The Government of Burma have recommended the introduction of legislation for the prevention of the adulteration of food."

The Hon'ble Mr. Huda asked :—

Distribution of cadres of Provincial Judicial Service between Bengal and Bihar and Orissa.

11. "(a) Has the attention of the Government of India been drawn to the questions put and answers given in the Legislative Council of Bihar and Orissa on the 17th January, 1914, on the subject of the effect on the Provincial Judicial Service in that province of the division of the cadres which followed on the territorial distribution of Bengal ?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.] [Sir Reginald Craddock; Mr. Huda Sir Harcourt Butler.]

(b) Has any remedial action been recommended to the Government of India by the Local Government and if so, will the Government of India state its nature and the action it is proposed to take?"

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied:—

"(a) The answer is in the affirmative.

(b) Both the Local Government and the Government of India recognize that some measure of temporary relief is justified in respect of certain grades of the Provincial Judicial service in Bihar and Orissa adversely affected by the recent cadre distribution, and it is hoped to make public shortly the remedial treatment decided upon."

The Hon'ble Mr. Huda asked:—

Report of the Patna University Committee.

12. "Do the Government propose to lay on the table (a) opinions on the Report of the Patna University Committee submitted by different public bodies, associations and individuals to the Government of Bihar and Orissa, and (b) the report of the Select Committee appointed by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bihar and Orissa to consider those opinions?"

The Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler replied:—

"The Government of India have not received the opinions referred to by the Hon'ble Member on the Report of the Patna University Committee, nor the report of the Select Committee to which he alludes."

The Hon'ble Mr. Huda asked:—

Wearing of Indian shoes in courts.

13. "(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the question asked by the Hon'ble Khan Bahadur Saiyid Fakhruddin regarding the practice of removing Indian shoes before entering Court rooms and the reply given thereto by the Hon'ble Mr. McPherson on the 6th April last in the meeting of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bihar and Orissa?

(b) Does the Government contemplate modification of the resolution of the Government of India dated the 19th March, 1868, and referred to in reply by the Hon'ble Mr. McPherson?"

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied:—

"The Government of India have seen the question and answer referred to. In the reply given the Local Government stated that considerable diversity of practice prevailed in the law courts of the province in the matter of the removal of shoes, and added that they did not consider it necessary or desirable to lay down any hard and fast rule for the guidance of judicial officers, but were content to leave the matter to the good sense of the Courts and the good feeling of the public. The Government of India consider that the attitude adopted by the Local Government was correct and do not propose to issue any further orders."

The Hon'ble Mr. Huda asked:—

Erection of an Islamic College in connection with the Patna University.

14. "(a) Is it a fact that the majority of the Mussalmans and the Hindus of the new Province are in favour of an Islamic College being erected along with other Colleges at the creation of the Patna University?

(b) If so, does the Government propose to erect an Islamic College side by side with other Colleges in the University of Patna?"

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[Sir Harcourt Butler; Mr. Huda; Sir Robert Carlyle; Maharaja M. C. Nandi; Sir H. P. Burt; Mr. Ghuznavi.] [16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.]

The Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler replied :—

"The reply to part (a) of the question is that the Government of India have no information on the subject beyond that contained in the first paragraph on page 26 of the Report of the Patna University Committee. This being so, it is not possible to give a reply to part (b) of the question."

The Hon'ble Mr. Huda asked :—

Delay in building the High Court at Bankipore.

15. "(a) Is it a fact that there has been delay in building the High Court at Bankipore?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state the cause of the delay and the approximate time within which the building of the High Court is to be finished and the High Court is to start its work?"

The Hon'ble Sir Robert Carlyle replied :—

"(a) No delay has taken place in the building of the High Court at Bankipore.

(b) It is anticipated that, if no adverse circumstances arise, the building will be completed and the work of the High Court commenced towards the end of 1915."

The Hon'ble Maharaja M. C. Nandi asked :—

South African coal for Indian Railways.

16. "Will the Government be pleased to state whether the Railway Board have placed any order for South African coal for Indian Railways, and, if so, what is the amount and value?"

The Hon'ble Sir H. P. Burt replied :—

"No orders have been placed since 1912 for South African coal. In that year 2,28,700 tons were ordered for delivery in 1912 and 1913."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Steps for the prevention of malaria in different parts of India.

17. "(a) Will the Government be pleased to state what steps are being taken to combat the ravages of malaria in different parts of India, particularly Bengal?

(b) Is it a fact that people of certain districts and sub-districts of Bengal, such as Mymensingh and Tangail, are suffering excessively this year from malaria?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state what steps it is proposed to take to meet the special case of Bengal?"

The Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler replied :—

"(a) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the annual reports of the several provincial Sanitary Commissioners, which give detailed accounts of measures which are being taken for dealing with malaria, and to paragraphs 18 and 19 of the Sanitary resolution of the Government of India Nos. 888-908, dated the 23rd May, 1914.

(b) The mortality from fever in Bengal up to June was not excessive. The Government of India have no information as to a severe outbreak of malaria at Mymensingh and Tangail and other parts of Bengal.

(c) deals with a matter with which the Local Government is primarily concerned, and the question is one which may appropriately be asked in the Local Council."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.] [Mr. Ghuznavi; Sir Reginald Craddock.]

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Government contribution towards the upkeep of the Calcutta School of Tropical Medicine.

18. " (a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether they propose to contribute any sum towards the upkeep of the Calcutta School of Tropical Medicine besides providing the six lakhs for the site and laboratory ; and, if the answer is in the affirmative, the amount of such contribution ?

(b) If a Pasteur Institute be located in one of the wings of this institution, will the Government be pleased to state what sum they would be likely to grant towards it ? "

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied :—

" (a) The recurring charges of the Calcutta School of Tropical Medicine will be borne by the Local Government assisted by contributions which have been generously offered. The Governing Body of the Indian Research Fund Association have agreed to contribute the pay of the Professors of Pathology and Bacteriology, and Protozoology for five years.

(b) The Government of India have received no proposals from the Government of Bengal with reference to the location of a Pasteur Institute in a wing of the School of Tropical Medicine at Calcutta. Seeing, moreover, that the pathological and research laboratories attached to the School and the Calcutta Medical College fulfil all the functions of a Pasteur Institute with the exception of an anti-rabic treatment, the Government of India do not think it necessary to consider the question of a grant-in-aid for this purpose."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Rule regarding calling at Perim of pilgrim ships bound for Jeddah.

19. " (a) Is it the rule that pilgrim ships bound for Jeddah are required to call at Perim on their outward journey from Bombay to Camaran, only in the event of a case of plague, cholera or other infectious disease occurri-- among the pilgrims between Bombay and Aden ?

(b) Is it a fact that last year majority of pilgrim ships with clean bills of health and without any case of any infectious disease occurring among the pilgrims were, on their arrival at Aden, still ordered to call at Perim on their way to the quarantine station of Camaran ?

(c) Is it a fact that when the attention of the Port Health Officer of Aden, Major King, was drawn to it, he promptly rescinded the order and allowed the S. S. 'Bahrein' and all ships that came after her to proceed direct to Camaran ?

(d) Is it a fact that this year the S. S. 'Sumatra' as well as the S. S. 'Akbar' which carried the first batch of pilgrims were ordered by a new Port Health Officer in the place of Major King, to call at Perim, and it was only when the Captains of the two boats protested and produced a copy of the standing orders of the Government as obtained from the Health Officer of Bombay, that they were allowed to proceed direct to Camaran ?

If the answer to part (d) is in the affirmative, will the Government be pleased to state whether it is proposed to take steps to keep the Aden Authorities informed of the orders of Government so that proceedings like the above on the part of the Port authorities may be avoided in future ?

Will the Government be pleased to state whether they will consider the advisability of making the same rule hold good as regards calling at Perim of pilgrim ships on their homeward journey ? "

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[Sir Harcourt Butler ; Mr. Ghuznavi ; Sir Reginald Craddock.] [16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.]

The Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler replied :—

" (a) Pilgrim ships proceeding to Jeddah are required to call at Aden only in the event of plague being discovered on such vessels at Aden and between Aden and Perim.

Detailed information on the points referred to in clauses (b), (c) and (d) is not available; but the Government of Bombay report that pilgrim ships with clean bills of health were ordered to call at Perim by the former Port Health Officer, Aden, and that the present Port Health Officer followed the same procedure in certain cases this year also. He has now ceased to do so. The Government of Bombay will be asked to instruct the port health authorities at Aden with a view to prevent a recurrence of such proceedings in the future.

As regards the last paragraph of the question, the present practice is to examine every returning pilgrim ship at Perim. On the outward journey, pilgrims have to undergo a careful medical inspection at Bombay prior to embarkation ; but, as no medical examination of returning pilgrims is held at Jeddah, it has been thought desirable from the sanitary standpoint that every ship should call at Perim on the return journey. It is probable, however, that this point will be shortly considered by the Pilgrim Committee, Bombay."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Redistribution in the proportion of posts held by Civil Surgeons promoted from the posts of Civil and Military Assistant Surgeons, serving under Local Governments.

20. " (a) Will the Government be pleased to state what is the total number of Military Assistant Surgeons who are serving under the Local Governments, and what is the number of Civil Surgeoncies that have been filled up from amongst them ?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state what is the total number of Civil Assistant Surgeons, and what is the number of Civil Surgeoncies that have been filled up from amongst them ?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state whether they would consider the desirability of making any redistribution in the proportion of posts held by these two classes of officers ? If not, will the Government be pleased to state their reasons ? "

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied :—

" The figures asked for by the Hon'ble Member are as follows :—

Number of Military Assistant Surgeons serving under local Governments	166
Number of Civil Surgeoncies reserved for them	50
Number of Civil Assistant Surgeons serving under local Governments	754
Number of Civil Surgeoncies reserved for them	36

Civil Assistant Surgeons belong to purely provincial services, but the figures as regards them have been compiled from the best information available without a general reference.

As regards head (c) the Hon'ble Member is referred to paragraph 2 of the Despatch No. 2, dated the 5th March, 1914, which was published for general information at pages 1275-6 of the Gazette of India of the 1st August."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Revision of salaries of peons attached to the Civil and Criminal Courts in India.

21. " (a) Is it a fact that the salaries of peons attached to the Civil and Criminal Courts (particularly in the Mofussil) throughout India were fixed more than 2 or 3 decades ago and have not been revised since ?

(b) Is it a fact that the salaries of peons range from six to eight rupees only ?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.] [Sir Reginald Craddock ; Maharaja Ranajit Sinha ; Mr. Gillan ; Sir Gangadhar Chitnavis.]

(c) Is it a fact that the cost of living has considerably increased within the last 2 or 3 decades ?

(d) Do the Government propose to take any steps to increase their salaries ?"

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied :—

"It is not possible to give categorical replies to questions of this kind concerning the whole of India. The adequacy of the salaries of peons attached to civil and criminal courts is essentially a matter for the different local Governments to consider Conditions are not the same in all Provinces or even in all parts of the same Province. In some Provinces, the scale of pay has already been considerably improved in recent years, while in some others the matter is engaging the attention of the local Government. Any proposals that may be received for improving the remuneration of this class of Government servants will receive the sympathetic consideration of the Government of India."

The Hon'ble Maharaja Ranajit Sinha of Nashipur asked :—

Rise in the price of food-stuffs since the outbreak of European War.

22. "(a) Is it a fact that since the outbreak of European War there has been considerable rise in the price of food-stuffs and other necessaries of life in all the Provinces ?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state what steps, if any, they propose to take in the matter ?"

The Hon'ble Mr. Gillan replied :—

"(a) and (b). Immediately after the outbreak of war, there was a general upward movement of prices in India. Inquiries which were at once instituted by the Government of India, however, showed that prompt measures were being taken, where necessary, by Local Governments and Municipal Authorities, to check this movement. As a result, prices are now generally normal. The only serious increases which have been maintained are in the prices of refined sugar and Liverpool salt. The rise in the price of sugar is due to short shipments to this country, which is dependent on Java and Mauritius for large quantities of sugar. The Government of India are watching the situation carefully, but the increased price appears inevitable owing to the stoppage of large exports of beet sugar from Germany and Austria-Hungary to the United Kingdom. The shortage of Liverpool salt is due to the temporary suspension of sailings from the United Kingdom A fall in price is anticipated as soon as the normal traffic has been restored. The price of Indian salt has not been affected.

The Government of India are satisfied that the Local Governments and Administrations are taking all necessary steps in this matter, and they do not therefore propose to take any action at present."

The Hon'ble Sir Gangadhar Chitnavis asked :—

Arrangement for the supply of stores necessary for the use of spinning [illegible] from Germany and Austria

23. "Will Government be pleased to state what, if any, encouragement does Government intend giving to the local manufacturing of stores necessary for the use of spinning and weaving mills, owing to the stoppage of all such articles from Germany and Austria, and to state if any attempts have been made to help people concerned in the Mill and other industry to bring in necessary stores from other countries where they may be available ?"

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[Mr. Gillan; Sir Gangadhar Chitnavis; Sir William Meyer; Mr. Abbott; The Commander-in-Chief.] [16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.]

The Hon'ble Mr. Gillan replied :—

"Government are considering the whole question of providing from fresh sources imports hitherto obtained from Germany and Austria. They are not at present in a position to make any announcement on the subject."

The Hon'ble Sir Gangadhar Chitnavis asked :—

Mr. K. L. Dutta's Report on Prices in India.

24. "(1) Has Mr. K. L. Dutta's Report on Prices in India been considered by Government?

(2) What action, if any, has been taken in connection with its publication, with a view to make it available to the public?

(3) Will Government kindly explain its attitude as regards the solution of the problem of regulating prices or mitigating the evil of high prices?"

The Hon'ble Sir William Meyer replied :—

"The first and second parts of the question were answered in the reply which I gave, on the 8th September, to a similar question asked by the Hon'ble Maharaja Ranajit Sinha. The usual arrangements will be made for sale to public as in the case of other Government publications.

As regards the third part of the question, the Government of India's views on the Report will be published, as I explained on the 8th September, at the same time as the Report itself. But my Hon'ble friend must not expect to find, either in the Report or in the Resolution, any scheme of price regulation or a general panacea for the hardships which high prices, like other changes in economic conditions, may impose on particular classes."

The Hon'ble Mr. Abbott asked :—

Indian Subordinate Medical Department.

25. "(1) With reference to the reply given by the Hon'ble Major-General Birdwood to my questions put on the 17th September, 1913, will the Government be pleased to state whether a reply has yet been given to the memorial of about 3½ years ago, regarding designation, disabilities as to status, pay, conditions of service, etc.

(2) Will the Government be pleased to state whether they propose to extend to them the same privilege and concession as was recently sanctioned for the Indian Medical Service, that is, when travelling by Railway at their own expense to travel in the class in which they are entitled to travel at the public expense on payment of the fare of the class next below it?"

His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief replied :—

"(a) The matter is still under consideration. As large expenditure is involved, it is likely that some time will elapse before any definite reply can be given to the memorialists.

(b) The extension of the concession referred to by the Hon'ble Member was made to bring officers of the Indian Medical Service into line with other regimental officers of the same ranks. The case of the Indian Subordinate Medical Department is not analogous, as its members already receive the same concessions as are allowed to officers and warrant officers in similar positions in other departments. The question of the extension of this concession, which has now been raised for the first time, will, however, receive consideration."

The Hon'ble Mr. Abbott asked :—

Appointment of Anglo-Indians as Deputy Superintendents of Police.

26. "Is it a fact that several appointments of Indians have been made direct to the grade of Deputy Superintendents of Police?

Do Government propose to confer a proportionate number of these appointments on members of the Domiciled Anglo-Indian Community in each Province?"

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.] [Sir Reginald Craddock; Mr. Abbott; The Commander-in-Chief; Sir William Meyer.]

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied:—

"The Government of India have no definite information on the point, but from the statement laid on the table on the 24th February last in connection with a question ask by the Hon'ble Member, it would appear that some Indians have recently been appointed direct to the grade of Deputy Superintendent of Police.

The appointment of Deputy Superintendents of Police is a matter within the discretion of the local Governments, and the Government of India do not propose to issue any further general instructions."

The Hon'ble Mr. Abbott asked:—

Depôts in India for the recruitment of European British subjects for the British Army.

27. "Will the Government be pleased to state whether they propose to open depôts at suitable centres for the enrolment and recruitment of European British subjects in India for enlistment in the British Army?"

His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief replied:—

"It is proposed to open recruiting depôts for the recruitment of men of European parentage for British units at Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, Karachi and Rangoon, and men will, within certain limitations, also be permitted to enlist for any corps at the Head-quarters of any British unit in India."

The Hon'ble Mr. Abbott asked:—

Promotion from the subordinate to superior grades of the Military Accounts Department.

28. "Will the Government be pleased to say—

(1) If it is a fact that no promotion has been made from the subordinate to the superior grades of the Military Accounts Department since 1914?

(2) If it is a fact that such promotions are made from time to time in the Civil and Public Works Accounts Services?

(3) If it is a fact that Deputy Examiners of the Military Accounts perform duties similar to those assigned to Officers of the Superior Service in that Department and that their duties and responsibilities are not unlike those allotted to Officers in the superior grades in the other Account Services?

(4) If the answer to (1) is in the affirmative, why no such promotion has been made?

(5) Whether the Government propose to cause a full inquiry to be made into the matter and a report furnished showing reasons why Deputy Examiners of the Military Accounts Department are held to be ineligible for promotion to the higher grades."

The Hon'ble Sir William Meyer replied:—

"(1) and (2). The answers to parts (1) and (2) of the question are in the affirmative.

I presume that the date 1914 given in the question is a clerical error. In any case, no such promotion has been made in the Military Accounts Department since 1890.

(3) Deputy Examiners of the Military Accounts Department correspond roughly with Chief Superintendents of the Civil Accounts Department, and, like the latter officers, are employed to assist the superior officers of the Department, but may also discharge duties which would otherwise fall on junior members of the superior staff.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[Sir Ibrahim Rahimtoola ; Sir William Meyer.] [16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.]

(4) Because formerly the superior staff of the Department was recruited from officers of the Indian Army, and is now recruited from candidates appointed by the Secretary of State in England.

(5) No action as suggested in part 5 of the question is considered necessary.

Deputy Examiners have during the last few years been given a higher place in the interior economy of the Department than formerly, and the question of further improving their prospects either by the selection, from time to time, of deserving and capable incumbents for the superior staff, or by increasing their pay has been under consideration by the Military Accountant-General and proposals on the subject are shortly expected from him. The question has also been before the Public Services Commission. The proposals of the Military Accountant-General and any recommendations which the Public Services Commission may make will receive due consideration from Government."

The Hon'ble Sir Ibrahim Rahimtoola asked :—

Request for information for each Province, under certain heads, regarding population, revenue and Imperial grants.

29. "Will Government be pleased to furnish the following information in a tabular form for each of the last 5 years ?

1st column.—The year.

2nd column.—The name of each of the Provinces and local administrations in India including Burma, North-West Frontier Province and Baluchistan.

3rd column.—Population according to the last census of each Province and local administration excluding the population of Native States.

4th column.—Total amount of revenue collected in each Province and local administration under Imperial heads.

5th column.—Total amount of revenue demand under Provincial heads.

6th column.—Total amount of revenue demand under divided heads, stating the portion (a) retained by each Province and (b) paid to the Imperial Government.

7th column.—Total revenue of each Province for Provincial purposes.

8th column.—Total amount of payments by each Province to the Imperial Government.

9th column.—The amount of assignments granted to each Provincial Government under the terms of the current Provincial contracts.

10th column.—The total amount of grants paid to each Provincial Government for non-recurring expenditure under (a) Education and Sanitation and (b) all other heads.

11th column.—The total amount of grants made to each Provincial Government for recurring expenditure under (a) Education and Sanitation and (b) all other heads."

The Hon'ble Sir William Meyer replied :—

" Much of the information asked for by my Hon'ble Friend is already available to him in our published accounts and statistics. The population statistics will be found in table 2 of the " Statistical Abstract relating to British India." The amount of revenue collected in India in each province under (a) Imperial, (b) Provincial and (c) Divided heads, together with the portion of (c) received by the Imperial and Provincial Governments, respectively, will be found in Accounts Nos. 7 and 9 of the Finance and Revenue Accounts ; and the figures for the Home Treasury of the Government of India will be found in Account No. 2 of the same publication. Corresponding figures

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.] [Sir Ibrahim Rahimtoola; Sir William Meyer; The President; Mr. Ghuznavi; The Commander-in-Chief] for a series of years will be found in Accounts Nos. 9 and 3 of the 'Statistics compiled from the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India'. The amount of assignments granted from Imperial to Provincial revenues, or vice versa, under the terms of the current provincial settlements, will be found in Account No. 71 of the Finance and Revenue Accounts for 1912-13.

In these accounts the figures for the North-West Frontier Province are shown as wholly Imperial in a separate column, and the figures for Baluchistan are included in the wholly Imperial revenue shown under the column headed India General. This arrangement is adopted because there is no regular provincial settlement with these minor administrations, though they have been given certain independent powers of incurring expenditure.

2. It is not possible to discover readily from the published Finance and Revenue Accounts the detailed information about Imperial grants which my Hon'ble Friend wants for the 10th and 11th columns of his statement. I accordingly lay on the table statements* giving this information for the five years ending 1912-13. The accounts for 1913-14 have not yet been finally closed."

The Hon'ble Sir Ibrahim Rahimtoola:—"With your permission, My Lord, I should like to ask the supplementary question whether all these publications to which I have been referred have got to be investigated by us in order to get in a concrete form the information which I have asked in this question, each column having a direct bearing on the issue that I propose to raise."

The Hon'ble Sir William Meyer:—"The answer I would give to the Hon'ble Member is that the compilation of such a statement as he requires needs some labour somewhere and it is considered more expedient that the Hon'ble Member, if he takes a deep interest in the subject, should work up the figures himself than that the work of the Finance Department should be clogged, especially at this period of stress, by having to do it."

The Hon'ble Sir Ibrahim Rahimtoola:—"I understand, Your Excellency, that the Hon'ble Member desires that we should entertain a Secretariat staff to work out these details."

His Excellency the President:—"Order! Order!"

Bengal Ambulance Corps.

30. "(a) Is the Government aware that there is a feeling of disappointment in Bengal owing to the inability on the part of the authorities to accept the services of those who came forward to be enlisted as members of the proposed Bengal Ambulance Corps?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether they will be prepared to utilize their services, if necessary, when those that volunteer for service in an Ambulance Corps are trained and have learnt their duties?

(c) If so, will the Government be pleased to state whether they are prepared to make arrangements to teach them their duties so that they may be effective members of an Ambulance Corps?"

His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief replied:—

"The Government of India have nothing to add to the correspondence published on this topic between the Hon'ble Mr. Sinha and His Excellency the Governor of Bengal."

* Vide Appendices L, M, and N. (pp. 227-249, post).

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[Mr. Ghuznavi; Sir Harcourt Butler; Mr. Dadabhoy.] [16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.]

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Medical inspection of Mussalman pilgrims to Hedjaz.

31. "(a) Is it a fact that Indian Mussalman pilgrims to the Hedjaz on their way through the disinfecting sheds before embarkation at Bombay are stamped on the backs of their hands and on their breasts?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state whether they propose to take steps so that some other means may be adopted for distinguishing pilgrims who are passed after medical inspection?"

The Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler replied :—

"The answer to (a) is in the affirmative. The system has been in force for 15 years and no compulsion is used.

(b) The matter is engaging the attention of the Government of Bombay, who state that they are issuing an explanatory press note on the subject."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghuznavi asked :—

Establishment of Christian Missionary Colleges in connection with Dacca University.

32. "(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to an article published in the Mussalman of the 7th August, reproduced partly from the Common Weal, anent the Dacca University Scheme?

(b) Is it a fact that Government favours the idea of establishing Christian Missionary Colleges for men and for women as part of the Dacca University Scheme?

(c) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the resolution by the Government of Bengal in which it states that 'nothing in the nature of proselytism among non-Christian students will be allowed'?

(d) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to a letter published in the Statesman of the 23rd August over the signature of the Rev. Mr. Shore of the Oxford Mission, Dacca, on the subject of the work of that Mission?"

The Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler replied :—

"The Government of India have not seen the article alluded to as published in the Mussalman of the 7th August. They have seen the resolution of the Government of Bengal published in the Calcutta Gazette of August, the 12th, 1914, and the letter alluded to as published in the Statesman of the 23rd August. They await the opinion of the Government of Bengal, who have invited public comment and criticism."

The Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy asked :—

Admission of Indian students into the educational institutions of the United Kingdom.

33. "(a) Has any correspondence passed between this Government and the Secretary of State for India for the freer admission of Indian students into the educational institutions of the United Kingdom?

(b) If so, will such correspondence be laid on the table?"

The Hon'ble Sir Harcourt Butler replied :—

"The whole question is still the subject of correspondence with the Secretary of State and it is not possible to publish anything at present."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

[16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.] [Mr. Dadabhoy; Sir Reginald Craddock.]

The Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy asked :—

Number of capital sentences passed, number of acquittals in murder cases, number of appeals against such acquittals and number of convictions on appeal.

34. "Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing, province by province, the number of capital sentences passed in each of the years 1912-13 and 1913-14, the number of acquittals in murder cases, the number of appeals by Government against such acquittals, and the number of convictions on appeal with details of sentences ?"

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied :—

"The information is not immediately available, but will be obtained and laid on the table in due course."

The Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy asked :—

Percentage of murder cases in proportion to population and percentage of capital sentences inflicted.

35. "Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the percentage of murder cases in proportion to population during each of the three decades since 1881, and the percentage of capital sentences inflicted ?"

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied :—

"Assuming that the expression sentences inflicted means sentences imposed by the Courts, the figures can be extracted from the published criminal statistics and census, tables, and I shall be happy to place these at the disposal of the Hon'ble Member should he care to see them."

The Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy asked :—

Question of appeals against acquittals.

36. "With reference to the Government statement in the House of Commons in March last that the whole question of appeals against acquittals was under consideration, will Government be pleased to state if any decision has now been come to on the subject, and whether they propose to lay on the table the connected correspondence, if any, between this Government and the Secretary of State for India ?"

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied :—

"The question is still under consideration, and no papers can be laid on the table at present."

The Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy asked :—

Number of floggings in India.

37. "Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the number of floggings in India in 1912-13 and 1913-14."

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied :—

"It is understood that the Hon'ble Member refers to sentences of whipping inflicted by the Criminal Courts. A statement* giving the figures for 1912 is laid on the table. The annual reports for 1913, from which the information would be taken, have not yet all been received. The facts for that year can be given later if the Hon'ble Member repeats his question at a subsequent session."

The Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy asked :—

Number of persons sent to prison for default in payment of fines.

38. "Will Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing, year by year, for the last ten years, the number of persons sent to prison for default in payment of fines, as also the proportion which such persons bear to the total number of persons sent to jail during the year ?"

*Vide Appendix O. (page 1194).

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS; THE SEA CUSTOMS (AMENDMENT) BILL.

[Sir Reginald Craddock; Mr. Dadabhoy; Mr. Wood; Mr. Rayaningar; Mr. Gillan.] [16TH SEPTEMBER, 1914.]

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied:—

"The information asked for by the Hon'ble Member is not contained in any of the Jail or Judicial Statistics compiled for inclusion in the annual reports on Jails or Criminal Justice. The amount of trouble involved in their collection would be altogether disproportionate to their importance. The Government of India, therefore, regret their inability to comply with the Hon'ble Member's request."

The Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy asked:—

Circulation in India of translations diplomatic correspondence relating to War.

39. "Will Government be pleased to consider the advisability of circulating freely in India translations in all the important vernaculars of the diplomatic correspondence between England and Germany relating to the War."

The Hon'ble Mr. Wood replied:—

"The Government of India are grateful to the Hon'ble Member for his suggestion, which will be transmitted to the Local Governments for such action as they may consider desirable."

(b) Has the attention of Government been drawn to Sir S. Subramanya Iyer's article in Common Weal on Judicial Reform in India, and have Government considered the suggestion made in it?

(c) Do Government propose to take any action on the lines suggested?"

The Hon'ble Sir Reginald Craddock replied:—

"(a) The Government of India do not think that any useful purpose would be served by the publication of the correspondence which has passed between them and the Madras Government.

(b) and (c) The Government of India have not seen the article referred to."

The Hon'ble Mr. Gillan:—"My Lord, I move that the Bill further to amend the Sea Customs Act, 1878, be taken into consideration. As I explained at the last meeting of this Council, the measure is a purely formal one, intended to remove certain minor defects in the existing Act."
